Almond Virtually Admits Segregation Fight Defeat

Private School Tuition Grants Are Suggested

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. said Wednesday Virginia was at the end of the legal line in attempting to operate a completely racially segregated public school system.

He conceded he knew of no other way to turn to halt the impending admission of Negroes to white schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Charlottesville.

He proposed in a full-dress speech to the opening of an emergency school session of the Virginia General Assembly a program of transition to private education in areas which won't accept integration.

Even as Almond was preparing to face the segregation-minded Legislature, a U.S. judge in Alexandria turned town a request of the Arlington County School Board to delay until next September an order directing the admission of four Negro children to Stratford Junior High School next Monday.

Tuition Grants Proposed

Almond called on the Legislature to provide for state tuition grants of up to $250 per pupil for those who decline to attend integrated schools. He coupled this with a call for repeal of the compulsory school attendance law.

He suggested that the legislators act on these stopgaps to prevent state-enforced integration and then recess the session while a study commission he will name works with him on a long-range program. This program—pointed toward more private school facilities—would include consideration of the state constitution's requirement to maintain a free public school system throughout the state.

Applause greeed Almond's promise to fight to minimize integration in the future. But there was uncertainty in his recommendations as immediate steps would satisfy the more ardent segregationists who are seeking to prevent any breakthrough in the classroom color barrier.

Police Power Not Applicable

A group of legislators from the rural southern part of the state where the Negro population is heaviest were laboring over a resolution they felt might act as a deterrent to any integration. These legislators had hoped Almond would accept their proposal to hold the line under the state's police powers.

Almond said: "The police power of this state cannot be invoked by the governor, nor can the General Assembly validly instruct or direct him to use it, on an arbitrary basis. The police power cannot be asserted to thwart or override the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, state or federal . . ."

Ike And Dulles Willing To Talk With Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he favors new talks with the Soviets but that the United States won't retreat a single inch" on its international rights and responsibilities.

As Eisenhower was saying this at a news conference, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced all Soviet proposals put forward thus far as aimed solely at winning the cold war.

Dulles expressed readiness to meet with the Soviets to discuss East-West deadlocks over Berlin, Germany's future, and the problem of European security.

But he told the House Foreign Affairs Committee any talks must cover all three of these related issues and not just the Soviet proposal to make of West Berlin what Moscow calls a free city.

Both Eisenhower and Dulles cautioned the Kremlin against believing there is any split between the American people and their government on the need for a firm policy toward the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower said friends told him during Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's recent U.S. visit that the Soviet leader professed to believe the American people and its government were divided on Berlin and other foreign policy issues.

Dulles in talking with congressmen pledged to be vigilant in seeking what he called "every reasonable avenue to achieving a better understanding with those who are hostile to us . . ."

But he made clear the Eisenhower administration does not intend to invent new and weaker policies, as he put it, just because Soviet leaders are demanding new offers.

"It would be easy to devise a form of words which could be agreed to between the United States and the Soviet Union and which would give many unwary people a sense of relief," Dulles said.

But Dulles added it is his deep conviction that the cold war could not be ended by words but by specific agreements.

Not At Odds Over School Integration

"Irresponsible Reporting" Hit By Eisenhower

Eisenhower vigorously disclaimed Wednesday any rift with Chief Justice Earl Warren over school desegregation or anything else.

"Irresponsible reporting," Eisenhower said when asked at his news conference about a story that a rift has developed. Warren dictated a terse statement calling the story "wholly without foundation."

But Eisenhower still declined to say whether he likes or dislikes the U.S. Supreme Court decision which outlawed racially segregated public schools. Consistently, he has taken the position that since the president must uphold enforcement of Supreme Court decisions, he shouldn't express approval or disapproval of them.

Missile Progress Remarkable

The possibility of a cooling off between the chief justice and the chief executive who appointed him was the major new item explored at the news conference. But Eisenhower injected a new catch word or two into discussions of a couple of old topics.

The President said, for example, that the United States is making remarkable progress on missiles after a slow start, and: "I think it is a matter for pride on the part of America, and not a constant—well, hang-dog attitude of humiliation."

Then on the question of whether he is a copycat of the Democratic New Deal, as Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) has suggested, Eisenhower said that so far as he knows, "I have copied nothing in this world except what I believe are the . . . basic principles of Americanism."

Newsman Sticks By Story

Almost at the outset of the session with newsmen, a reporter told Eisenhower a story published Wednesday morning related that Warren is "pained by what was described as your failure to take forceful action . . . to implement the desegregation decision of the court."

The story, in the New York Herald Tribune, was written by Robert J. Donovan.

Donovan stuck by the story even after Eisenhower and Warren had denied it.

"My story," he said in a statement, "was based on sources unimpeachable both as to their character and as to their knowledge of the facts. Numerous well informed persons in Washington have long been aware of the situation I described."

Seats Are Same But USAF Pilots Broader In Beam

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Measurements around the seat of pilots' pants are proof that human problems are never completely solved, a professor of rural sociology at Ohio State University told the 40th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention here Wednesday.

"In 1952," said Dr. Everett M. Rogers, "Air Force pilots began to complain in increasing numbers about plane seats. They were uncomfortable — too hard and too narrow. I was called in to investigate.

"Ten years before, we had measured the width of about 10,000 Air Force rear ends. They averaged 22 inches wide and we designed plane seats accordingly.

"But during the 10 years, pilots' measurements had changed. Whether from better nutrition, older age or just less work, our pilots' bottoms had increased in width from 22 to 24 inches."

President To Hunt, Golf In Georgia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to fly to Thomasville, Ga., next week for five or six days of quail shooting and golf.

The White House announced Wednesday that Eisenhower hopes to leave the afternoon of Feb. 4 or the morning of Feb. 5. He expects to return to Washington Feb. 9.

At Thomasville the President will be the guest of George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury.

Aid Program Called Bargain By White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday told Congress that America's foreign aid program is a bargain—the most economically effective means of blunting and turning back "blandishments of the Communists."

Eisenhower sent Congress a report on operations of the mutual security program. The 50-page document covers the six months which ended last June 30.

The report said U.S. aid during the fiscal year which ended last June 30 went to 64 nations, 54 of them underdeveloped. The others were Atlantic Pact countries in Europe, plus Japan.

It said that, of the $3,300,000,000 program for the year, about $1,900,000,000 went for military aid to more than 40 nations. The $1,400,000,000 for economic aid was allotted to 54 underdeveloped nations.

Biggest economic aid recipients were Korea, at 221 million dollars; and Viet Nam, at 184 million. Both also received large amounts of military aid.

The report said U. S. military aid since the program began in 1950 totaled more than 20½ billion dollars. It said the allies put up 130 billion dollars, thereby matching each U. S. dollar with $5 of their own.

The report said the Soviet Union's economic offensive during the fiscal year which ended last June extended more than 850 million dollars in new credits.

This brings the total of Soviet credits plus grants to more than two billion dollars since 1954.

Mexican Visit By Eisenhower Set Feb. 19-20

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday night accepted an invitation from Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to visit him in Acapulco Feb. 19-20.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles relayed word of the President's acceptance to Antonio Carrillo Flores, the new Mexican ambassador to Washington.

Dulles emphasized that the visit between the two presidents at the famous Mexican beach resort would be informal.

This will preclude the ceremonies which would be involved in a state visit to the Mexican capital, Mexico City.

A visit to Mexico City also would have subjected Eisenhower to altitudes of more than 7,000 feet. This is considered too high for a person with a history of heart trouble such as Eisenhower's.

The new Mexican ambassador presented his credentials to the President only Tuesday soon after arriving in Washington. United Press International reported later that an Eisenhower trip to Mexico in the near future was under consideration.

Derailment Delays "Silver Meteor"

NORTH EAST, Md. (AP)—The Seaboard Airlines' New York to Miami "Silver Meteor" was delayed Wednesday by a minor derailment. No one was hurt.

A Pennsylvania Railroad spokesman said the front wheels of the 17-car train's observation car derailed about 5:30 p m. and delayed trains on another track. It was the last car in the train.

The spokesman said trains should not be running more than 20 to 30 minutes late because of the derailment.

Cubans Stage Anti-Leniency Demonstrations

HAVANA (AP)—Demonstrators raised noisy protests at scattered points and staged a provincial port city strike Wednesday against the Castro regime's handling of Batista supporters.

The demonstrators, striking their jarring note on a national holiday of rejoicing over Cuban independence, generally contended the revolutionary regime is being too lenient.

The strike was called in the port city of Manzanillo in Oriente province. Spoksemen there said revolutionary tribunals have been too soft on war criminals of the overthrown Batista government.

Business places were shut down and communications and transport were paralyzed in the first strike action since Fidel Castro's rebel forces took over Cuba Jan. 1.

Hundreds of persons demonstrated in front of Manzanillo's City Hall in opposition to the prison sentences given a group convicted as war criminals. Demonstrators said they should have been sentenced to death.

Another demonstration took place before revolutionary headquarters in Manicaragua in Las Villas province. The demonstrators there shouted protests against the giving of jobs to former policemen, who they charged had mistreated residents under the Batista regime. Four men and a child were injured during the demonstration.

Boy Kills Four Of His Family

MORAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy shot to death four members of his family late Wednesday near this central New York community, state police reported.

Inspector William Driscoll said John Jayne killed his father, Willis, 66; his mother, Amber, 55; a brother, Willard, 19, and a sister, Elizabeth Ann, 13. They were struck down by blasts from a shotgun.

Driscoll said the boy had not given a reason for the slayings.

Tanker Planes' Use Ordered Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tactical Air Command has imposed restrictions on the use of KB50 tanker planes until certain parts in the fuel system can be replaced.

This action was disclosed by the Air Force Wednesday in response to an inquiry. It comes a week after the crash of a KKB50 in Louisiana, but an Air Force spokesman said the imposition of the restriction had no relation to that crash in which six crewmen died.

Court Sidesteps Swim Suit Test Of Transparency

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A judge turned down a request Wednesday to have a woman model a bathing suit she says became transparent when wet.

Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers told attorneys for an apparel shop "we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

He did grant a defense request to run chemical and physical tests on the suit.

Mrs. Donnan Dibble is suing for $2,500. She claims the first time she wore the suit in Lake Michigan it became transparent.

43 Homeless In Annapolis Fire

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Forty-three persons were left homeless Wednesday when fire swept through 12 apartments in a group of six row houses. No one was seriously hurt.

The 12 Negro families fled their homes in 27 degree temperature shortly after the blaze broke out near the middle of the adjoining frame buildings.

E. Gwyhn Bowen Jr., the city's technical fire inspector, said the blaze broke out in the partition between the second-floor apartments and spread from one end of the unit to the other through roof space. He said his initial investigation failed to show what caused the fire.

All five Annapolis fire companies and a truck from the Naval Academy responded to the four-alarm blaze. Included in the equipment was an 85-foot hook-and-ladder truck.

Thick, black smoke billowed out from all six units and was visible several miles away for about an hour. But firemen had the blaze under control in about one hour.

President Asks Union Boycott, Picketing Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower prescribed to Congress Wednesday a somewhat stiffer cure for curbing labor union-employer corruption than a remedy already backed by Democrats.

Capitol Hill immediately began bickering over the relative merits of the two sets of labor law proposals.

Actually they were so similar in most respects that prospects seemed bright for enactment of the first major labor legislation in a dozen years. But a fight was likely first on a few points.

The Eisenhower recommendations, like a bill offered earlier by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), call for strict accounting of union funds and measures designed to give rank-and-file members more control of union affairs.

The two proposals also would strike hard at bribery or collusion between employers and union agents or middlemen.

Eisenhower's proposals go a bit further in the antiracketeering field, but mostly in details.

The key distinction between the Eisenhower and Kennedy versions is that the President recommends tight new bans on union secondary boycott practices and certain forms of union picketing. Kennedy's bill would make no change in current boycott curbs and would apply only limited restrictions on picketing practices.

The secondary boycott is one in which an employer not directly concerned in a labor-management dispute is subjected to union pressures designed to win concessions from another employer who is involved.

In the picketing field, Eisenhower proposed barring such union action where another union already holds bargaining rights or where employes show they don't want to be represented by the picketing union.

Atlas Achieves Most Of Goals

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile apparently traveled about 4,500 miles Tuesday night in a test the Air Force said achieved most of its goals.

The 120-ton rocket blazed skyward from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

An Air Force announcement Wednesday said that on the basis of information radioed from the 80-foot rocket "the test achieved most of the Air Force objectives."

There was no elaboration on this, but there were reports that instruments recording the flight across the Atlantic Ocean did not function wholly as planned.

However, the Air Force said the Atlas flew the intended range. Again, there was no detail on what this range was, but the announcement said there had been no plan to send the mighty rocket over the full ICBM range of more than 6,300 miles.

The Atlas fired Tuesday night was aimed to hit some 4,500 miles downrange, near Fernando de Norhona Island off the Brazilian coast.

Draft-Backed CD Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said Wednesday men might have to be drafted for civil defense duties "if we are to get a civil defense plan that would be worthwhile."

Hershey, director of Selective Service, said it wasn't his job to recommend a draft-backed civil defense system but it was his responsibility to look ahead for possible uses of Selective Service.

He also told the House Armed Services Committee he knows where to find men for nonmilitary defense work-among the nearly three million rejected on physical and mental grounds and the nearly two million deferred fathers.

No House Page Boy Job Open, Negro Youth Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 14-year-old Negro boy who came here from Chicago to accept appointment as a page in the House of Representatives learned Wednesday there was no job open.

Jimmie A. Johnson Jr. flew to Washington Tuesday night with his mother and younger brother, Fred. They had the idea Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.) had obtained a page's job for Jimmie.

But key lawmakers said there was no vacancy to be filled. And if there were, they said, O'Hara wouldn't be entitled to fill it.

Jimmie, crushed by the turn of events, told a reporter "the southern congressmen didn't want me."

However, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Democratic Patronage Committee, said he advised O'Hara last Friday there was no vacancy for a page boy. He also denied any southern intervention. He said no one had complained about the boy and that race was not involved. He said he never had heard the boy's name and did not know he was a Negro until he arrived in Washington.

In Chicago, O'Hara told newsmen before leaving on a flight to Washington that the mixup was "a sad misunderstanding." But he added that "I think we can straighten this thing out."

"It may take until the middle of February or until March before they can make room for him," O'Hara said.

Walter said House page boy appointments and other patronage for Illinois customarily were handled through the dean of the state's Democratic congressional delegation, Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien.

Disc Jockey Completes 200 Sleepless Hour Vigil

NEW YOK (AP)—Disc jockey Peter Tripp, sick and groggy, completed 200 sleepless hours at 7:14 p.m. Wednesday night.

"He has probably stayed awake longer than anyone in history," said one of a team of medical researchers who took part in the marathon of wakefulness.

However, a Jacksonville, Fla., disc jockey claimed to have outlasted Tripp. Dave Hunter had started two hours before the New Yorker and still was going when Tripp quit. Hunter also had been under medical supervision, though not as strict as that of Tripp's.

Hundreds of persons looked on outside a Times Square booth where the 32-year-old Tripp completed his vigil.

He emerged from his exhausting vigil haggard and with a fixed stare. His speech was blurred and his normal brisk gait reduced to a shuffling walk. However, he was able to laugh, remember things and talk intelligently.

Tripp arose from bed the last time at 11:14 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 20. In the 8½ days since then, he has stayed awake, doing his daily disc jockey stint for radio station WMGM and reporting at intervals to the nearby Hotel Astor for medical and psychological examinations.

The disc jockey began his stunt to publicize the opening of the March of Dimes campaign.

Tripp was closely studied by researchers from five different institutions. One, Dr. Louis J. West, a University of Oklahoma psychiatrist, said of Tripp's immediate future: "He will probably sleep sounder than ever before in his life."

Dr. West predicted that Tripp initially would sleep 12 to 15 hours.

Steel Talks Set For Mid-May

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The United Steelworkers and basic steel companies will open 1959 contract negotiations in New York in mid-May, The Associated Press was told Wednesday by sources familiar with the situation.

Shifting the labor talks to New York will be a break with tradition since the first round of steel negotiations in the past has been held in Pittsburgh.

During 1956, when the current contract was negotiated after a 43-day nationwide strike, the contract talks opened in Pittsburgh but were transferred to New York after the first couple of days.

MORAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy shot to death four members of his family late Wednesday near this central New York community, state police reported.

Inspector William Driscoll said John Jayne killed his father, Willis, 66; his mother, Amber, 55; a brother, Willard, 19, and a sister, Elizabeth Ann, 13. They were struck down by blasts from a shotgun.

Driscoll said the boy had not given a reason for the slayings.

Tanker Planes' Use Ordered Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tactical Air Command has imposed restrictions on the use of KB50 tanker planes until certain parts in the fuel system can be replaced.

This action was disclosed by the Air Force Wednesday in response to an inquiry. It comes a week after the crash of a KKB50 in Louisiana, but an Air Force spokesman said the imposition of the restriction had no relation to that crash in which six crewmen died.

Court Sidesteps Swim Suit Test Of Transparency

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A judge turned down a request Wednesday to have a woman model a bathing suit she says became transparent when wet.

Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers told attorneys for an apparel shop "we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

He did grant a defense request to run chemical and physical tests on the suit.

Mrs. Donnan Dibble is suing for $2,500. She claims the first time she wore the suit in Lake Michigan it became transparent.

43 Homeless In Annapolis Fire

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Forty-three persons were left homeless Wednesday when fire swept through 12 apartments in a group of six row houses. No one was seriously hurt.

The 12 Negro families fled their homes in 27 degree temperature shortly after the blaze broke out near the middle of the adjoining frame buildings.

E. Gwyhn Bowen Jr., the city's technical fire inspector, said the blaze broke out in the partition between the second-floor apartments and spread from one end of the unit to the other through roof space. He said his initial investigation failed to show what caused the fire.

All five Annapolis fire companies and a truck from the Naval Academy responded to the four-alarm blaze. Included in the equipment was an 85-foot hook-and-ladder truck.

Thick, black smoke billowed out from all six units and was visible several miles away for about an hour. But firemen had the blaze under control in about one hour.

President Asks Union Boycott, Picketing Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower prescribed to Congress Wednesday a somewhat stiffer cure for curbing labor union-employer corruption than a remedy already backed by Democrats.

Capitol Hill immediately began bickering over the relative merits of the two sets of labor law proposals.

Actually they were so similar in most respects that prospects seemed bright for enactment of the first major labor legislation in a dozen years. But a fight was likely first on a few points.

The Eisenhower recommendations, like a bill offered earlier by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), call for strict accounting of union funds and measures designed to give rank-and-file members more control of union affairs.

The two proposals also would strike hard at bribery or collusion between employers and union agents or middlemen.

Eisenhower's proposals go a bit further in the antiracketeering field, but mostly in details.

The key distinction between the Eisenhower and Kennedy versions is that the President recommends tight new bans on union secondary boycott practices and certain forms of union picketing. Kennedy's bill would make no change in current boycott curbs and would apply only limited restrictions on picketing practices.

The secondary boycott is one in which an employer not directly concerned in a labor-management dispute is subjected to union pressures designed to win concessions from another employer who is involved.

In the picketing field, Eisenhower proposed barring such union action where another union already holds bargaining rights or where employes show they don't want to be represented by the picketing union.

Atlas Achieves Most Of Goals

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile apparently traveled about 4,500 miles Tuesday night in a test the Air Force said achieved most of its goals.

The 120-ton rocket blazed skyward from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

An Air Force announcement Wednesday said that on the basis of information radioed from the 80-foot rocket "the test achieved most of the Air Force objectives."

There was no elaboration on this, but there were reports that instruments recording the flight across the Atlantic Ocean did not function wholly as planned.

However, the Air Force said the Atlas flew the intended range. Again, there was no detail on what this range was, but the announcement said there had been no plan to send the mighty rocket over the full ICBM range of more than 6,300 miles.

The Atlas fired Tuesday night was aimed to hit some 4,500 miles downrange, near Fernando de Norhona Island off the Brazilian coast.

Draft-Backed CD Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said Wednesday men might have to be drafted for civil defense duties "if we are to get a civil defense plan that would be worthwhile."

Hershey, director of Selective Service, said it wasn't his job to recommend a draft-backed civil defense system but it was his responsibility to look ahead for possible uses of Selective Service.

He also told the House Armed Services Committee he knows where to find men for nonmilitary defense work among the nearly three million rejected on physical and mental grounds and the nearly two million deferred fathers.

No House Page Boy Job Open, Negro Youth Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 14-year-old Negro boy who came here from Chicago to accept appointment as a page in the House of Representatives learned Wednesday there was no job open.

Jimmie A. Johnson Jr. flew to Washington Tuesday night with his mother and younger brother, Fred. They had the idea Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.) had obtained a page's job for Jimmie.

But key lawmakers said there was no vacancy to be filled. And if there were, they said, O'Hara wouldn't be entitled to fill it.

Jimmie, crushed by the turn of events, told a reporter "the southern congressmen didn't want me."

However, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Democratic Patronage Committee, said he advised O'Hara last Friday there was no vacancy for a page boy. He also denied any southern intervention. He said no one had complained about the boy and that race was not involved. He said he never had heard the boy's name and did not know he was a Negro until he arrived in Washington.

In Chicago, O'Hara told newsmen before leaving on a flight to Washington that the mixup was "a sad misunderstanding." But he added that "I think we can straighten this thing out."

"It may take until the middle of February or until March before they can make room for him," O'Hara said.

Walter said House page boy appointments and other patronage for Illinois customarily were handled through the dean of the state's Democratic congressional delegation, Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien.

Derailment Delays "Silver Meteor"

NORTH EAST, Md. (AP)—The Seaboard Airlines' New York to Miami "Silver Meteor" was delayed Wednesday by a minor derailment. No one was hurt.

A Pennsylvania Railroad spokesman said the front wheels of the 17-car train's observation car derailed about 5:30 p. m. and delayed trains on another track. It was the last car in the train.

The spokesman said trains should not be running more than 20 to 30 minutes late because of the derailment.

Disc Jockey Completes 200 Sleepless Hour Vigil

NEW YOK (AP)—Disc jockey Peter Tripp, sick and groggy, completed 200 sleepless hours at 7:14 p.m. Wednesday night.

"He has probably stayed awake longer than anyone in history," said one of a team of medical researchers who took part in the marathon of wakefulness.

However, a Jacksonville, Fla., disc jockey claimed to have outlasted Tripp. Dave Hunter had started two hours before the New Yorker and still was going when Tripp quit. Hunter also had been under medical supervision, though not as strict as that of Tripp's.

Hundreds of persons looked on outside a Times Square booth where the 32-year-old Tripp completed his vigil.

He emerged from his exhausting vigil haggard and with a fixed stare. His speech was blurred and his normal brisk gait reduced to a shuffling walk. However, he was able to laugh, remember things and talk intelligently.

Tripp arose from bed the last time at 11:14 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 20. In the 8½ days since then, he has stayed awake, doing his daily disc jockey stint for radio station WMGM and reporting at intervals to the nearby Hotel Astor for medical and psychological examinations.

The disc jockey began his stunt to publicize the opening of the March of Dimes campaign.

Tripp was closely studied by researchers from five different institutions. One, Dr. Louis J. West, a University of Oklahoma psychiatrist, said of Tripp's immediate future: "He will probably sleep sounder than ever before in his life."

Dr. West predicted that Tripp initially would sleep 12 to 15 hours.

Steel Talks Set For Mid-May

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The United Steelworkers and basic steel companies will open 1959 contract negotiations in New York in mid-May, The Associated Press was told Wednesday by sources familiar with the situation.

Shifting the labor talks to New York will be a break with tradition since the first round of steel negotiations in the past has been held in Pittsburgh.

During 1956, when the current contract was negotiated after a 43-day nationwide strike, the contract talks opened in Pittsburgh but were transferred to New York after the first couple of days.

Legislators Cautioned On Equal Session Plans

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland legislators were reminded Wednesday about "what a howl went up" when they tried to increase their expense allowances in the current session of the General Assembly.

The reminder came from William S. Wilson Jr., spokesman for the Baltimore Assn. of Commerce, at a hearing of the House Judiciary Committee.

Before the committee were proposals to amend the constitution so the Legislature would meet for annual sessions of equal length instead of for 30-day and 90-day sessions in alternate years.

The Legislative Council, between-sessions screening arm of the General Assembly, has proposed 75-day annual sessions. Del. Maurice Cardin (D-Balto 5th) has proposed 60-day sessions.

Both proposals would open all sessions to all legislation. The present 30-day meetings are restricted to bills dealing with state budgetary matters, statewide legislation and acute emergencies.

Cardin and Sen. James (D-Harford) told the committee the 30-day session does not allow enough time for proper scrutiny of the governor's budget proposals.

Wilson said his greatest fear about the Cardin and Legislative Council proposals was that they might lead to annual floods of local legislation.

"You know lawyers like to practice law and doctors think there's nothing like practicing medicine," he said. "And legislators think the greatest thing in the world is to be in session and be passing laws."

Wilson repeated the Jeffersonian principle about the least governed people being the best governed people and said he thinks there is too much unnecessary legislation.

"We're smothering ourselves under statutes, rules and regulations and what-not," he said.

Chairman Ridgely P. Melvin Jr. (D-Anne Arundel) said the committee would take no action until it heard from fiscal experts on the probable cost of the proposals.

Temple Pylon Tilts After 3,250 Years

CAIRO (AP)—A 150-foot high pylon forming the main entrance to the great temple of the god Amoun Ra in Luxor has tilted and cracked after standing firm for 3,250 years.

Experts flew Wednesday to the ancient town in upper Egypt to repair it. They said the plyon tilted when workmen removed sand from a nearby excavation. The pylon will have to be rebuilt, using the same blocks. The temple was completed by King Ramses II in 1292 B.C.

Snow Belt Stretches Across Northern U. S.

By The Associated Press

Southerly winds warmed parts of the nation's midsection Wednesday but a new invasion of arctic air brought snow and colder weather to some Canadian border states.

The snow belt stretched from Montana and North Dakota into Michigan.

Colder weather is in store for most of the Northern Plains and the mercury is not expected to rise above zero Thursday in parts of Montana and North Dakota.

Skies were clear over much of the Northeast and daytime temperatures lingered in the 20s from the Great Lakes into upper New England.

Death And Red Tape Cheated By Sentry Dog

WASHINGTON (AP)—Our readers who love dogs and hate red tape probably will want to hear all about the case of Blitz and his soldier pal.

Everybody else might as well stop right now.

Here's the story, for you prodog and antibrass people:

Back in August 1957, a German shepherd sentry dog named Blitz was bitten by a rabid fox in France. He recovered and was restored to duty with Airman 1. C. Tom Rhodes, who's from Indian Head, Md.

In July 1958 Blitz was back on the sick list. He was losing his sense of smell and a veterinarian certified him as unfit. Let Rhodes have him for a pet, the vet suggested.

Hold, cried some officials at the base in Toul-Rosiere, France. These officials pulled the rule book. They pointed to Air Force regulations which order the destruction of any dog found unfit for sentry duty.

Now enters the compassionate vet, again. He signed a death certificate for Blitz. That ought to have ended things.

But no. Here enters a military detective. He detected that Rhodes was still buying dog food.

Clank, clank. The legal machinery went into action. Rhodes was found to have secreted Blitz, and a summary court-martial fined him $75 for "making a false official statement."

Rhodes already had paid $180 to have Blitz flown back to the United States on a commercial airliner.

Blitz is fat and happy, but is still in France.

Rhodes has been transferred to the Continental Air Force station in New Mexico.

The Air Force in Europe is preparing a cast against the vet for signing the death certificate.

The Air Force in the Pentagon is hearing from congressmen and others. It is pretty unhappy about the whole thing.

205 Rebel Casualties

Tiny Vanguard Discovers Earth Is Pear-Shaped

NEW YORK (AP)—Old Mother Earth is actually a little pear-shaped.

She's a bit bulgy in the south, and pointed in the north.

This hidden truth was discovered by tiny Vanguard, the grapefruit-size U.S. satellite launched last St. Patrick's Day.

Vanguard's discovery was announced Wednesday to the American Physical Society by Dr. J.A. O'Keefe, Miss Ann Eckels, and R. K. Squires of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Vanguard permitted scientists to draw an accurate new picture of the earth because the satellite travels so high above the earth's air, and in a very precise, trustworthy orbit.

But there are little wobbles in her flight—caused by variations in the earth's shape with consequent differences in the earth's tug of gravity on the satellite.

These showed that sea level a the North Pole area is about 50 feet higher than had been thought but some 25 feet lower outside the polar cap area in the Northern Hemisphere.

But at the south polar cap, sea level is lower by 50 feet, and 25 feet higher than formerly presumed in the Southern Hemisphere in the polar area.

The earth has been pictured before as nearly a sphere with a bulge around the equator.

The extra height in the north represents a tremendously heavy load there on the earth's crust. It's more weight than the thin crust presumably could support, Dr. O'Keefe and Dr. Robert Jastrow, also of NASA, explained to newsmen.

This indicates the earth's interior is not so plastic as many scientists have assumed.

Some mechanical strength is needed to support the pear-like dome in the north, and the bulges in the south, the scientists said.

U.S. Catholics, Protestants Talk Theology

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

American Roman Catholics are beginning to talk theology with Protestants. Not officially, and sometimes only in limited fashion, but the approaches are being made.

"It's a developing thing," said the Rev. Walter J. Ong, noted Jesuit scholar and professor at St. Louis University. "More and more dialogue is going on."

This, in the United States, is a rare departure. In the past, there has been little direct communication between doctrinal experts of the two faiths.

Catholics generally have avoided taking part in inter-denominational parleys on the ground this might becloud a firm teaching—that theirs is the one true church.

To Catholics, this remains an unchangeable absolute.

"But it's not a permanent barrier to conversation and theological exchange," Father Ong said. "Steps are being taken to keep the channels open, and the more that can be done, the better off we'll be."

Last week, as Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant churches around the world observed simultaneously a week of prayer for Christian unity, there were budding, new signs of more direct sharing of viewpoints.

Several Catholic publications have been launched carrying a cross-section of religious interpretation both by Catholic and protestant authorities.

These include "Theology Digest," put out by the Jesuits of St. Mary's College in Kansas; "Philosophy Today," published by the Fathers of the Precious Blood at Indiana's St. Joseph's College, and "Cross-Currents," at West Nyack, N.Y.

An "Operation Understanding," originated by Catholic editor Dale Francis, of Austin, Tex., is being sparked for sending Catholic journals to Protestant clergymen and Protestant journals to Catholic clergymen.

Various leaders, including Southern Baptists, also traditionally aloof from interdenominational affairs, have endorsed the plan.

A monthly round of conferences between Catholic, Protestant and Jewish theologians, financed by the Fund for the Republic and dealing with the basic issues of faith in a free society, is now in its second year.

Numerous Catholic thinkers, analyzing the church's past reluctance in this country toward first-hand contact with Protestant discussions, have urged more efforts in this behalf as a needed part of spreading the faith in a vital sector.

Men such as Dr. Jacques Maritain, Princeton University philosopher; the Rev. Dr. John B. Sheerin, editor of the Catholic World; the Rev. John A. O'Brien, of Notre Dame; the Rev. George H. Tavard, of Assumption College; and many others have urged more church activity in this sphere.

In European countries, Protestant-Catholic meetings are held regularly to probe agreements and differences. In many cases, congregations of the two faiths use the same church. Bishops of the two groups often are intimate associates.

Asked about this by interviewer John Cogley on a recent "Catholic Hour" television series, Father Ong said, "There is here in America a movement toward this sort of thing." He said there should be more of it on a long-term basis.

Expanding his comments later to this reporter, Father Ong said practical considerations have kept Catholics from participating actively in conferences held by such groups as the National and World Councils of Churches.

These organizations have continually held out an invitation, but Catholics have declined, lest their inclusion imply the church was on a level with others — and thus obscure its belief that it alone embodies Christian truth.

Eastern Orthodoxy, also holding it is the one true faith, does take part.

"The chief difficulty," Father Ong said, "is not that the leaders who participate in these meetings would misunderstand the point. But the practical danger is that erroneous impressions would be given the ill-informed."

U.S. Catholics, Protestants Talk Theology

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Congressmen, In Addition To Making History, Dig Up Nuggets From Past

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great heavens, the things one learns by lurking around Congress! Our statesmen aren't content merely to make history. They also are forever digging up curious nuggets from the past.

A close follower of Congress, for example, could bat 1.000 on this poser: Who were Abram Joseph Ryan, Samuel Wilson and Emily P. Bissell?

You probably are lucky if you recognize one of them, yet each played an unusual role in America's fascinating history.

The Congressional Record gets the ball rolling with Abram Joseph Ryan. A group of Alabama congressmen introduced a bill for a special postage stamp to honor the "poet-priest of the Confederacy."

Reeking with grits and red-eye gravy, lets' sashay to the office of Rep. Frank A. Boykin (D) of Mobile, Ala. Who was Ryan?

The answer, from Boykin's assistant, was disconcerting.

"Who was Ryan? Man, do you mean to tell me you never heard of the 'Conquered Banner'?"

Turns out Ryan was a Roman Catholic priest who was ordained shortly before the Civil War, served as a chaplain for the South from start to finish and, after defeat, wrote the "Conquered Banner" that greatly cheered the losers.

A first-rate orator as well as a poet, Father Ryan is credited with helping both sides understand each other during the Reconstruction.

We rapidly travel north to New York. Samuel Wilson was a government inspector, who stamped "U.S." to show the product was approved. Well, one thing led to another, and pretty soon he was being called "Uncle Sam" after the initials.

Now New York congressmen are plugging for a joint resolution, "to recognize Samuel Wilson, of Troy N.Y., as the progenitor of America's national symbol, 'Uncle Sam'."

You probably have more reminders of Emily P. Bissell than either of the others. In her way, she may have done more for her country than many a well-advertised legislator. Sen. J. Allen Frear Jr. (D) of Dover, Del., thinks she, too, deserves a postal stamp in her honor.

For she led the fight on tuberculosis, and much of the progress against this dread disease came from the efforts of this Wilmington, Del., crusader.

So whenever you buy your Christmas Seals each year, you might give a thought to Emily P. Bissell. She began the whole thing, back in 1907.

Ford Company Hopes To Build Argentina Plant

DETROIT (UPI) —Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Company, revealed Tuesday his company hopes to build a 15 million dollar assembly plant in Argentina for the manufacture of trucks and tractors.

Ford disclosed the plan to United Press International Tuesday in an interview following a luncheon he held in honor of visiting Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, who is on a two-week tour of the United States.

Plans for the Argentine plant, Ford said, have been under way since last August when the company requested authorization from the Argentine government to set up the plant to produce badly needed rolling stock for Argentine agriculture.

Ford said authorization already has been approved to set up the truck phase of the proposed operation, but that final word is still pending on the projected manufacture of tractors.

The president of the second-largest automobile company in the world said his company was prepared to invest 10 million dollars in the operation, and would borrow the equivalent of the remaining $5 million in Argentine currency.

U.S. Steel Hopes Strike Can Be Averted This Year

NEW YORK (UPI) —Roger L. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., said Tuesday the nation's biggest steel company hopes to arrive at "peaceful and non - inflationary settlement" with the steel workers union when current three-year labor contracts expire at mid-year.

Blough said the nation has had at least five major steel strikes since World War II "and we are not inviting that possibility certainly."

Asked whether labor and management might be closer to an agreement than preliminary gossip indicates, Blough replied:

"We have had no negotiations with the union but we have been advised in the press that some of their demands would be stiff and certainly not related to increased productivity."

Nurse's Human Torch Death Ruled Suicide

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The human torch death of a Navy nurse was ruled suicide by a coroner's jury Tuesday.

The jury decided Lt. Barbara R. Mitchell, 30, of Chicago, doused herself with gasoline, then set herself afire.

Her burned body was found near her car in Altamont Pass Jan. 15.

Lt. William Duff of the Alameda County sheriff's office testified her thumb print was found on a gasoline can at the scene.

The jury took into consideration autopsy reports which showed the nurse was four or five months pregnant. She was not married.

She was to have boarded a plane the day her body was found to report for a new assignment on Guam.

Woman To Cast Her First Vote At 85

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Mary Whitehead, 85, and her daughter, Mrs. Alma Barker, 65, have never voted in their lives. They registered Tuesday for the city primary in March.

Why have they never voted before?

"Pa said that he did not believe in women voting," said Mrs. Barker, "so that was that."

"That was that," agreed Mrs. Whitehead.

Both women registered as Democrats.

Senate Group To Probe Russian Trade Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) announced Tuesday that a new Senate commerce subcommittee will investigate Russian trade policies and Soviet maneuvers in the economic cold war.

He said the inquiry would first deal with Russia's action in "breaking the market" in aluminum trading. Later it will go into such issues as lumber manipulations and Russian trade intentions in South America.

Simultaneously, Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) called for a bold new program of export subsidies to let American producers compete with lower-priced Russian goods throughout the world. He urged creation of a special Senate committee to study the problem.

Stennis said money for the program could be provided by rechanneling funds now being spent on aid and support programs designed to meet a variety of domestic and foreign needs. Other funds could come from sale of farm surpluses abroad, he said.

Stennis, who visited Russia last year, warned that Soviet industrial capacity has expanded tremendously in recent years. He noted that Russia would order its "vast reservoir of regimented workers" toward achieving any specific production goal.

The statements by Magnuson and Stennis came as Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon blamed the Kremlin for the dim prospects toward increasing U.S.-Russian trade.

Dillon told the Mississippi Valley World Trade Council in New Orleans that Russia had turned down offers to let them buy U.S. food, clothing and household appliances. Instead, he said, they demand such things as machinery and chemical plants and want long-term credit too.

If the Russians sincerely want more trade with this country, he said, they can settle outstanding debts, give U. S. businessmen more access to Russian plants and stores, say publicly what they want to buy and sell, and assure foreigners of real protection for private industrial rights.

Magnuson, who heads the Senate Commerce Committee as well as the news subcommittee on foreign trade, gave no timetable for the investigation of Siviet trade.

GETS A BREAK

PRESTON, England (UPI)—Police gave James Heaton a break at his wedding here Tuesday — they let him take off the handcuffs during the ceremony. Heaton, 37, had been held pending trial on charges of assaulting a bullion dealer. But authorities permitted him to leave the prison for an hour Tuesday to go to the registry office to marry Marion Fazackerly, 34.

DID SOMEBODY MENTION GASOLINE MILEAGE?

Although we deliberately engineered improved gas mileage into the '59 Buicks, we have not made much point of it in previous advertising for THE Car. People's driving habits can get very different results even from the same car. So we are now happy to report that our plans for greater economy of operation have been very successful indeed . . . in everyday owner experience.

Owners report excellent records

Most owners are naturally proud of their new cars, and may sometimes overstate a little. But even allowing for that, listen to these reports from owners! A Detroit man drove his Electra 9,000 miles around the country, and reports a little over 19 miles a gallon. A Louisiana LeSabre, with Twin Turbine Transmission, after 4,000 miles is giving its owner 17.6 miles per gallon. A St. Paul man reports 18.1. From Atlanta comes 17.5. From Pittsfield, Mass., 20. Some are even higher. Some lower. But these are typical.

Tests confirm new economy

Recently a very thorough set of tests was run, putting Buick LeSabre and another car of comparable size which is known for good economy, through identical tests under all sorts of driving conditions. The Buick came out best in every single test.

How Buick mileage was improved

It took a combination of several steps. New, more efficient Wildcat engines was one . . . compression up to 10.5, better carburetion. In the case of LeSabre there is also a new, twin-barrel economy carburetor as standard equipment. All this to get more power out of the fuel. In addition, new combinations of transmissions and rear axles put this power to work more efficiently.

Owners also report QUALITY outstanding

Nurse's Human Torch Death Ruled Suicide

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The human torch death of a Navy nurse was ruled suicide by a coroner's jury Tuesday.

The jury decided Lt. Barbara R. Mitchell, 30, of Chicago, doused herself with gasoline, then set herself afire.

Her burned body was found near her car in Altamont Pass Jan. 15.

Lt. William Duff of the Alameda County sheriff's office testified her thumb print was found on a gasoline can at the scene.

The jury took into consideration autopsy reports which showed the nurse was four or five months pregnant. She was not married.

She was to have boarded a plane the day her body was found to report for a new assignment on Guam.

Woman To Cast Her First Vote At 85

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mrs. Mary Whitehead, 85, and her daughter, Mrs. Alma Barker, 65, have never voted in their lives. They registered Tuesday for the city primary in March.

Why have they never voted before?

"Pa said that he did not believe in women voting," said Mrs. Barker, "so that was that."

"That was that," agreed Mrs. Whitehead.

Both women registered as Democrats.

Senate Group To Probe Russian Trade Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) announced Tuesday that a new Senate commerce subcommittee will investigate Russian trade policies and Soviet maneuvers in the economic cold war.

He said the inquiry would first deal with Russia's action in "breaking the market" in aluminum trading. Later it will go into such issues as lumber manipulations and Russian trade intentions in South America.

Simultaneously, Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) called for a bold new program of export subsidies to let American producers compete with lower-priced Russian goods throughout the world. He urged creation of a special Senate committee to study the problem.

Stennis said money for the program could be provided by re-channeling funds now being spent on aid and support programs designed to meet a variety of domestic and foreign needs. Other funds could come from sale of farm surpluses abroad, he said.

Stennis, who visited Russia last year, warned that Soviet industrial capacity has expanded tremendously in recent years. He noted that Russia would order its "vast reservoir of regimented workers" toward achieving any specific production goal.

The statements by Magnuson and Stennis came as Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon blamed the Kremlin for the dim prospects toward increasing U.S.-Russian trade.

Dillon told the Mississippi Valley World Trade Council in New Orleans that Russia had turned down offers to let them buy U.S. food, clothing and household appliances. Instead, he said, they demand such things as machinery and chemical plants and want long-term credit too.

If the Russians sincerely want more trade with this country, he said, they can settle outstanding debts, give U. S. businessmen more access to Russian plants and stores, say publicly what they want to buy and sell, and assure foreigners of real protection for private industrial rights.

Magnuson, who heads the Senate Commerce Committee as well as the news subcommittee on foreign trade, gave no timetable for the investigation of Siviet trade.

The cotton boll weevil is of Mexican origin.

Mrs. Hashim was introduced by Mrs. James Smith.

A worship program was conducted by Mrs. Raymond Hewitt. A teen-age panel discussed "This is the Middle East," and a film, "This Is Islam," was shown.

Following the supper hour Mrs. Ethel Northcraft conducted the worship. A group of Junior Luther Leaguers portrayed a shadow picture, which is typical of Near East entertainment; sang two songs of the Middle East and played two games from the same section. The program closed with the missionary benediction. Approximately 50 women attended.

Pre-Lenten Dance Is Sold Out

Other chairmen are Mrs. Thomas Carroll, program; Mrs. Marcus Naughton, patron; Mrs. James Scarpelli, Andrew J. Saliga, Edward Neus, Marcus Naughton, Thomas Carroll. They are being assisted by Mrs. James Day, Mrs. William Hay, Miss Angela Laing, Miss Betty Stegmaier, Mr. and Mrs. John Coyle, James Scarpelli, Charles Simpson, Joseph Sirna, Harry Smith, Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. Andrew Saliga, John Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Lydinger, Mrs. Thomas Carroll, and Mrs. Allen Fresh.

Fort Hill 1954 Class To Hold June Reunion Dance

A date for a reunion was set and an executive committee was appointed by Wayne Couter at a meeting of the Fort Hill High School Class of 1954.

The reunion will be in the form of a dance and will be held June 13 at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Tentative plans are being discussed to hold a buffet supper in conjunction with the dance.

Gene Weber and Mrs. Myra Golightly Ott were named co-chairmen of the Dance and Orchestra committee; Mrs. Bessie Ketterman Burton and William Shinholt for the entertainment during intermission; Mrs. Doretha Wilson Andrews and Miss Rita George to compile a class book; Edward Athey and Bruce Lynn, publicity.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK—A fellow writes, "Why is it you reporters have not told the American people the truth: That Castro is a Communist stooge of the Kremlin; that he aided the killings in the Venezuelan uprising? How can this Communist give Cuba a democratic government?"

It appears this fellow is making up his mind almost as quickly as the Castro prosecutor who interrupted the trial of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco last week in the Havana Sports Palace and yelled, "I demand that the death penalty be imposed immediately; we have need for no more witnesses."

We are not going to know the truth about Fidel Castro, or his nature and his plans for Cuba and himself, for some time to come. To declare him a Communist as of now is riduculous, I think. He could very well prove to be vigorously anti-Communist. He might become a Fascist, for all we know as of now. Or a socialist. Or a Taft Republican. We don't know.

There has been criticism of the State Department for recognizing his government before knowing quite what it is, but this is an old State Department habit and no amount of criticism, in our time at least, is going to change that. Generally speaking, proximity has a bearing on our diplomatic recognition processes. We feel we can afford to be morally aloof of Red China and its 600-million slaves but this does not hold in the case of a country at our doorstep. Cuba could make a lot of immediate trouble for the U.S. We're not really quite sure whether the Monroe Doctrine would prevent her making a deal whereby Russia would be permitted to set up missile bases there, or give her military aid in this guise.

So we hastily recognize, just as we recognized Batista when he swept the opponents he was trailing in Cuba's presidential race of seven years ago—Annapolis-trained Carlos Hevia and Prof. Agrimonte—and forcibly took over the government. That's why other Latin American dictators have been recognized and, partly because of that recognition, kept in office. No exception could be made in the case of Castro. None probably was even considered.

Here's what I think about the man, an opinion based on one midnight interview, watching him in action for a few days, and meeting some of the people around him:

I think he has the opportunity to be the best leader Cuba has had since Jose Marti. He's only 31, and can go to pot like all the others who have risen to power and riches in Cuban politics. But right now he's the lean, hard, idealist with his whole little world in his hand and he feels toward that world and its people what seems a genuine affection and reverence. His precise program for Cuba has not yet been spelled out, but he speaks of training schools, a raising of the standard of living, a fairer deal with foreign companies which have been supplying Cuba with such things as electricity and telephones, and he speaks of encouraging foreign industry to locate on the island. Cuba has a one-crop economy. He says he would erect economic buffers to protect the people whenever that crop—sugar, of course—fails.

He is an educated man; indeed, he was considered a comfortably rich fellow when he was seized with the driving urge to rid the land of Batista and Batista brutality. If he were simply out to join the long list of Cuban treasury raiders, I think it would have shown up even at this early date in his reign.

For example, his is the best-behaved rebel army (or invading force) I've ever seen. His officers were student leaders. The discipline is simply astonishing. No man is permitted to drink in public. There has been no looting by these victors from the hills, no known raping. The whole land seems to have fallen under the spell of that discipline. He arrested the entire Havana police force, for example, and Havana is a cleaner and better run town today, without those cops. People who could drive through a red light knowing they could square it with the Batista traffic cop for a couple of bucks now come to a respectful stop at an untended corner when the light turns that color.

We saw this man silence a crowd of one million people last week, simply by standing there and raising his finger to his lips. We saw him weep when telling of some of the atrocities of the Batista forces. We heard him dream aloud of schools for his ragged and bearded ones, a better break for Jose Doques, the poor Cuban working slob. We can't call him a liar until he gives us ample reason to believe that he was clowning. We can't arbitrarily label him this or that. All we can do, it seems to me, is give him at least as much of a break as we gave his murderous predecessor and say a prayer that he turns out to be as good for our long-suffering neighboring people as they deserve.

Grafton's National Cemetery Expected To Be Filled By 1961, Army Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All available gravesites in the National Cemetery at Grafton, W. Va., will be filled or reserved by 1961, the Department of the Army has informed Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.)

Quartermaster General A. T. McNamara sent the information to Randolph "because I feel sure that you would wish to be informed in advance of the close - out of the Grafton National Cemetery."

McNamara noted that the cemtery, only one of its kind in West Virginia, has provided burial facilities annually for about 25 persons entitled by law to interment in national cemeteries.

"Projecting the current rate of burial into the future, the Department of the Army estimates that all of the available gravesites will be occupied or reserved by 1961," he said.

"The cemetery will then be closed to all burials except extra interments in occupied graves or initial interments in reserved graves," he said.

The 3.21-acre cemetery, established in 1867 incident to the Civil War, "does not lend itself to expansion because all of the surrounding land is otherwise developed," McNamar noted.

Persons eligible for interment —depending on availability of space — include members and honorably discharged veterans of the armed forces and their spouses, widows or widowers. Minor children of eligible service members may be buried in the same grave. No charge is made for the gravesite, headstone or opening and closing of the grave.

David E. Kirk To Head Heart Drive In County

DAVID E. KIRK

David E. Kirk, 110 LeFevre Road, Cumberland, has been appointed county chairman for the Heart Fund campaign in February, George R. Hughes Jr., general drive chairman, announced yesterday.

Kirk, a former resident of Barton until moving to this city two and one half years ago, is married to the former Joyce M. Dick.

He is an assessor with the Allegany County Assessing Department, and is active in volunteer firemen's activities.

He is vice president of the Bowling Green Fire Company and is a former vice president and secretary of the Barton Hose Company.

Kirk served a term as president of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, and is liaison officer for the Allegany County firemen's radio network.

Kirk has served three terms on the executive board of the Maryland State Firemen's Association. He has assisted in other fund drives in Barton.

In accepting the chairmanship, Kirk asked that everyone join the battle to fight heart disease and to strengthen the lives of many young ones who are afflicted by it.

He issued a call for volunteers. They may call PA 2-1888 or the heart office in the County Building, Union Street, PA 4-4011.

Chinese Engineer Applies For Job In Cumberland

Chon Poy Mak of Hong Kong, China, an architect and engineer, wanted to take Cumberland's examination for assistant city engineer but his inquiry was received too late.

Mak's letter dated January 20 was received by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery this week. Deadline for Civil Service exam applicants for the position was December 31.

Mak pointed out he saw the city's advertisement in the Engineering News Record of December 4 and "offered" his services to the city. He directed the city to his American sponsor, R. E. Chambers of Houston, Tex., and referred references to his work and character to Chambers and the British resident, in North Borneo where he worked in the Public Works Department.

The assistant engineer examinations were conducted Monday. It marked the first time examinations were conducted here and out of town for any city position. One applicant from Ohio came here to take the examination. Arrangements were made to hold the examination in New Jersey, Kentucky and Maine.

Plans are not quite complete for the program but Mr. Steger said that a number of University of Maryland specialists will discuss the growers' problems.

DAVID E. KIRK

David E. Kirk, 110 LeFevre Road, Cumberland, has been appointed county chairman for the Heart Fund campaign in February, George R. Hughes Jr., general drive chairman, announced yesterday.

Kirk, a former resident of Barton until moving to this city two and one half years ago, is married to the former Joyce M. Dick.

He is an assessor with the Allegany County Assessing Department, and is active in volunteer firemen's activities.

He is vice president of the Bowling Green Fire Company and is a former vice president and secretary of the Barton Hose Company.

Kirk served a term as president of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, and is liaison officer for the Allegany County firemen's radio network.

Kirk has served three terms on the executive board of the Maryland State Firemen's Association. He has assisted in other fund drives in Barton.

In accepting the chairmanship, Kirk asked that everyone join the battle to fight heart disease and to strengthen the lives of many young ones who are afflicted by it.

He issued a call for volunteers. They may call PA 2-1888 or the heart office in the County Building, Union Street, PA 4-4011.

Fruit Growers Meet Feb. 19

Allegany County fruit growers are being reminded by County Agent Joseph M. Steger that their annual winter meeting has been scheduled for the LaVale Fire Hall from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Thursday, February 19.

There will be a free luncheon served by the Cumberland Fair Association.

Chinese Engineer Applies For Job In Cumberland

Chon Poy Mak of Hong Kong, China, an architect and engineer, wanted to take Cumberland's examination for assistant city engineer but his inquiry was received too late.

Mak's letter dated January 20 was received by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery this week. Deadline for Civil Service exam applicants for the position was December 31.

Mak pointed out he saw the city's advertisement in the Engineering News Record of December 4 and "offered" his services to the city. He directed the city to his American sponsor, R. E. Chambers of Houston, Tex., and referred references to his work and character to Chambers and the British resident, in North Borneo where he worked in the Public Works Department.

The assistant engineer examinations were conducted Monday. It marked the first time examinations were conducted here and out of town for any city position. One applicant from Ohio came here to take the examination. Arrangements were made to hold the examination in New Jersey, Kentucky and Maine.

Constitutional Amendment Poses New Problem In School Aid For Hard-Pressed West Virginia Counties

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Counties already hard pressed to boost property assessments to avoid penalties under the West Virginia school aid formula encountered a new obstacle with ratification of a constitutional amendment last Nov. 4, it has just been disclosed.

In order to qualify for its full share of school aid this year, a county must assess property at a minimum of 50 per cent of the 1958 state tax commissioner's appraised valuation or face a penalty equal to one per cent for each per cent below the minimum.

However, the 1958 survey of the State Tax Department includes bank deposits, which under the new ratified amendment are no longer taxable.

This means that a county could not be expected to raise its assessments to 50 per cent of the department's appraisal when that appraisal includes some Class 1 property which cannot now be assessed for tax purposes.

Class 1 properties include bank deposits, notes, bonds, accounts receivable and tangible personal property in agriculture, such as livestock.

Assessment and levy officials of the Tax Department, realizing only recently the effect of the amendment on the school aid formula, have presented the problem to members of the Legislature for solution.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) said the Tax Department has been asked to prepare a bill to correct the inequality in the law.

Bean said the Tax Department told him county books do not itemize the various types of Class 1 property and that a resurvey of individual tax returns would be an impossibility without additional funds and manpower.

Bean said that in view of this, a bill would be proposed to authorize the Tax Department to deduct a flat 25 per cent from the tax commissioner's 1958 appraisal of Class 1 property.

In Kanawha County, an example of one of the larger counties assessing at less than 50 per cent, this would mean a deduction of nearly $30,500,000 from the commissioner's total of appraisal of $943,453,250.

Bean said that unless legislation is approved at this session, the situation could result in court litigation and a possible special session of the Legislature.

Counties have until Aug. 1 to raise assessments to the 50 per cent minimum appraisal in order to avoid a penalty under the school aid formula.

Driver Gets Jail Term On 4 Charges

A 48-year-old Ridgeley man was sentenced to three months in the Allegany County Jail and fined $295 and costs yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on four motor vehicle charges.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man, Claude S. Boyer, of 84 Knobley Street, after finding him guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence, reckless driving, operating without a registration card and operating without a license.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Baron noted that it marked the third time Boyer has been convicted of operating under the influence.

Boyer appealed the decision and was released on $1,000 bond pending action of the April term of the Circuit Court.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, presented the state's case. Boyer entered not guilty pleas to all four harges. He was not represented by counsel.

The charges resulted from a collision Monday night on Maryland Avenue when Boyer's car struck a city bus.

Testimony at yesterday's hearing revealed that Police Officer Donald Davis was driving on Maryland Avenue in his private car when the Boyer vehicle forced him off the street. After forcing the Davis car to the side, Boyer continued on before striking the bus.

Officer Elmer Shank and Officer Kenneth Henry made the arrest and testified at yesterday's hearing.

In the early days, charcoal was used for the smelting of iron and serious damage to many forests resulted by heavy cutting to produce it.

Use Of Salt Successful On Roads In Area

The State Roads Commission yesterday attributed much of the success of the road-clearing program during the recent snow storm to increased use of salt.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said a check was kept on the area in front of the district office on Braddock Road during the four-inch fall and salt kept the highway from being entirely covered at any itme.

Not only is more salt being used, Chaires said, but SRC crews have become more efficient at applying it to highway during snow or ice storms.

While the process is more expensive than other forms of snow removal, Chaires said it is felt the added cost is worthwhile if the public is better served and the SRC is able to get its men and equipment off the roads more quickly. In the long run, he said, it still amounts to a saving.

Chaires was questioned about why the SRC had stopped cindering and salting certain main roads within the city limits—particularly Braddock Road.

Chaires said it was a decision made this year that the SRC would stop operations at the end of state maintenance—that is, the city line. The state had extended this service formerly although it did not have the responsibiliy.

The same rule applies to all other state routes leading to the city with the exception of Henderson Avenue. Henderson Avenue comes under the state system.

On Braddock, or in the other areas, however, some exception would be made in emergencies. For example, if in event of a morning storm and city trucks had not arrived on Braddock, SRC crews would service the road to the traffic light on Greene Street, Chaires said.

Court Reverses Decision By LaVale Zoning Board

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris filed an opinion in Circuit Court yesterday reversing the LaVale Zoning Board's decision in denying the application for a permit to operate a sales and service business for heavy equipment at 926 National Highway.

The LaVale board denied the application of the Rish Equipment Company of Bluefield, W. Va., which was made last September 2. The decision was made after a hearing by the zoning agency October 31, 1958 and an opinion filed December 10, 1958.

The Rish firm had agreed to rent the premises owned by the Lucas couple and operated by Lucas for 12 years as a sales and service agency for trucks. The Rish firm agreed to pay $375 per month for a two-year period and then have the privilege to purchase the property within that period for $55,000.

After the Rish firm had been denied the permit, the Lucas couple took an appeal to Circuit Court from the board's ruling as the aggrieved parties. Judge Harris commented in his ruling that John P. Mullan, manager of the Rish firm, testified before the board that the company would sell and service heavy duty equipment such as pumps, air compressors, motor graders, power shovels, truck cranes and other construction equipment. Mullan further testified that repairs to much of the heavy equipment would be made "in the field," where equipment was located when it became in a state of repair.

Judge Harris said that while there are several residence properties near the Lucas property, there are also a restaurant, a service station and a dry cleaning establishment in close proximity.

Judge Harris opined that the question involved is whether the proposed use of this property by the Rish Equipment Company embraces such a change in the non-conforming use permit granted to the Lucas couple as to warrant the board's refusing the application of the Rish firm.

The court cited numerous cases to support his opinion in reversing the LaVale Zoning Board. Judge Harris said the Lucas business had used the same premises in conducting a general trucking business, and had a franchise for the sale of large trucks and trailers. The Lucas firm had held themselves out as the vendors of large trailmobiles which were used for hauling of heavy construction equipment and the servicing and repairing of such vehicles and also the repairing of heavy construction equipment.

"The court has visited these premises and has had the advantage of observing the surrounding properties and the use of the premises as presently utilized, and has heard the testimony with regard to the intensification of the present use by the Rish Equipment Company, and while it is undoubtedly true that the use of these premises by the Rish Equipment Company will involve a much more frequent repair of construction equipment than has existed during the past 12 years, nevertheless, the court is convinced that this would simply amount to an intensification of the non-conforming use rather than an extension thereof," Judge Harris stated.

He added that it is well-settled in Maryland that an intensification is not to be construed as an extension and as such does not constitute a violation of the zoning ordinance.

"The use to which the Rish Equipment Company proposes to utilize the premises is not inconsistent in any manner with the use to which the property has been used," Judge Harris concluded.

First National Bank Re-elects Officers

Officers of the First National Bank were re-elected yesterday at the annual meeting at the bank on Baltimore Street.

They are A. W. Tindal, president; Walter C. Capper, senior vice president; H. C. Landis, vice president and cashier; Ray Blose, vice president; Hugh D. Shires, vice president and trust officer; A. A. Helmick, assistant cashier, and Hazel H. Oder, assistant cashier.

The firm of William H. Geppert, William A. Gunter and Hugh A. McMullen, attorneys, represented the Lucas couple at the hearing. Leslie J. Clark was attorney for the LaVale Zoning Board.

Judge Harris said the Lucas business had used the same premises in conducting a general trucking business, and had a franchise for the sale of large trucks and trallers. The Lucas firm had held themselves out as the vendors of large trailmobiles which were used for hauling of heavy construction equipment and the servicing and repairing of such vehicles and also the repairing of heavy construction equipment.

"The court has visited these premises and has had the advantage of observing the surrounding properties and the use of the premises as presently utilized, and has heard the testimony with regard to the intensification of the present use by the Rish Equipment Company, and while it is undoubtedly true that the use of these premises by the Rish Equipment Company will involve a much more frequent repair of construction equipment than has existed during the past 12 years, nevertheless, the court is convinced that this would simply amount to an intensification of the non-conforming use rather than an extension thereof," Judge Harris stated.

He added that it is well-settled in Maryland that an intensification is not to be construed as an extension and as such does not constitute a violation of the zoning ordinance.

"The use to which the Rish Equipment Company proposes to utilize the premises is not inconsistent in any manner with the use to which the property has been used," Judge Harris concluded.

The firm of William H. Geppert, William A. Gunter and Hugh A. McMullen, attorneys, represented the Lucas couple at the hearing. Leslie J. Clark was attorney for the LaVale Zoning Board.

Motherwell Confers With His Attorney

FREDERICK (AP) — John T. Reges, a Washington attorney, came here Wednesday to confer with Larry Lord Motherwell who has been charged with murder in the strangulation death of his baby daughter.

Reges reportedly plans to start legal proceedings to try to get the first degree murder charge against Motherwell reduced so he can be released on bail.

Motherwell, 42-year-old Washington construction worker, is charged in connection with the death of his 14-month-old daughter Heather. The remains of the child, who had been retarded and had been in a nursing home, were dug up Nov. 19 near a suburban Frederick home of a casual acquaintance.

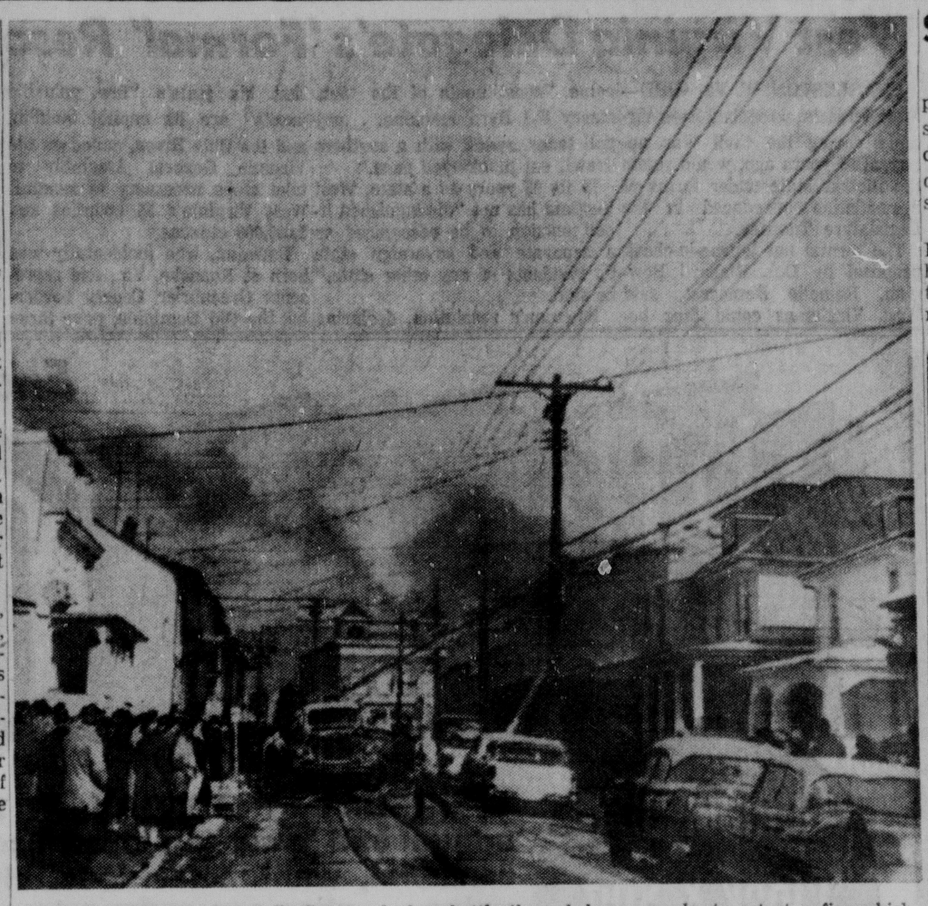
Police have said Motherwell admits he buried the child but insists she strangled to death on mucous in her throat.

Motherwell, sought by Washington police for questioning regarding the whereabouts of a wealthy Washington widow, was arrested in Las Vegas, Nev. Jan. 18. He was returned to Frederick early Tuesday.

The missing widow is Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, who has been sought since she left on a trip with Motherwell last summer.

Capt. Michael J. Mahaney of the Washington police said Motherwell repeated Tuesday that he and Mrs. Putney parted in Las Vegas in August. Motherwell said they were to meet there again in December or January, but that he has not seen her.

Mrs. Putney's half - brother, Castro M. Dabrohua of Chicago, and Washington police will examine Mrs. Putney's belongings that have been located in a Lexington Park, Md. warehouse. Police said they hope to find a lead as to the widow's whereabouts or perhaps find the $40,000 worth of Mrs. Putney's securities which are missing.



SMOKE SCREEN—Annapolis firemen had to battle through heavy smoke to get at a fire which swept through a group of six row houses in downtown Annapolis yesterday. A total of 43 persons had to flee their 12 apartments. None of the residents was hurt but three firemen suffered minor injuries. (AP Photofax)

School Fire Routs 30 Pupils

BALTIMORE (AP)—Thirty pupils were forced to flee a one-story wooden school here Wednesday when a two-alarm fire broke out in a classroom heated by a coal stove.

The fire started in the Lauraville Elementary School No. 155 about half an hour before classes were to begin. The school has an enrollment of some 150 students but most had not arrived yet.

The school is of portable construction and can be placed wherever classrooms are needed.

The blaze apparently started in a coal stove in a rear classroom building. The flames burnt through the wall of the building around the stovepipe.

Kentucky has 13 state parks.

96-Year-Old Woman Suffers Fatal Burns

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Emma Brengle, 96, died Wednesday of burns received when fire swept her room at suburban Catonsville.

Firemen found her on the floor of her smoke-filled room Tuesday after smashing through a blazing door to reach her.

She was burned on the hands and face. She died at St. Agnes Hospital.

D. C. Bus Conversion Plan Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A schedule for conversion of all Washington street car service to bus service within the next five years has been approved by the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission.

The plan by D. C. Transit System calls for replacement this year of three big chunks of the street car system—the Seventh Street, Wisconsin Avenue and Cabin John lines.

Under terms of the company franchise, the conversion is to be completed by 1963.

The first pure food law in the United States was passed by the state of Michigan.

Cambridge Man Guilty Of Manslaughter By Boat

EASTON, Md. (AP) — James Marvin Seward, 33, of Cambridge was convicted on reckless operation of a motorboat and manslaughter by motorboat Wednesday.

The charges resulted from the drowning of Elmer William Wyatt of Cambridge last August.

Wyatt drowned in Choptank River off the Talbot County side after he apparently lost his balance and fell into the water from Seward's boat.

Trial Magistrate Charles E. Wheeler fined Seward $100 and $3.60 costs and sentenced him to a year in the House of Correction, but suspended the prison term.

During the two and a half hour trial, Dr. Henry Friemuth of the State medical examiner's office in Baltimore, testified that the alcoholic content of Seward's blood was .19. He explained that a person is considered to be under the influence of alcohol at a .15 reading.

Donald L. Bowden of the U.S. Coast Guard told the court that the maximum that should have been in the boat was five, although seven persons were aboard when Seward went overboard. He said only three life preservers were in the boat.

Truck Crashes, Driver Burned

NORTH EAST, Md. (AP) — A Woodstock, Va., truck driver was burned severely and a cargo of livestock destroyed when his tractor-trailer crashed into the rear of a stalled truck and burst into flames near here Wednesday.

Forrest B. Miller, 23, was admitted to Union Hospital at Elkton with second-degree burns of the face and legs. His condition was listed as serious.

Police said the truck driven by Daniel L. Cox, 46, of Martinsville, Va., had broken down in the eastbound lane and was on the shoulder of the road at the time of the collision.

Miller apparently did not see the red flares set up by Cox, police said.

Fire started immediately after the impact. Flames spread rapidly through the wrecked trucks, police said, and rescuers were barely able to free the trapped driver in time.

Heat and fire prevented rescuers from releasing a cargo of pigs and lambs in one truck and the animals were burned to death.

Both trucks were destroyed.

Injured In Crash

SALISBURY (AP) — A 75-year-old Pittsville man was in critical condition Wednesday at Peninsula General Hospital here after a truck-auto collision.

Harry C. Truitt suffered a skull fracture and bruises of the head and face when his pickup truck collided with a car on U.S. 50 just east of Pittsville.

State Police identified the driver of the car as Walter A. Van Auken, 56, also of Pittsville.

Railway Tax Compromise Is Upheld

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The State Supreme Court has approved a compromise settlement of the Western Maryland Railway's tax assessment dispute with the Board of Public Works for 1955 and 1956.

A board spokesman said that a settlement also had been reached for 1957 and 1958. Railroad appeals from valuations set by the board for tax purposes for those years have been pending in Mineral County Circuit Court.

A compromise for 1955 and 1956 accepted by the board late last week as a prelude to the court order will fix Western Maryland's assessments at $12,250,000 for 1955 and $13,250,000 for the following year.

The order came on the same day on which the court had scheduled arguments in the case after granting the state an appeal from circuit court rulings.

Reductions Won

The Board of Public Works originally had set the assessments at 13 million dollars and 15 million dollars for the two years. The railroad won reductions to 9½ million for each year in Mineral County Circuit Court.

The board's assessments for each of 1957 and 1958 which Western Maryland appealed in Mineral County, totaled 12½ million dollars for each year.

Tuesday's Supreme Court order approved the agreement as to 1955 and 1956 and remanded the case to the Mineral court with directions that it enter orders modifying its final rulings of last Feb. 28 setting the 9½ million figures.

The latest compromise offers originated with Western Maryland. The board had rejected on Dec. 24 another company offer of a compromise for the past four years.

The railroad's offer at that time was to accept an assessed valuation of $11,250,000 for tax purposes on its West Virginia property for each of the years.

Details Unsettled

The company also proposed that it forfeit half of any refunds due it from the state, with the remaining half of such amount to be repaid to Western Maryland over a five-year period.

According to company computations, the state would have had to refund only $72,300 over five years. Details of refunds under the order to total about $70,000, remained to be worked out.

In rejecting the earlier compromise proposal, the board took note of a Supreme Court ruling which sustained an 11 million-dollar assessment against Western Maryland in 1954.

Will Build Home

Carl D. Triplett, 115 South Street, has secured a permit from the City of Cumberland to build a 28 by 35 foot concrete block home at 113 South Street at a cost of $9,700.

Blood Bank Needs Type O

Although all blood donors will be welcome at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, next Monday from noon till 6 p. m. for the only blood collection in Allegany County this month, the local Red Cross office yesterday issued an appeal for O Negative type donors following the exhaustion of the supply of that type at both local hospitals Tuesday.

When all of the O Negative blood at Memorial Hospital had been used in an emergency case, Sacred Heart Hospital was contacted and sent its supply to the hill-top institution.

Hazardous road conditions prevented the Red Cross motor corps from going to the Johnstown Regional Blood Center for more of the needed type, but Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the local Red Cross office, contacted the Pennsylvania State Police who picked up the blood at Johnstown and brought it to the Maryland border, where Maryland State Police took it over and delivered it to the hospital.

The total amount of blood used could not be learned yesterday, but the woman patient who received it is reported improving.

The quota for the one-shot visit of the bloodmobile here this month is 150 pints.

Rubber Workers Name Chairmen

A. E. Johnson, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers, said division chairmen and delegates to the rubber workers convention in April in Pittsburgh, Pa., were elected recently at a membership meeting of the local union.

The new division chairmen include H. M. Dye, Robert Baker, Merle Fletcher, Robert Swarner, James Green, Alva Lewis and George Simmons.

Delegates who were elected to attend the convention April 3-5 in Pittsburgh, are James Green, G. E. Sommerkamp, M. E. Dye, Charles Little and William Sheetz.

Judge Fraley To Sit Here In February

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris has posted a notice to members of the bar at the Allegany County Court House that he will begin his annual vacation on Friday, February 6.

In this notice he states that Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland will be in Cumberland each Tuesday and Friday during his absence, beginning on Tuesday, February 10. Judge Fraley also has expressed a willingness to come here at other times when requested by attorneys who find Tuesdays and Fridays unsatisfactory.

West Virginia Delegate's 'Formal' Resolution Would Reunite State With Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia, wrenched from Virginia during the Civil War upheaval 96 years ago, would rejoin the mother state under terms of a resolution introduced in the Legislature Tuesday.

The formal but tongue-in-cheek proposal by Del. Richard Bowman, Rainelle Democrat, said West Virginians could thus become "constituents of the (Sen. Harry F.) Byrd machine. . .pay poll taxes, speak with a southern drawl, eat black-eyed peas."

In its 96 years as a state, West Virginia has not "distinguished itself enough to be recognized as a separate and sovereign state by residents of any other state," he said.

Bowman's resolution, declaring that his state's "few valuable assets" are its capitol building and the Ohio River, called on the Virginia General Assembly to take steps necessary to readmit West Virginia's 55 counties and 2,000,000 citizens.

Bowman, who incidentally was born at Roanoke, Va., and represents Greenbrier County bordering the Old Dominion, gave these other reasons for his resolutions:

—West Virginia legislatures and geographers have "mightily resisted the enlightened citizens who wanted to give West Virginia a far more suitable and distinguished name."

—The state's public education system "has deteriorated to one of the lowest ranks in the union."

—"The state's economy has sunk to such a level that not even the most basic services of government can be furnished.

—"The citizens themselves have displayed a most effective and continuing determination not to do much to help themselves or raise the standards of their society."

—"The several state legislatures have been so fearful of the public mood that (they) have viewed with fear and trepidation any and all measures to add to their state's stature."

Diplomats Have Their Problems

Few people know very much about diplomats. Ask the average person to name his country's representative in, say, Turkey, and he is stumped. As a profession diplomacy seems to call for near-anonymity at home and genial sociability abroad.

Many travelers regard their country's embassies as places to go if they "get in wrong with the local police," lose their wallets, passports and return tickets home, or can, perhaps, wheedle invitations to cocktail parties where they can hob-nob with the famous.

But all this is the "bread and butter" of embassies. An ambassador's main duty is to keep his ear to the ground and his government informed at home on social, political, economic and military developments and trends in the country in which he is stationed while watching his own country's interests.

In the British House of Commons there have been complaints that the British government was misinformed on events in Cuba, and that last year diplomats were caught napping by the revolts in both Algiers and Baghdad.

Searching for reasons for this unhappy state of affairs, The Economist of London suggests that some British diplomats have allowed good manners to become aloofness; they have a "west-of-Suez" attitude, are suburbia-minded.

As a remedy, The Economist suggests that some upper lips be unfrozen and the plums taken out of some mouths. British diplomats should "adopt the friendly grins found on the faces of, say, the Canadians upon whom British diplomacy now often depends to help it to its feet after its pratfalls."

The life of a diplomat never was an easy one.

These Days

A Daring Tribe

The great editors and reporters of this country asked for no immunities and no protections. They took their chances and assumed their responsibilities. I am writing of such reporters as Lincoln Steffens, Charles Edward Russell, Samuel Blythe, Floyd Gibbons, Frank Ward O'Malley, H. L. Mencken, Mark Sullivan, and such publishers as William Randolph Hearst, Joseph Pulitzer, William Allen White, Joseph Medill Patterson—their number is legion in the story of freedom in the United States. These are just names that come to mind, but a little research would fill this column three or four times over with heroic publishers and editors and reporters, long before there was any such thing as a Pulitzer Prize or any other gold stars for good conduct. There was no fear among these men and women. And they wanted no immunity from the law. Journalism was a great art and profession in those days and one that paid badly.

Nowadays news is also handled as a part of theatrical business and the manner and tone are different. Television and radio are not newspapers and few men with real newspaper experience have made brilliant careers on these devices, although Hans Kaltenborn, a brilliant reporter and editor, was undoubtedly the greatest reporter on radio.

Edward R. Murrow, who recently attained a new fame as an expert on vice and its relationship to business, has never been a newspaperman. Whatever relationship he has had to news has been with radio and television and as that is show-business rather than journalism, his discipline and training have been different from that of a reporter. Also, as all his work is ephemeral, passing swiftly into the air, he never had the sad experience of having his errors blue-penciled the next morning with an unmistakable warning from the managing editor that there was no shortage of applicants for jobs.

In fact, Murrow's career started with Professor Stephen P. Duggan's Institute of International Education, an endowed agency for the exchange of students. Murrow left the Institute to join the Columbia Broadcasting System as director of talks and education and from that he moved into news.

It is not important that Ed Murrow chooses to be regarded as an expert news gatherer. The fact is that he is not a newspaperman and cannot be recognized as one. From any standpoint he is an actor, a profession to which some fine people admit that they belong. The theater is great art, but play-acting is not journalism.

Although it has recently become fashionable for some younger newspapermen to ask for immunity from responsibility, it is not customary in this trade. A newspaper is a responsible business, subject to law. It can be sued for libel; it can be punished for being salacious or malicious. Libel, in very simple language, means lying or defaming and decent newspapermen avoid both. They check their material and their sources and although bias and errors do creep in, the writer does not dodge responsibility.

However, when a top-notch reporter, such as Westbrook Pegler, discovers a crook, a swindler, a faker, he will go after him. Sometimes such reporting leads to libel suits, the judge and jury taking another view of the matter, but among strong men the libel suit was ignored as contemptible, if the reporter told the truth. However, today juries grant such ridiculous sums for what they call libels that newspaper owners are frightened and the reporters fear too.

As regards radio and television, the whole matter is complicated by the method of organizing the job. As it is a theatrical performance, the man who speaks the words may not have written them. The words usually come from a word factory. If the show is owned by the broadcasting company, there may be some responsibility; if it is owned by an agency or a producing company, the direct responsibility may be very remote. The fellow who wrote the words may not have gathered the facts. Murrow, for instance, in his vice show, has admitted that he neither gathered the facts nor wrote the words; he was the narrator, like Charles Laughton reading the Bible parts of which were written several thousand years ago.

Before radio and television are entitled to immunity from the law, they need to learn something about responsibility under the law.

Soviet Arms Shipments On Way To Iraq; 200 Russian Advisers Arrive

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Three Soviet freighters, loaded with arms, are steaming up the Persian Gulf toward the only part of Iraq that touches the sea—ominous evidence that that oil-rich country is slipping behind the Iron Curtain.

American intelligence has carefully followed the progress of the three Soviet ships. They carry the first Communist arms shipment to Iraq, which hitherto has relied upon western arms and until last summer was a member of the Baghdad Pact.

More than 200 Soviet military advisers have also arrived in Baghdad to help the Iraqi Army convert from British to Russian equipment. Yet when only nine American military advisers were stationed in Baghdad, Radio Moscow accused the former Iraqi Government of being an American puppet.

Nebulous Law

A secretary for Congressman Lawrence Brock, energetic new Nebraska Democrat, telephoned the House Document Room the other day for a particular bill. She couldn't say for sure, however, whether it was House Resolution 133 or Joint Resolution 133.

"Do you know its subject matter?" asked the document clerk.

"It has something to do with outer space," he volunteered brightly.

What she sought turned out to be the Joint Resolution, whose subject is said to dwell in outer space but should be in the inner hearts of man — a proposed constitutional amendment to "recognize the authority and law of Jesus Christ."

Split On Civil Rights

There's a very significant backstage battle going on inside the White House over civil rights.

When Gen. Wilton Persons, brother of the ex-Governor of Alabama, stepped into Sherman Adams' job at the White House, he gave the staff fair warning: "I want you to remember I am wrong on the civil rights issue. I want you to fight me on it."

Today Persons is using his powerful influence to keep President Eisenhower from taking any leadership on civil rights, but the White House staff isn't following Persons' instructions. It isn't "fighting" him on it.

In fact, White House Counsel Gerald Morgan, second in power to Persons, has joined in urging Ike to keep hands off the civil rights controversy. Persons and Morgan are willing to let the President pay lip service to civil rights but urge him not to help implement the Supreme Court integration decisions in any way.

On the other side, Attorney General Bill Rogers is working behind the scenes to line up the full power and prestige of the White House behind the Supreme Court. He would like to ban federal projects, for example, in areas that refuse to comply with the Supreme Court's integration orders.

"This sounds too punitive," objected Morgan.

As a result, the lines are drawn inside the Eisenhower administration over school integration. Ike is now following the advice of his right-hand man. General Persons from Alabama.

Personal And Confidential

New York's busy new Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has found time to make only one change in his Commerce Department. He rushed through the appointment of Oren Root as deputy commissioner. (Root is the man who started the bandwagon rush for Wendell Willkie in 1940 which nominated him.) Root's confidential assignment is to wangle federal contracts for New York businessmen. . . . While other big-name Democrats are maneuvering for the 1960 persidential nomination, New York City's Mayor Bob Wagner has quietly launched a campaign for the vice presidency. . . . Nevada's defeated Sen. which has been my life's concern. It also raises a natural question in my mind as to the accuracy of information which the Chamber newsletter has sent me on other businesses."

George Malone left behind an interesting document stuck in the back of his Senate desk. It concerned a horse that Argentina's ousted dictator Juan Peron had presented him in 1955. Declared the confidential message: "Senator Malone's horse will be shipped on the S. S. Tofo leaving Chile Feb. 24 and arriving in Norfolk March 15 to 17. Transportation will be without charge." . . . Although Malone left office on Jan. 3, his free mailing privileges will continue until June. He is now using them to promote the American Mercury magazine. Malone has mailed out American Mercury advertising material at government expense offering $4 subscriptions for $3.50.

Better Bricklayers

From no less than the Taft Memorial Tower, erected to glorify the late Sen. Robert Taft, always a hero to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, has come a stinging rebuke to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was written by William F. Nelson, mason contractor for the Taft Memorial, who read this item in the U. S. Chamber's newsletter: "Bricklayers who used to lay 1,000 bricks a day handily, now limited by union rules to 500."

Nelson belongs to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and also employs bricklayers. He dictated a sizzling letter to the Chamber about the brick work on the Taft Memorial Tower.

"For your information," he wrote, "four bricklayers on that job, building 16-inch brick walls backing up the stone face of the Memorial, laid an average of 2,800 bricks per day per man. Not 500."

He explained that the bricklaying rate depends upon the kind of masonry; that production efficiency on a comparable wall is actually higher today than it used to be in 1928-32.

"The amount of foolishness circulated on the subject of bricklayer productivity and wages is little short of appalling," Nelson added. "It is particularly irritating to me in this case, since it means my Chamber dues are being employed to disseminate false information which tends to damage a segment of business

What Federal Taxes Do To U. S. Business

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What is the "mood" of American business today? Lately there has been considerable discussion as to what has to be done if America is to keep the lead in the race with the Communist system. Adlai Stevenson, in recent speeches, spoke of this country as pursuing a "fat, dumb, happy, complacent way" in the face of Soviet competition, and describes the struggle as being waged "between a chaotic, selfish, indifferent commercial society and the iron discipline of the Communist World."

There are other criticisms, too. Many businessmen have in their minds today the "image" of a frustrated America. They see the incentives missing for the extra push that used to be so important in the competitive arena. Thus, for instance, a businessman from the West Coast, who has been rather successful himself and who travels around the country quite a lot, dropped in for a chat with this correspondent the other evening. When asked what he found to be the mood of businessmen generally, he said:

"I am sorry to say that I find a widespread discouragement — really a lack of incentive. Businesses try hard, in this day of competition, to increase their volume of sales, but they are face to face with the necessity of giving more than half of their profits to the government and of using more and more of their income to meet wage demands.

"Now the feeling is growing that there isn't much chance of a tax reduction for corporations, and this, more than any other factor, is killing the very incentive and stimulus we need for a growing America.

"As for the executive, what incentive is there for him, since most of any increase in salary he may get goes to the tax collector, anyhow?"

Yet every day in the debate over the President's budget — between the "spenders" and the "savers" — many of the Democrats are taking the position that all that is needed for national growth is for the government to spend more. Their argument is that the gross national product will increase just because population increases. Very little thought seems to be given to the fact that a "commercial society," as Mr. Stevenson describes it, can deteriorate very rapidly without incentives and under a heavy tax burden.

Today, 52 cents out of every dollar of profit a corporation makes must go to the federal government for taxes. On top of this are state and local taxes. Even if all the remainder were paid out in dividends — which can't be done, because funds have to be set aside for new plant and equipment and future contingencies — the individual stockholders still would have to pay to the federal government in taxes anywhere from 20 to 90 per cent of their receipts from this same corporation.

While the radicals like to talk in collective figures about business earnings before taxes, they usually overlook the plight of the marginal companies. Realistically speaking, Republican Chairman Alcorn should not be worried about the "image of big business" as being something Republican. It fits the Democratic Party even better. For, in the last 25 years, the Democrats have passed tax laws that favor "big business" and monopoly. As for "big unionism," it has consistently favored "big business" as against small business by setting the wage scales so high that the marginal companies cannot pay them and must seek mergers with the larger companies as the only way out of the dilemma.

The wave of mergers in recent years is largely due to the inability of marginal companies to make ends meet, because of high labor costs. The labor leaders like to quote the collective profits of a given industry as the basis for wage demands. They never separate an industry into big and marginal categories, respectively, so that one may see how most of the profits are made by the big three or four in an industry, while the 20 or 30 marginal companies make small profits or are forced into the red when recessions come.

America may be approaching a truly critical period in her economic history. Until the federal corporation taxes are reduced considerably, there is very little prospect that America will travel again the road of sound growth and economic progress. Actually, if the corporation taxes were reduced from 52 per cent to 40 per cent, the federal government would collect far more total revenue than it does today, because the volume of business would be materially increased due to the incentive and stimulus given to all businesses.

The Market Boom

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The stock market has broken through the 600 level in the Dow, Jones industrial share price averages.

This is an all-time high for this index and more than treble the average price level in the 1947-49 period. Since last February, this is a more than 165 point or 39 per cent rise.

The postwar stock market boom has been in three stages. The first came after 1949, when the market broke out of a three-year 40-point trading range.

After making a high in 1951—more than 115 points above the '49 low—the market again held in a 40 point trading range for the next two years.

There followed a three-year boom that carried the market to an all time high in April of 1956 at 524.37 in the Dow, Jones industrials. The market again ran into a period of consolidation, and for a time in 1957 broke on the business recession.

Since February of last year the stock market has had another boom that brought it last week above the 600 level in the D-J industrial price averages.

The main steam for this third phase of the postwar bull market has come from fears of inflation. There has been a flight from the dollar, marked by a loss of gold, higher and higher wages for less and less work and a return to large federal deficits.

While the market continues to forecast more and more inflation, in the same week the stock averages crossed 600 another inflation index—that for consumers prices—showed a small drop. Only once before has this index registered a decline from the preceding month in three and a half years. It eased momentarily last August. 1949 lows.

The market has had a 275 per cent or 441.52 point rise from the

The consumer price index in the same period is up currently 23.7 per cent. This is a big rise at any time, but hardly the basis for a 275 per cent inflation in the stock market.

Inflation was less a factor in the market prior to 1958. This became THE factor when the labor monopoly showed its irresponsibility and the Administration lost control of federal spending.

The market currently has run ahead of the inflation—which is typical. It always over discounts bad news and good news. This is particularly true in a market as thin as this one.

There is a shortage of stock, and any sudden buying or selling will bring wide price swings. The tax laws—capital gains and inheritance—and locking up of stock and closed end trusts, the pension funds and trust accounts have greatly reduced the floating supply of shares.

The long trend is definitely for more inflation, but there is a good chance for stability in the price level near term. This depends on how successful President Eisenhower will be in blocking renewed Congressional spending. Also, the restraint the labor monopoly exercises in its wage and fringe benefit demands.

The current market presents a problem for the investor. It is high—in fact very high.

The long term market outlook is extremely favorable, but in the months immediately ahead there could develop better buying opportunities. So, playing it cautious, a good idea is to keep at least a cash reserve for later investment.

The test on inflation will come this spring and summer. In the spring in Congress. In the summer in the steel industry, when present wage contracts expire.

If inflation is checked or substantially slowed, there will have to be some revaluing of the market.

The public is thoroughly aroused to the need for economy in government and an end to unreasonable wage demands. The public for once is ahead of the politicians.

Abstainers Have Less Cancer, Heart Trouble

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Seventh Day Adventists refrain from smoking and drinking. They have little cancer and heart trouble. The members of this church live under the same stress and strain as the general population and otherwise are no different from other Americans except that they drink more milk and consume less meat, coffee, and tea.

Many live in Los Angeles where smog is as thick as pea soup. All these factors made this an ideal study group to determine the effects of tobacco and alcohol on heart disease and lung cancer.

Dr. Ernst L. Wynder and Dr. Frank R. Lemon conducted a survey based on the records of eight Adventist hospitals throughout the country. The incidence of cancer and heart ailments among Adventist patients was compared to that of non-Adventists.

There were 118 cases of lung cancer among the non-Adventists and only one case among the Adventists. This 63 year old man had been a one pack a day smoker for 25 years before joining the church. In addition, he had been exposed for many years to metal dust and metal burning. The investigators pursued the problem further and found that only six per cent of the adventists had smoked for more than 20 years, compared with 85.4 per cent of smokers in a sample of the general population.

Smog entered the picture in that 52 per cent of this religious group came from Los Angeles; cancers of the mouth, larynx, and esophagus were at least 10 times less common among these men. Malignancies in this area usually are related not only to smoking but to heavy drinking.

The Adventists were just as susceptible to all other types of cancer, showing they had no specific immunity to the disease. Angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis were 40 per cent less prevalent in Adventists than in the others. Eating less meat may lower the cholesterol level but the difference is more than made up in the amount of milk they consume. The authors concluded that smoking probably was responsible; their findings coincide with previous reports along this line.

NASAL GROWTHS

T. P. writes: Do you advise surgical removal of a polyp in the nose that interferes with breathing?

REPLY

Yes. Surgery should be followed by an attempt to control the nasal infection or the allergy that stimulates polyp formation. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on nasal polyps.

TOXEMIA

L. R. writes: Does the toxemia of pregnancy affect the kidneys?

REPLY

Yes, in that albumin appears in the urine, blood pressure increases, and the tissues become waterlogged.

NAVEL SHOTS

S. D. writes: Is it true that rabies shots are injected into the navel?

REPLY

No. Many physicians inject the Pasteur vaccine under the skin of the abdominal wall, which is as close to a navel encounter as we can get.

MEAT FOR GROWTH

Mrs. R. P. writes: My 6 and 8-year-olds like to eat lots of meat for dinner. Is this doing them any harm?

REPLY

No. Meat is rich in the type of proteins that make excellent building blocks. Be certain the youngsters include the other basic foods, such as fruits, vegetables, milk, dairy products, eggs, and cereals.

PENICILLIN AND COLDS

R. T. writes: If penicillin is no good for colds, why do so many physicians give it?

REPLY

1. Most individuals do not consult a phyiscian unless the cold is severe.

2. Many strep sore throats and other bacterial infections are mislabeled colds. Penicillin is of value in these conditions.

3. Some patients demand penicillin. They feel cheated when told they have a common cold, and are given palliative remedies, or advised to go home and stay in bed until well.

LENGTH OF ILLNESS

R. T. writes: How long does undulant fever last?

REPLY

Old statistics on brucellosis give the following information: 10 per cent are convalescent in less than one month, 50 per cent in two months, 25 per cent in three months, and 15 per cent have the illness for more than three months. So far as I know, these figures still hold.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Split On Civil Rights

There's a very significant backstage battle going on inside the White House over civil rights.

When Gen. Wilton Persons, brother of the ex-Governor of Alabama, stepped into Sherman Adams' job at the White House, he gave the staff fair warning: "I want you to remember I am wrong on the civil rights issue. I want you to fight me on it."

Today Persons is using his powerful influence to keep President Eisenhower from taking any leadership on civil rights, but the White House staff isn't following Persons' instructions. It isn't "fighting" him on it.

In fact, White House Counsel Gerald Morgan, second in power to Persons, has joined in urging Ike to keep hands off the civil rights controversy. Persons and Morgan are willing to let the President pay lip service to civil rights but urge him not to help implement the Supreme Court integration decisions in any way.

On the other side, Attorney General Bill Rogers is working behind the scenes to line up the full power and prestige of the White House behind the Supreme Court. He would like to ban federal projects, for example, in areas that refuse to comply with the Supreme Court's integration orders.

"This sounds too punitive," objected Morgan.

As a result, the lines are drawn inside the Eisenhower administration over school integration. Ike is now following the advice of his right-hand man, General Persons from Alabama.

Personal And Confidential

New York's busy new Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has found time to make only one change in his Commerce Department. He rushed through the appointment of Oren Root as deputy commissioner. (Root is the man who started the bandwagon rush for Wendell Willkie in 1940 which nominated him.) Root's confidential assignment is to wangle federal contracts for New York businessmen. . . . While other big-name Democrats are maneuvering for the 1960 persidential nomination, New York City's Mayor Bob Wagner has quietly launched a campaign for the vice presidency. . . . Nevada's defeated Sen. which has been my life's concern. It also raises a natural question in my mind as to the accuracy of information which the Chamber newsletter has sent me on other businesses."

George Malone left behind an interesting document stuck in the back of his Senate desk. It concerned a horse that Argentina's ousted dictator Juan Peron had presented him in 1955. Declared the confidential message: "Senator Malone's horse will be shipped on the S. S. Tofo leaving Chile Feb. 24 and arriving in Norfolk March 15 to 17. Transportation will be without charge." . . . Although Malone left office on Jan. 3, his free mailing privileges will continue until June. He is now using them to promote the American Mercury magazine. Malone has mailed out American Mercury advertising material at government expense offering $4 subscriptions for $3.50.

Better Bricklayers

From no less than the Taft Memorial Tower, erected to glorify the late Sen. Robert Taft, always a hero to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, has come a stinging rebuke to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was written by William F. Nelson, mason contractor for the Taft Memorial, who read this item in the U. S. Chamber's newsletter: "Bricklayers who used to lay 1,000 bricks a day handily, now limited by union rules to 500."

Nelson belongs to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and also employs bricklayers. He dictated a sizzling letter to the Chamber about the brick work on the Taft Memorial Tower.

"For your information," he wrote, "four bricklayers on that job, building 16-inch brick walls backing up the stone face of the Memorial, laid an average of 2,800 bricks per day per man. Not 500."

He explained that the bricklaying rate depends upon the kind of masonry; that production efficiency on a comparable wall is actually higher today than it used to be in 1928-32.

"The amount of foolishness circulated on the subject of bricklayer productivity and wages is little short of appalling," Nelson added. "It is particularly irritating to me in this case, since it means my Chamber dues are being employed to disseminate false information which tends to damage a segment of business

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What is the "mood" of American business today? Lately there has been considerable discussion as to what has to be done if America is to keep the lead in the race with the Communist system. Adlai Stevenson, in recent speeches, spoke of this country as pursuing a "fat, dumb, happy, complacent way" in the face of Soviet competition, and describes the struggle as being waged "between a chaotic, selfish, indifferent commercial society and the iron discipline of the Communist World."

There are other criticisms, too. Many businessmen have in their minds today the "image" of a frustrated America. They see the incentives missing for the extra push that used to be so important in the competitive arena. Thus, for instance, a businessman from the West Coast, who has been rather successful himself and who travels around the country quite a lot, dropped in for a chat with this correspondent the other evening. When asked what he found to be the mood of businessmen generally, he said:

"I am sorry to say that I find a widespread discouragement — really a lack of incentive. Businesses try hard, in this day of competition, to increase their volume of sales, but they are face to face with the necessity of giving more than half of their profits to the government and of using more and more of their income to meet wage demands.

"Now the feeling is growing that there isn't much chance of a tax reduction for corporations, and this, more than any other factor, is killing the very incentive and stimulus we need for a growing America.

"As for the executive, what incentive is there for him, since most of any increase in salary he may get goes to the tax collector, anyhow?"

Yet every day in the debate over the President's budget — between the "spenders" and the "savers" — many of the Democrats are taking the position that all that is needed for national growth is for the government to spend more. Their argument is that the gross national product will increase just because population increases. Very little thought seems to be given to the fact that a "commercial society," as Mr. Stevenson describes it, can deteriorate very rapidly without incentives and under a heavy tax burden.

Today, 52 cents out of every dollar of profit a corporation makes must go to the federal government for taxes. On top of this are state and local taxes. Even if all the remainder were paid out in dividends — which can't be done, because funds have to be set aside for new plant and equipment and future contingencies — the individual stockholders still would have to pay to the federal government in taxes anywhere from 20 to 90 per cent of their receipts from this same corporation.

While the radicals like to talk in collective figures about business earnings before taxes, they usually overlook the plight of the marginal companies. Realistically speaking, Republican Chairman Alcorn should not be worried about the "image of big business" as being something Republican. It fits the Democratic Party even better. For, in the last 25 years, the Democrats have passed tax laws that favor "big business" and monopoly. As for "big unionism," it has consistently favored "big business" as against small business by setting the wage scales so high that the marginal companies cannot pay them and must seek mergers with the larger companies as the only way out of the dilemma.

The wave of mergers in recent years is largely due to the inability of marginal companies to make ends meet, because of high labor costs. The labor leaders like to quote the collective profits of a given industry as the basis for wage demands. They never separate an industry into big and marginal categories, respectively, so that one may see how most of the profits are made by the big three or four in an industry, while the 20 or 30 marginal companies make small profits or are forced into the red when recessions come.

America may be approaching a truly critical period in her economic history. Until the federal corporation taxes are reduced considerably, there is very little prospect that America will travel again the road of sound growth and economic progress. Actually, if the corporation taxes were reduced from 52 per cent to 40 per cent, the federal government would collect far more total revenue than it does today, because the volume of business would be materially increased due to the incentive and stimulus given to all businesses.

The Market Boom

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The stock market has broken through the 600 level in the Dow, Jones industrial share price averages.

This is an all-time high for this index and more than treble the average price level in the 1947-49 period. Since last February, this is a more than 165 point or 39 per cent rise.

The postwar stock market boom has been in three stages. The first came after 1949, when the market broke out of a three-year 40-point trading range.

After making a high in 1951—more than 115 points above the '49 low—the market again held in a 40 point trading range for the next two years.

There followed a three-year boom that carried the market to an all time high in April of 1956 at 524.37 in the Dow, Jones industrials. The market again ran into a period of consolidation, and for a time in 1957 broke on the business recession.

Since February of last year the stock market has had another boom that brought it last week above the 600 level in the D-J industrial price averages.

The main steam for this third phase of the postwar bull market has come from fears of inflation. There has been a flight from the dollar, marked by a loss of gold, higher and higher wages for less and less work and a return to large federal deficits.

While the market continues to forecast more and more inflation, in the same week the stock averages crossed 600 another inflation index—that for consumers prices—showed a small drop. Only once before has this index registered a decline from the preceding month in three and a half years. It eased momentarily last August. 1949 lows.

The market has had a 275 per cent or 441.52 point rise from the

The consumer price index in the same period is up currently 23.7 per cent. This is a big rise at any time, but hardly the basis for a 275 per cent inflation in the stock market.

Inflation was less a factor in the market prior to 1958. This became THE factor when the labor monopoly showed its irresponsibility and the Administration lost control of federal spending.

The market currently has run ahead of the inflation—which is typical. It always over discounts bad news and good news. This is particularly true in a market as thin as this one.

There is a shortage of stock, and any sudden buying or selling will bring wide price swings. The tax laws—capital gains and inheritance—and locking up of stock and closed end trusts, the pension funds and trust accounts have greatly reduced the floating supply of shares.

The long trend is definitely for more inflation, but there is a good chance for stability in the price level near term. This depends on how successful President Eisenhower will be in blocking renewed Congressional spending. Also, the restraint the labor monopoly exercises in its wage and fringe benefit demands.

The current market presents a problem for the investor. It is high—in fact very high.

The long term market outlook is extremely favorable, but in the months immediately ahead there could develop better buying opportunities. So, playing it cautious, a good idea is to keep at least a cash reserve for later investment.

The test on inflation will come this spring and summer. In the spring in Congress. In the summer in the steel industry, when present wage contracts expire.

If inflation is checked or substantially slowed, there will have to be some revaluing of the market.

The public is thoroughly aroused to the need for economy in government and an end to unreasonable wage demands. The public for once is ahead of the politicians.

Abstainers Have Less Cancer, Heart Trouble

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Seventh Day Adventists refrain from smoking and drinking. They have little cancer and heart trouble. The members of this church live under the same stress and strain as the general population and otherwise are no different from other Americans except that they drink more milk and consume less meat, coffee, and tea.

Many live in Los Angeles where smog is as thick as pea soup. All these factors made this an ideal study group to determine the effects of tobacco and alcohol on heart disease and lung cancer.

Dr. Ernst L. Wynder and Dr. Frank R. Lemon conducted a survey based on the records of eight Adventist hospitals throughout the country. The incidence of cancer and heart ailments among Adventist patients was compared to that of non-Adventists.

There were 118 cases of lung cancer among the non-Adventists and only one case among the Adventists. This 63 year old man had been a one pack a day smoker for 25 years before joining the church. In addition, he had been exposed for many years to metal dust and metal burning. The investigators pursued the problem further and found that only six per cent of the adventists had smoked for more than 20 years, compared with 85.4 per cent of smokers in a sample of the general population.

Smog entered the picture in that 52 per cent of this religious group came from Los Angeles; cancers of the mouth, larynx, and esophagus were at least 10 times less common among these men. Malignancies in this area usually are related not only to smoking but to heavy drinking.

The Adventists were just as susceptible to all other types of cancer, showing they had no specific immunity to the disease. Angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis were 40 per cent less prevalent in Adventists than in the others. Eating less meat may lower the cholesterol level but the difference is more than made up in the amount of milk they consume. The authors concluded that smoking probably was responsible; their findings coincide with previous reports along this line.

NASAL GROWTHS

T. P. writes: Do you advise surgical removal of a polyp in the nose that interferes with breathing?

REPLY

Yes. Surgery should be followed by an attempt to control the nasal infection or the allergy that stimulates polyp formation. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on nasal polyps.

TOXEMIA

L. R. writes: Does the toxemia of pregnancy affect the kidneys?

REPLY

Yes, in that albumin appears in the urine, blood pressure increases, and the tissues become waterlogged.

NAVEL SHOTS

S. D. writes: Is it true that rabies shots are injected into the navel?

REPLY

No. Many physicians inject the Pasteur vaccine under the skin of the abdominal wall, which is as close to a navel encounter as we can get.

MEAT FOR GROWTH

Mrs. R. P. writes: My 6 and 8-year-olds like to eat lots of meat for dinner. Is this doing them any harm?

REPLY

No. Meat is rich in the type of proteins that make excellent building blocks. Be certain the youngsters include the other basic foods, such as fruits, vegetables, milk, dairy products, eggs, and cereals.

PENICILLIN AND COLDS

R. T. writes: If penicillin is no good for colds, why do so many physicians give it?

REPLY

1. Most individuals do not consult a phyiscian unless the cold is severe.

2. Many strep sore throats and other bacterial infections are mislabeled colds. Penicillin is of value in these conditions.

3. Some patients demand penicillin. They feel cheated when told they have a common cold, and are given palliative remedies, or advised to go home and stay in bed until well.

LENGTH OF ILLNESS

R. T. writes: How long does undulant fever last?

REPLY

Old statistics on brucellosis give the following information: 10 per cent are convalescent in less than one month, 50 per cent in two months, 25 per cent in three months, and 15 per cent have the illness for more than three months. So far as I know, these figures still hold.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"Rubbish," countered the wrathful Walter. "If you really had loved me you'd have married somebody else!"

LONG HAUL. U. S. enlisted men, members of Army's survival team, haul equipment on toboggan during long trek over snow-covered tundra of Canadian northland.

American army men are getting survival training at one of the coldest and most desolate spots on the North American continent—the trackless, snow-covered tundra of the Canadian north country.

Each year, a number of officers and enlisted men are assigned for such training to the Army's arctic test center at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, a frigid post on the shore of Hudson Bay.

The training program consists of eight hours of indoctrination and 48 hours in the field.

During the indoctrination, the troops are briefed on first aid measures to be used in the Arctic, and the fitting and use of proper clothing. They're taught also to use the tools contained in the arctic survival kits, the use of various types of stoves, lamps, cooking utensils and how to pack and lash gear.

TRIAL BY ICE

LONG HAUL. U. S. enlisted men, members of Army's survival team, haul equipment on toboggan during long trek over snow-covered tundra of Canadian northland.

American army men are getting survival training at one of the coldest and most desolate spots on the North American continent—the trackless, snow-covered tundra of the Canadian north country.

Each year, a number of officers and enlisted men are assigned for such training to the Army's arctic test center at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, a frigid post on the shore of Hudson Bay.

The training program consists of eight hours of indoctrination and 48 hours in the field.

During the indoctrination, the troops are briefed on first aid measures to be used in the Arctic, and the fitting and use of proper clothing. They're taught also to use the tools contained in the arctic survival kits, the use of various types of stoves, lamps, cooking utensils and how to pack and lash gear.

By BILL FAIR

As it appears now, the only thing lacking in proclaiming North Hagerstown High's Hubs the new Cumberland Valley Athletic League champion is the official bestowal of the loop crown as the all-winning charges of Coach Mel Henry came up with a strong second half last night to drub Fort Hill's Sentinels, 60-48, on the locals' floor boards.

Fort Hill, going into the contest with a second-place standing and a 4-1 circuit record, was apparently the last formidable obstacle in the Hubs' path. North High, which has stretched its unbeaten string to 13 in a row, now holds a 6-0 league mark and the Hilltoppers still cling to the runnerup spot with 4-2.

Martinsburg, which is scheduled to test Frederick there tonight, is third with an even 2-2, South Hagerstown is holding to fourth on a 2-3 tab, Allegany has tumbled into fifth place with a 2-4 showing and Frederick, winless in five league attempts, occupies the basement.

Sentinels Fight Valiantly

Other than keeping the Hubs' unbeaten string intact, the victory also provided a season sweep with the Sentinels. North High dedicated its new gym earlier in the season with a 59-40 romp over the Red Raiders.

Coach Wayne Boor's locals put up a valiant first-half battle last night, although only once leading in the entire contest, but succumbed to a hot-shooting third-quarter performance by the Hubs.

The Red Raiders tied the count at 2-2 on a jump shot by Donnie Lewis and went ahead on LeRoy Henry's layup. Dick Spencer, one of three Negroes on the Hubs' regular squad, deadlocked the tally at 4-4 with a bucket, and center Jim Washington, who led the second-half rally, tossed in a singleton for the visitors' 5-4 margin with 3:50 remaining in the initial stanza.

Field goals by Dave Baldwin, Lewis and Charley Robinson, sandwiched between Roger Bell's foul conversion, Washington's goal and Ronnie Hawkins' two charity pitches, brought the count to 10-8, North High, as the quarter closed.

Sheetz Ties Game

Bill Sheetz tied the game up for the last time for the Sentinels with a quick two points in the second period, making the scoreboard read 10-10. A jump connection by "Skip" Vance gave the touring Washington Countians a lead they never relinquished.

Both clubs had difficulty finding the range to the netted target in the opening half, Fort Hill hitting on eight of 30 tries and North getting credit for eight of 34 in what was mostly a battle of zone defenses.

3rd Quarter Turning Point

The third stanza, the turning point of the contest, found the clubs applying the zone with intermittent switches to a man-to-man blanket. And with the changes in defense came a complete turnabout in offense as far as the Hubs were concerned.

Led by Ronnie Hawkins and Washington's long, swishing fielders, Hagerstown set the nets ablaze on 12 of 16 conversions in the third quarter. Hawkins, who had only one fielder in the first half, canned four of five tries and Washington, scoring a pair of twin-pointers in the opening segment, cashed in on five of six—four in succession. North led at the third heat, 45-35, as Spencer closed the period's scoring on a long one-hander as the buzzer sounded.

Washington led the winners' scoring parade with nine field goals and a foul for 19 points, while Ronnie Hawkins, with 13, and Spencer, with 12, were runnersup. Robinson, having trouble with the basket, rimmed six goals in 20 tries and seven of 12 fouls for 19 tallies. Lewis chipped in with 11.

Overall, Hagerstown shot at a .377 clip, while Fort Hill had an inferior .303 reading. The Hubs second half firing tabulation was .514. Box score:

ROBINSON GOES UP FOR SHOT—Charley Robinson, high-scoring Fort Hill High School forward, goes up for one of his favorite one-handers as North Hagerstown's Ronnie Hawkins gets set to block the shot in first-half action in last night's important CVAL basketball contest on the Fort Hill court. North High's unbeaten Hubs chalked up their 13th consecutive victory by tripping the Sentinels for the second time this season, 60-48. The loss put the second-place Fort Hill five two games behind Coach Mel Henry's North High quint in the conference. Robinson wound up as high scorer for Fort Hill with 19 points. Jim Washington also collected 19 for North High.

Roseboro, Neal Sign Contracts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John Roseboro, forced to step in for the injured Roy Campanella behind the plate last season, Wednesday was added to the list of players signed for 1959 by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

At the same time, Dodgers General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, announced he had received the signed contract of second baseman Charlie Neal. The slim infielder last season tied Gil Hodges for the club's home run lead with 22, an all-time record for his position on the Dodgers.

Cubs' Net Income Shows Big Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs collected a net income of approximately $199,000 for 1958, compared with $357 the previous year, it was disclosed at the club's annual stockholders meeting Wednesday.

The increase came as the hard-hitting Cubs climbed from a last-place tie with Pittsburgh in 1957 to a fifth-place deadlock with St. Louis last season.

The increased income reflected a rise in home attendance from 670,000 in 1957 to 979,000 last year.

Jones Upsets Joey Giardello

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones used a persistent pummelling attack to body and head on Wednesday night to win an upset, avenging a split 10-round decision over Joey Giardello at the Kentucky Exposition Center.

It was the first victory for Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., in their three fights and the defeat tagged Giardello of Brooklyn with a third straight defeat that might drop him out of the top 10 rankings.

Giardello, favored at 13-5 and ranked fifth in the 160-pound division, weighed 162½ Wednesday night. Jones, ranked 10th, scaled 156½.

Giardello's rally in the late rounds had the crowd, estimated at 4,000, cheering for him because he had been fighting with a badly gashed left eye and it bled profusely from the sixth round on.

However, the two judges favored Jones on a five-point basis as follows: Walter Beck, 48-47 and Tom Nuckles, 46-45. Referee Paul Matchuny had Giardello in front, 48-43. The United Press International had Giardello ahead, 46-45.

Year-Around Bass Season Proposed By Commission

June 1 To Nov. 30 Dates Set By Law

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A year-round bass season in Maryland will be proposed to the Legislature next week by the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The season now runs from June 1 to Nov. 30. It is set by law instead of by commission regulation.

Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the Game and Fish Department said research conducted has shown the bass population would not suffer from having a year-round season.

His proposal would empower the Game and Inland Fish Commission to regulate the season and limit taking of bass in smaller water areas during the spawning season if necessary.

Vaughn said the regulations would be worked out in conjunction with the Tidewater Fisheries Department, which has jurisdiction of parts of the same streams that the inland fish commission does.

Vaughn listed these reasons for making the change:

"1. Biological studies show it takes the spawn of very few bass to provide sufficient natural continuation of the population.

"2. Survival and production of bass depends to a much greater extent upon the environmental factors of water temperature, turbidity and competition from other species than upon the number of spawning bass present. The maintenance of good habitat is the primary concern in bass management.

"3. Natural mortality removes from one-third to one-half of each age group. This reduction in numbers will occur whether the fisherman creel the fish or do not.

"4. Tagging of hundreds of bass in the larger state waters since 1955 has shown that fishermen generally recover less than 15 for every 100 tagged.

"5. Creel census of fishermen's catches at selected areas has shown that the harvest could be increased by a year-round season.

"6. In the smaller state waters which are stocked, any fish which dies before being caught costs the angler just as much as the live ones he creels. A year-round season would provide the angler with the maximum opportunity to reclaim the money spent on stocking."

Martinsburg at Frederick

By BILL FAIR

As it appears now, the only thing lacking in proclaiming North Hagerstown High's Hubs the new Cumberland Valley Athletic League champion is the official bestowal of the loop crown as the all-winning charges of Coach Mel Henry came up with a strong second half last night to drub Fort Hill's Sentinels, 60-48, on the locals' floor boards.

Fort Hill, going into the contest with a second-place standing and a 4-1 circuit record, was apparently the last formidable obstacle in the Hubs' path. North High, which has stretched its unbeaten string to 13 in a row, now holds a 6-0 league mark and the Hilltoppers still cling to the runnerup spot with 4-2.

Martinsburg, which is scheduled to test Frederick there tonight, is third with an even 2-2, South Hagerstown is holding to fourth on a 2-3 tab, Allegany has tumbled into fifth place with a 2-4 showing and Frederick, winless in five league attempts, occupies the basement.

Sentinels Fight Valiantly

Other than keeping the Hubs' unbeaten string intact, the victory also provided a season sweep with the Sentinels. North High dedicated its new gym earlier in the season with a 59-40 romp over the Red Raiders.

Coach Wayne Boor's locals put up a valiant first-half battle last night, although only once leading in the entire contest, but succumbed to a hot-shooting third-quarter performance by the Hubs.

The Red Raiders tied the count at 2-2 on a jump shot by Donnie Lewis and went ahead on LeRoy Henry's layup. Dick Spencer, one of three Negroes on the Hubs' regular squad, deadlocked the tally at 4-4 with a bucket, and center Jim Washington, who led the second-half rally, tossed in a singleton for the visitors' 5-4 margin with 3:50 remaining in the initial stanza.

Field goals by Dave Baldwin, Lewis and Charley Robinson, sandwiched between Roger Bell's foul conversion, Washington's goal and Ronnie Hawkins' two charity pitches, brought the count to 10-8, North High, as the quarter closed.

Sheetz Ties Game

Bill Sheetz tied the game up for the last time for the Sentinels with a quick two points in the second period, making the scoreboard read 10-10. A jump connection by "Skip" Vance gave the touring Washington Countians a lead they never relinquished.

Both clubs had difficulty finding the range to the netted target in the opening half, Fort Hill hitting on eight of 30 tries and North getting credit for eight of 34 in what was mostly a battle of zone defenses.

3rd Quarter Turning Point

The third stanza, the turning point of the contest, found the clubs applying the zone with intermittent switches to a man-to-man blanket. And with the changes in defense came a complete turnabout in offense as far as the Hubs were concerned.

Led by Ronnie Hawkins and Washington's long, swishing fielders, Hagerstown set the nets ablaze on 12 of 16 conversions in the third quarter. Hawkins, who had only one fielder in the first half, canned four of five tries and Washington, scoring a pair of twin-pointers in the opening segment, cashed in on five of six—four in succession. North led at the third heat, 45-35, as Spencer closed the period's scoring on a long one-hander as the buzzer sounded.

Washington led the winners' scoring parade with nine field goals and a foul for 19 points, while Ronnie Hawkins, with 13, and Spencer, with 12, were runnersup. Robinson, having trouble with the basket, rimmed six goals in 20 tries and seven of 12 fouls for 19 tallies. Lewis chipped in with 11.

Overall, Hagerstown shot at a .377 clip, while Fort Hill had an inferior .303 reading. The Hubs second half firing tabulation was .514. Box score:

ROBINSON GOES UP FOR SHOT—Charley Robinson, high-scoring Fort Hill High School forward, goes up for one of his favorite one-handers as North Hagerstown's Ronnie Hawkins gets set to block the shot in first-half action in last night's important CVAL basketball contest on the Fort Hill court. North High's unbeaten Hubs chalked up their 13th consecutive victory by tripping the Sentinels for the second time this season, 60-48. The loss put the second-place Fort Hill five two games behind Coach Mel Henry's North High quint in the conference. Robinson wound up as high scorer for Fort Hill with 19 points. Jim Washington also collected 19 for North High.

Roseboro, Neal Sign Contracts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John Roseboro, forced to step in for the injured Roy Campanella behind the plate last season, Wednesday was added to the list of players signed for 1959 by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

At the same time, Dodgers General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, announced he had received the signed contract of second baseman Charlie Neal. The slim infielder last season tied Gil Hodges for the club's home run lead with 22, an all-time record for his position on the Dodgers.

Cubs' Net Income Shows Big Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs collected a net income of approximately $199,000 for 1958, compared with $357 the previous year, it was disclosed at the club's annual stockholders meeting Wednesday.

The increase came as the hard-hitting Cubs climbed from a last-place tie with Pittsburgh in 1957 to a fifth-place deadlock with St. Louis last season.

The increased income reflected a rise in home attendance from 670,000 in 1957 to 979,000 last year.

Jones Upsets Joey Giardello

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones used a persistent pummelling attack to body and head on Wednesday night to win an upset, avenging a split 10-round decision over Joey Giardello at the Kentucky Exposition Center.

It was the first victory for Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., in their three fights and the defeat tagged Giardello of Brooklyn with a third straight defeat that might drop him out of the top 10 rankings.

Giardello, favored at 13-5 and ranked fifth in the 160-pound division, weighed 162½ Wednesday night. Jones, ranked 10th, scaled 156½.

Giardello's rally in the late rounds had the crowd, estimated at 4,000, cheering for him because he had been fighting with a badly gashed left eye and it bled profusely from the sixth round on.

However, the two judges favored Jones on a five-point basis as follows: Walter Beck, 48-47 and Tom Nuckles, 46-45. Referee Paul Matchuny had Giardello in front, 48-43. The United Press International had Giardello ahead, 46-45.

Year-Around Bass Season Proposed By Commission

June 1 To Nov. 30 Dates Set By Law

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A year-round bass season in Maryland will be proposed to the Legislature next week by the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The season now runs from June 1 to Nov. 30. It is set by law instead of by commission regulation.

Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the Game and Fish Department said research conducted has shown the bass population would not suffer from having a year-round season.

His proposal would empower the Game and Inland Fish Commission to regulate the season and limit taking of bass in smaller water areas during the spawning season if necessary.

Vaughn said the regulations would be worked out in conjunction with the Tidewater Fisheries Department, which has jurisdiction of parts of the same streams that the inland fish commission does.

Vaughn listed these reasons for making the change:

"1. Biological studies show it takes the spawn of very few bass to provide sufficient natural continuation of the population.

"2. Survival and production of bass depends to a much greater extent upon the environmental factors of water temperature, turbidity and competition from other species than upon the number of spawning bass present. The maintenance of good habitat is the primary concern in bass management.

"3. Natural mortality removes from one-third to one-half of each age group. This reduction in numbers will occur whether the fisherman creel the fish or do not.

"4. Tagging of hundreds of bass in the larger state waters since 1955 has shown that fishermen generally recover less than 15 for every 100 tagged.

"5. Creel census of fishermen's catches at selected areas has shown that the harvest could be increased by a year-round season.

"6. In the smaller state waters which are stocked, any fish which dies before being caught costs the angler just as much as the live ones he creels. A year-round season would provide the angler with the maximum opportunity to reclaim the money spent on stocking."

Seven Frostburg State Cagers Are Declared Ineligible

Bobcats Play Hagerstown Five Tonight

New Call Issued For More Players; Other Tilts Carded

Frostburg State Teachers College basketball team, in the throes of one of its worst seasons, suffered another almost fatal blow yesterday when seven players on its 14-man squad were declared scholastically ineligible to participate in sports.

The squad, idle since January 17, is slated to swing back into action tonight against Coach Irv Easterday's Hagerstown Junior College quint on the Frostburg court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Harold Cordts' Bobcats will be making another attempt to snap their losing streak which has extended to nine games, but with the blow losing half the team the prospects look very dim.

Seven Players Fail

Athletic Director Kenneth Babcock said last night although the grades haven't yet been issued to most of the students, the athletic department was informed of the failure of James Deremer, Ronald "Butch" Young, Tom Swauger, Ed Truly, Leon Brumbaugh, James Price and Bill Grove to maintain a "C" average scholastically.

Deremer and Price are freshmen while each of the others is a sophomore on the green basketball team. Deremer, Young, Swauger and Truly were members of the starting varsity five.

Babcock last night issued an emergency call for additional players to report for practice to fill the vacancies created by the wholesale ineligibility of the players. Approximately 8 or 9 new boys reported with the remaining seven varsity players.

Prospects now indicate the Bobcats will start a team composed of at least four freshman and possibly one senior in tonight's battle, Babcock stated.

Can Make Up Grades

Although the seven students are ineligible for sports now they still have a full semester in which to bring their grades back in line. None of them flunked out of school, Babcock added.

The athletic director noted, however, that the team still has a chance to better its record in the remaining nine games on the schedule.

The Frostburg school's worst basketball season was 12 years ago when the Bobcats compiled an 0-15 record.

Tonight's battle with Hagerstown will be the first game of the series between the teams. The return contest is billed for Hagerstown February 5.

High School Games

Three high school contests are on tap for tonight.

Moorefield High School will entertain Mathias in a P.V.C. tilt, Capon Bridge High visits Oldtown and Frederick's Cadets and Martinsburg's Bulldogs tangle in a C.V.A.L. engagement at Martinsburg.

Moorefield holds a 68-65 decision over Mathias. Martinsburg and Frederick will be meeting for the first time this season. The Bulldogs are 2-2 and Frederick has suffered five straight defeats in league competition.

Penny also won the downhill and combined titles last Sunday in a meet at St. Gervais, France, after sweeping the downhill and combined events Jan. 9 at Grindelwald, Switzerland.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not one, not two but three Cleveland pitchers are candidates to make baseball's "comeback of the year" in 1959.

Young Herb Score, patched-up Mike Garcia and now Bob Lemon, whose rubber arm suddenly lost its stretch two years ago, start the rugged road back this spring and their chances rate just about in that order.

Score, the lefty swifty who nearly lost an eye in 1957 and struggled with arm trouble last year, has youth on his side in his comeback try. Garcia, a big winner with the Indians in his prime, reportedly is sound again after a disc operation on his spine.

But if the 38-year-old Lemon succeeds—even part way—it'll be the most heart-warming comeback tale of this or any season.

He'll be doing it with a big heart and the same tired old arm.

Started As Infielder

Despite his great skill and a record of 207 victories including seven seasons in which he won 20 or more, Lemon never received the public adulation accorded lesser pitchers who rated higher in that elusive quality called "color."

But Lemon could beat you a dozen ways. Not only with his pitching arm but with his glove or his bat.

The night he scored his 200th victory, for instance, he broke up the game with a homer to lick the Orioles.

Desire alone kept Lemon in the big leagues after his return from service in World War II. He had come up as an infielder who couldn't field. Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland manager of the moment, tried him in the outfield. Out there he displayed his strong arm, major league spirit and minor league talent at shagging difficult flies.

"We made him a pitcher to keep him from getting killed," Boudreau once said in half jest.

Liked Steady Work

In his test case as a pitcher in 1946, Lemon won four and lost five. He went to spring training in '47 classified as a full - time pitcher instead of a utility man but he still wanted to "play every day some place" and wanted no part of pitching except to keep his foot in the big league door.

He finally surrendered halfway through his 11-5 1947 season. The sign of surrender was the day he at last fixed a pitcher's toe plate to his baseball shoe. In '48 he pitched a no-hitter against Detroit and admitted for the first time, "this pitching racket isn't so bad afer all."

In his peak years that followed, Lemon preferred to work steadily with three days rest between starts.

"If I rest four days I feel too strong and when I'm strong I try to be a thrower and not a pitcher," he said. His manager then was Al Lopez. Al agreed and kept his right-handed meal ticket constantly on the job.

"He didn't pitch much in the minors, so his arm is still young" Lopez said.

But there came a day in '57 when the "young arm" showed its age.

Rest, said his medics, is the only thing that'll help. He has had the rest and now comes the test.

USGA To Face Real Controversy On Rules Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time within memory, the U.S. Golf Assn. will bump into a really controversial matter at its annual meeting Saturday.

It will have to do something about the Southern California Association, which jumped the gun on some rules changes a couple of weeks ago.

The rebellious sectional association decided to change the stroke and distance penalties for lost or out of bounds only and to lighten the penalty for an unplayable lie, now two strokes.

USGA officials feel they can't let one section set up its own rules.

Downey To Seek Title

4-Ball Golf Event To Open Today

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., and her Decatur (Ill.) partner, Marjorie Lindsay, seek their third successive Women's International Amateur four-ball championship when the 14th annual golf event begins Thursday.

However, the poor showing by both players in the recently concluded Helen Lee Doherty Tournament at Ft. Lauderdale makes it appear doubtful that they can defend their title successfully.

Best bets to unseat the two-time titlists are Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, paired with this year's Doherty runnerup, Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., and the Marlene Streit-Ann Casey Johnstone team, from Toronto and Mason City, Iowa, respectively.

Sixteen teams of top-flight women golfers are entered in the match play tournament, sponsored by the Hollywood Junior Chamber of Commerce, and scheduled over the 6,116 yard Orange Brook Country Club course.

Spahn Has Pact Trouble

Warren Expecting Raise By Braves

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Star lefthander Warren Spahn is having contract troubles with the Milwaukee Braves.

Spahn held a long discussion on Wednesday with executive Vice President Birdie Tebbetts that ended in a stalemate.

"We're not far apart," Tebbetts said. "The first session represented only the negotiations stage," he said.

"I'm glad Birdie feels we're not far apart," Spahn said. "I thought we were. I expect a raise." Warren, who'll be 38 in April, won 22 games a year ago, the ninth time in his career he has won 20 or more.

Spahn, the team's highest salaried player, and the best paid pitcher in the National League if not all baseball, has never been a stubborn holdout in 14 seasons.

Von McDaniel Signs Contract

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Von McDaniel—looking for a comeback at the age when most players are just breaking into professional baseball—signed his 1959 baseball contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

The 19-year-old bonus pitcher who started with the Cards last year then skidded to Houston, Tex., and Winston Salem, N. C., reportedly signed for about $8,000. That was believed a cut of about $1,000.

Von was a pitching sensation when he broke into the majors in 1957.

Yogi Berra Signs, Takes Pay Slice

NEW YORK (AP) — Catcher Yogi Berra signed his 1959 contract with the New York Yankees Wednesday, apparently taking a salary cut of about $2,500.

Berra, 33, reportedly received $50,000 in 1957, and last year it was understood he was cut to $45,000. It was believed he signed for $42,500 for the 1959 season.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — The first Connie Mack World Series for the national championship of the American Amateur Baseball Congress in the 16-18-year-old division will be held here Aug. 21-24. A Battle Creek, Mich., cereal maker will help sponsor the series.

Valdes Rated No. 3 In Ring

Johansson Named Top Challenger

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes of Cuba, who has been unable to get a shot at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title, moved up a notch Wednesday as the No. 2 challenger in the January Ring magazine ratings.

The No. 1 challenger is Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the European champion, who may sign Thursday for a spring title bout with Patterson.

Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., dropped from second to No. 3.

Ring's fighter of the month is Sadao Yaoita of Japan, who defeated flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina in a nontitle scrap. Yaoita became the No. 1 challenger to the Argentine champion. Yaoita had been rated fifth.

Don Jordan of Los Angeles, the welterweight king, was the only other champion to see action since the December rating. In a nontitle bout, Jordan stopped Mexico's Alvaro Gutierrez in three rounds.

Signs Indicate Heavyweight Signing Is Near

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Rosensohn, New York promoter, Wednesday called a press conference for 12:30 p.m. Thursday amid a silence that indicated everything was progressing toward the formal signing of a heavyweight title fight involving champion Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson.

None of the other individuals could be reached, although a friend of Johansson said the European champion had arranged for transportation home to Sweden next Monday. When he arrived last week, Johansson said he would not leave until the fight was signed.

Although few details have become known regarding the Johansson bout with the champion, it is believed it will be held in late May or June in either New York or Los Angeles. Colorado Springs and Indianapolis also have had some support.

Any contract signing Thursday probably would deal only with the fight itself, with Rosensohn picking the site and date later.

Bisons Head Bucks Playing In Cuba

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The president of the International Baseball League's Buffalo Bisons said Wednesday he will oppose playing in Cuba this season.

"I hear people are stockpiling guns down there and I understand it's still a very dangerous situation," said John C. Stiglmeier.

"If the issue comes up at the league meeting, Buffalo will go on record against going to Cuba," he said.

The league meets in Montreal Friday.

Bonus Reported For Colt Coach

$25,000 Said Paid To Weeb Ewbank

NEW YORK (AP) — Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, refused to confirm or deny published reports Wednesday that Coach Weeb Ewbank had received a $25,000 bonus for winning the 1958 National Football League championship.

But he hinted that the story was essentially correct.

The Baltimore Evening Sun said Ewbank had been given a bonus and offered a three-year contract to replace one which expires at the end of the next season.

In his New York office, Rosenbloom said "I can't say anything else except that I can't confirm or deny the story. Normally we save such announcements for our press dinner and I don't want to say anything to spoil what I'll have to say there. I've talked with Weeb and we don't know how such a story got out. Our discussions are entirely between ourselves and nobody else knows what's said."

In Baltimore Ewbank said "they've got information I don't have. Carroll and I haven't talked about a bonus or a new contract. He has been busy and I have been busy with the draft."

The Evening Sun said the $25,000 bonus presumably is equal to a year's salary. The salary offered in the new contract was not disclosed.

Isaacs Sets Seniors Pace

Fires 66 To Lead In Second Round

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Isaacs, for 20 years a pro at Langley Air Force Base, Va., set the pace with a sizzling six-under-par 66 as the Professional Golfers Assn. Seniors' Tournament advanced through its second stage Wednesday.

The day's competition was limited to players in the 50-54 age group, and nine of them bettered par 72. In Tuesday's play for the 55-year-olds and over, only two bettered par.

Hard on the heels of the 50-year-old Isaacs was Dick Metz of Fort Worth, Tex., with a 67, and one stroke behind him was Charley Burkhart of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The other par breakers were Al Huske of Glen Ellyn, Ill., and Leland Gibson of Kansas City with 69s; and Tod Menefee of San Antonio, Tex.; Andy Gibson of Baltimore, Md.; Jack Ryan of Louisville, Ky.; and Willie Goggin of San Jose, Calif., all with 71s.

The 55-and-over field returns for its second round Thursday. The 50-54 group plays again Friday, and the low 100 and ties play the third and fourth rounds Saturday and Sunday for the championship.

Seven Frostburg State Cagers Are Declared Ineligible

Bobcats Play Hagerstown Five Tonight

New Call Issued For More Players; Other Tilts Carded

Frostburg State Teachers College basketball team, in the throes of one of its worst seasons, suffered another almost fatal blow yesterday when seven players on its 14-man squad were declared scholastically ineligible to participate in sports.

The squad, idle since January 17, is slated to swing back into action tonight against Coach Irv Easterday's Hagerstown Junior College quint on the Frostburg court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Harold Cordts' Bobcats will be making another attempt to snap their losing streak which has extended to nine games, but with the blow losing half the team the prospects look very dim.

Seven Players Fail

Athletic Director Kenneth Babcock said last night although the grades haven't yet been issued to most of the students, the athletic department was informed of the failure of James Deremer, Ronald "Butch" Young, Tom Swauger, Ed Truly, Leon Brumbaugh, James Price and Bill Grove to maintain a "C" average scholastically.

Deremer and Price are freshmen while each of the others is a sophomore on the green basketball team. Deremer, Young, Swauger and Truly were members of the starting varsity five.

Babcock last night issued an emergency call for additional players to report for practice to fill the vacancies created by the wholesale ineligibility of the players. Approximately 8 or 9 new boys reported with the remaining seven varsity players.

Prospects now indicate the Bobcats will start a team composed of at least four freshman and possibly one senior in tonight's battle, Babcock stated.

Can Make Up Grades

Although the seven students are ineligible for sports now they still have a full semester in which to bring their grades back in line. None of them flunked out of school, Babcock added.

The athletic director noted, however, that the team still has a chance to better its record in the remaining nine games on the schedule.

The Frostburg school's worst basketball season was 12 years ago when the Bobcats compiled an 0-15 record.

Tonight's battle with Hagerstown will be the first game of the series between the teams. The return contest is billed for Hagerstown February 5.

High School Games

Three high school contests are on tap for tonight.

Moorefield High School will entertain Mathias in a P.V.C. tilt, Capon Bridge High visits Oldtown and Frederick's Cadets and Martinsburg's Bulldogs tangle in a C.V.A.L. engagement at Martinsburg.

Moorefield holds a 68-65 decision over Mathias. Martinsburg and Frederick will be meeting for the first time this season. The Bulldogs are 2-2 and Frederick has suffered five straight defeats in league competition.

Miss Pitou Wins Two Ski Titles

MORZINE, France (UPI)—Penny Pitou, 20, the Gilford, N.Y., skier who is enjoying her best European campaign, won two titles Wednesday at the Morzine meet.

Miss Pitou won the women's downhill race with a time of one minute, 56.3 seconds. This triumph, combined with her victory in Tuesday's slalom also gave her the women's combined title for the two-day meet.

Penny also won the downhill and combined titles last Sunday in a meet at St. Gervais, France, after sweeping the downhill and combined events Jan. 9 at Grindelwald, Switzerland.

Redskins Sign Two Free Linemen

They are tackle Fran Woidzik of Buffalo and guard Joe Nicely of West Virginia. Woidzik had a try - out with the Los Angeles Rams last year and Nicely lasted the training season with the Baltimore Colts.

High School Cage Game Ends 10-9

BENNETT, Iowa (UPI) — The Elwood High School basketball team used quite a stall to hold down scoring by taller Bennett High School.

The score was 1-0 at the end of the first quarter, 5-3 at the half, and 7-5 at the end of three quarters.

But the stall backfired. Bennett won, 10-9.

HE'S NOT BROODING—Yogi Berra manages his familiar grin despite a reported $2,500 salary cut at contract signing in New York Yankees office yesterday. The 33-year-old catcher of the world champions is believed to have signed for $42,500 for the 1959 season. (AP Photofax).

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not one, not two but three Cleveland pitchers are candidates to make baseball's "comeback of the year" in 1959.

Young Herb Score, patched-up Mike Garcia and now Bob Lemon, whose rubber arm suddenly lost its stretch two years ago, start the rugged road back this spring and their chances rate just about in that order.

Score, the lefty swifty who nearly lost an eye in 1957 and struggled with arm trouble last year, has youth on his side in his comeback try. Garcia, a big winner with the Indians in his prime, reportedly is sound again after a disc operation on his spine.

But if the 38-year-old Lemon succeeds—even part way—it'll be the most heart-warming comeback tale of this or any season.

He'll be doing it with a big heart and the same tired old arm.

Started As Infielder

Despite his great skill and a record of 207 victories including seven seasons in which he won 20 or more, Lemon never received the public adulation accorded lesser pitchers who rated higher in that elusive quality called "color."

But Lemon could beat you a dozen ways. Not only with his pitching arm but with his glove or his bat.

The night he scored his 200th victory, for instance, he broke up the game with a homer to lick the Orioles.

Desire alone kept Lemon in the big leagues after his return from service in World War II. He had come up as an infielder who couldn't field. Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland manager of the moment, tried him in the outfield. Out there he displayed his strong arm, major league spirit and minor league talent at shagging difficult flies.

"We made him a pitcher to keep him from getting killed," Boudreau once said in half jest.

Liked Steady Work

In his test case as a pitcher in 1946, Lemon won four and lost five. He went to spring training in '47 classified as a full - time pitcher instead of a utility man but he still wanted to "play every day some place" and wanted no part of pitching except to keep his foot in the big league door.

He finally surrendered halfway through his 11-5 1947 season. The sign of surrender was the day he at last fixed a pitcher's toe plate to his baseball shoe. In '48 he pitched a no-hitter against Detroit and admitted for the first time, "this pitching racket isn't so bad afer all."

In his peak years that followed, Lemon preferred to work steadily with three days rest between starts.

"If I rest four days I feel too strong and when I'm strong I try to be a thrower and not a pitcher," he said. His manager then was Al Lopez. Al agreed and kept his right-handed meal ticket constantly on the job.

"He didn't pitch much in the minors, so his arm is still young" Lopez said.

But there came a day in '57 when the "young arm" showed its age.

Rest, said his medics, is the only thing that'll help. He has had the rest and now comes the test.

USGA To Face Real Controversy On Rules Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time within memory, the U.S. Golf Assn. will bump into a really controversial matter at its annual meeting Saturday.

It will have to do something about the Southern California Association, which jumped the gun on some rules changes a couple of weeks ago.

The rebellious sectional association decided to change the stroke and distance penalties for lost or out of bounds only and to lighten the penalty for an unplayable lie, now two strokes.

USGA officials feel they can't let one section set up its own rules.

Lombardi Gets Coach, GM Post With Green Bay Packers

Gets Nod At Hot Meeting Of Directors

Former Giants Mentor To Join Floundering Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Vince Lombardi, whose offensive coaching wizardry helped the New York Giants to National Football League success, won the nod, Wednesday as head coach and general manager of the floundering Green Bay Packers.

Details of Lombardi's contract will be worked out Monday when he checks in with his new employers. His salary with the Giants was said to be $12,000-$15,000 a year.

McLean resigned in December after a 1-10-1 season, worst in Packer history.

Lewellen was general manager the last five years.

Lombardi has served as Jim Lee Howell's first lieutenant on the Giants' offense during that period.

The Giants clinched the eastern division championship last fall but lost the championship playoff. New York bagged the NFL title in 1956. The Packers haven't won a divisional crown since 1944.

Lombardi launched his coaching career at St. Cecilia High School in Englewood, N.J., his team winning six state titles in eight years.

He went to Fordham, his alma mater, in 1947 as freshman coach and then to West Point as backfield coach.

Hold That Line!

By FRANK KUCHIRCHUK
Central Press Writer

WITH THE DISCOVERY that such species as bluefish and striped bass tend to feed deep during broad daylight and, very often, after dark, salt water chartermen have adopted techniques used by their fresh water brethren who troll wire lines for lake trout. Dunking a wire down under produces fish while surface fishermen may go home with empty stringers.

Monel, a nickel alloy, has appreciable success for bluefishermen off Montauk, N.Y. Lead core lines with an outside surface made of dacron or nylon work well for trollers along southern reefs. Several manufacturers put out a variety of these deep trolling lines in sizes and weights suitable for use a few feet down or dredging bottom 50 fathoms below the angler's reel.

On "dog days," when surface action is slow and you can't get a bite casting, try monel or lead core trolling line and head deep. The results may be surprising.

Moorefield Is Tourney Site

Five Schools Will Compete Feb. 26-28

Five schools, including Franklin High School which is undefeated in 14 games played to date, will compete in the West Virginia Section 14, Class A basketball tournament at Moorefield High School, February 26, 27 and 28, according to Director John A. Mathias, principal of Moorefield High School.

In the opening games February 26, Franklin will play Moorefield at 7 p.m., and Mathias will meet Circleville at 8:30.

Losing teams on the opening day will clash in the first game Friday, February 27, at 7 p.m., while an hour later Wardensville will oppose the winner of the Mathias-Circleville contest.

The championship game is set for 8 p.m., on the third day of the tournament.

John Fox and Larry Patterson are the referees named for the tourney. Official timers are Raymond Sindy of Moorefield and Dick Murphy of Franklin and the scorers will be Forrest Wolfe of Moorefield and Kenneth Hawse of Mathias.

Patty Berg Leads Pro-Am

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—Veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., marched to a three-stroke lead over the field Wednesday in the opening round of the LPGA-MAGA Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Berg shot a three-under-par 71 over the 6,295-yard Boca Raton course.

Tied for second place were Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., with 74s.

The Ladies Professional Golf Assn. and (men's) Metropolian Amateur Golf Assn. are tournament sponsors.

The second round will be played Friday at Tequesta Country Club, and the third Sunday at Miami Springs Country Club.

Pros are playing a 54-hole medal tournament of their own in conjunction with the Pro-Am.

Trailing the pro leaders were Wiffi Smith, St. Clair, Mich., with 75; Fay Crocker, Wichita, Kan., 76; and Jackie Pung, San Francisco and Alice Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., both with 77s.

Independent College Grid Conference Plan Started

12 Teams To Vie Magazine States

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve of the nation's leading independent football colleges have made plans for nationwide conference, according to an article published Wednesday in Sports Illustrated.

The article says the plans were crystallized at a meeting in Cincinnati early this month. The outline calls for a football conference "set to challenge the increasingly popular pros for the public's support."

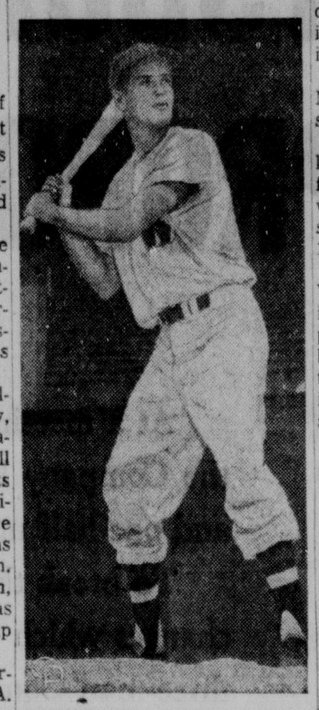
Sports Illustrated says the colleges involved are Army, Navy, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Penn State, which will form an eastern division, and lists Southern California, UCLA, California, Washington, the Air Force Academy and possibly Stanford as members of the western division.

The article says Tom Hamilton, Pittsburgh athletic director, was unofficial chairman of the group which met in Cincinnati.

At the time of the meeting, during the National Collegiate A.A. convention, Hamilton told The Associated Press it was strictly a social gathering.

Discussions of such a conference, unofficially known as the American Conference, have been reported for several years.

The article points out that none of the institutions represented can be committed prior to getting approval of he college presidents, but "athletic directors are now able to go to work on arguments and presentations to submit to the top execuives." Because of scheduling difficulties, conference play cannot begin before 1964 or 1965.



BUCKY'S BOY—Dick Harris, 25-year-old son of Bucky Harris, now general manager of the Boston Red Sox, will seek to make the grade with the Washington club as a second sacker this year. Dick batted .256 for Charlotte in minors last year.

Orioles Put Two More Under Contract

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles had 13 players, under contract today with the signing of catcher Charlie White and infielder Wayne Causey.

Orioles General Manager Lee MacPhail said both returned signed pacts.

White, a 30-year-old lefthand hitter, was purchased last October from Vancouver. Causey has been with the Orioles system since signing a bonus contract in June 1955.

White, who lives in Danville, Va., is a veteran of eight years in the pro ranks and has never played below Double-A ball. He began his professional career with the St. Louis Browns organization in 1951, before the franchise was shifted here.

Lombardi Gets Coach, GM Post With Green Bay Packers

Gets Nod At Hot Meeting Of Directors

Former Giants Mentor To Join Floundering Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Vince Lombardi, whose offensive coaching wizardry helped the New York Giants to National Football League success, won the nod, Wednesday as head coach and general manager of the floundering Green Bay Packers.

Lombardi was named at a sometimes-heated luncheon meeting of the Packers' board of directors.

Details of Lombardi's contract will be worked out Monday when he checks in with his new employers. His salary with the Giants was said to be $12,000-$15,000 a year.

The 45-year-old football tactician, who once served as Red Blaik's backfield coach at West Point, succeeds Ray (Scooter) McLean as head coach and Verne Lewellen as general manager.

McLean resigned in December after a 1-10-1 season, worst in Packer history.

Lewellen was general manager the last five years.

Lombardi has served as Jim Lee Howell's first lieutenant on the Giants' offense during that period.

The Giants clinched the eastern division championship last fall but lost the championship playoff. New York bagged the NFL title in 1956. The Packers haven't won a divisional crown since 1944.

Lombardi launched his coaching career at St. Cecilia High School in Englewood, N.J., his team winning six state titles in eight years.

He went to Fordham, his alma mater, in 1947 as freshman coach and then to West Point as backfield coach.

Hold That Line!

By FRANK KUCHIRCHUK
Central Press Writer

WITH THE DISCOVERY that such species as bluefish and striped bass tend to feed deep during broad daylight and, very often, after dark, salt water chartermen have adopted techniques used by their fresh water brethren who troll wire lines for lake trout. Dunking a wire down under produces fish while surface fishermen may go home with empty stringers.

Monel, a nickel alloy, has appreciable success for bluefishermen off Montauk, N.Y. Lead core lines with an outside surface made of dacron or nylon work well for trollers along southern reefs. Several manufacturers put out a variety of these deep trolling lines in sizes and weights suitable for use a few feet down or dredging bottom 50 fathoms below the angler's reel.

On "dog days," when surface action is slow and you can't get a bite casting, try monel or lead core trolling line and head deep. The results may be surprising.

Independent College Grid Conference Plan Started

12 Teams To Vie Magazine States

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve of the nation's leading independent football colleges have made plans for nationwide conference, according to an article published Wednesday in Sports Illustrated.

The article says the plans were crystallized at a meeting in Cincinnati early this month. The outline calls for a football conference "set to challenge the increasingly popular pros for the public's support."

Sports Illustrated says the colleges involved are Army, Navy, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Penn State, which will form an eastern division, and lists Southern California, UCLA, California, Washington, the Air Force Academy and possibly Stanford as members of the western division.

The article says Tom Hamilton, Pittsburgh athletic director, was unofficial chairman of the group which met in Cincinnati.

At the time of the meeting, during the National Collegiate A.A. convention, Hamilton told The Associated Press it was strictly a social gathering.

Discussions of such a conference, unofficially known as the American Conference, have been reported for several years.

The article points out that none of the institutions represented can be committed prior to getting approval of he college presidents, but "athletic directors are now able to go to work on arguments and presentations to submit to the top execuives." Because of scheduling difficulties, conference play cannot begin before 1964 or 1965.

BUCKY'S BOY—Dick Harris, 25-year-old son of Bucky Harris, now general manager of the Boston Red Sox, will seek to make the grade with the Washington club as a second sacker this year. Dick batted .256 for Charlotte in minors last year.

Orioles Put Two More Under Contract

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles had 13 players, under contract today with the signing of catcher Charlie White and infielder Wayne Causey.

Orioles General Manager Lee MacPhail said both returned signed pacts.

White, a 30-year-old lefthand hitter, was purchased last October from Vancouver. Causey has been with the Orioles system since signing a bonus contract in June 1955.

White, who lives in Danville, Va., is a veteran of eight years in the pro ranks and has never played below Double-A ball. He began his professional career with the St. Louis Browns organization in 1951, before the franchise was shifted here.

Ikehama Is Victor

PITTSBURGH PLATE GLASS COMPANY'S PROPOSAL TO END GLASS STRIKE

At a meeting arranged by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Philadelphia on January 26, the Company handed the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union a complete proposal to settle the three and one-half months' glass strike.

To break the deadlock on the fundamental issues preventing a settlement, the Company proposed contract changes which would settle the issues by agreement, or as an alternate, proposed that they be submitted to a three-man Commission for final and binding decision. The Commission would undertake to resolve the issues which relate to:

a. Incentive procedures

b. Speeds of operation and restrictions on production

c. Seniority program at the Creighton, Pennsylvania plant

Pending the Commission's decision, employees would work under the labor contract with any changes agreed upon during negotiations between the Union and the Company. Any decision of the Commission would become effective on the date it is issued.

On wages, pensions and benefits the Company proposed:

1. At Cumberland all employees would receive 13¢ an hour the first year and 12¢ an hour the second year. Pension benefits for employees now retired would be increased from $2.00 to $2.20 per month for each year of service. For employees retiring in the future, past service credit would be increased from $2.00 to $2.25 per month and future service credit from $2.00 to $2.50 per month for each year of service.
2. A job security plan more liberal than ever before offering increased job protection to senior employees when there are reductions in the work force.
3. To increase substantially pension benefits for any persons retired as a result of the agreement with the Union that the elimination of overmanning would be decided by the Commission.
4. To continue existing seniority programs at all plants for two years unless changed by agreement with the Union, or at the Creighton plant by the Commission—programs which are more liberal than those generally found in American industry.
5. To liberalize preferential hiring rights at the Company's new plants for present employees.
6. To reinstate for two years all local plant agreements and practices except those affected by negotiated changes in the labor contract.
7. To continue a limited number of Full-Time Grievance Men (Company-paid Shop Stewards) and Full-Time Union Time Study Men and to pay them wages equal to those they would receive if working at their regular jobs in the plant.

(Earlier the Company had offered a five year contract which would have resulted in significant benefits to the Company, its employees and customers and would have adequately protected employees with respect to wages and contract rights. Under the five year plan, employees would have been guaranteed wage increases equal to those granted by PPG's principal domestic competitor. This offer was rejected by the Union and in order not to delay negotiations the Company has now proposed that the term of the contract be left open for the time being and negotiated after all other issues are resolved.)

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is making public this offer so that everyone concerned will be fully informed of the Company's position and its sincere effort to do everything humanly possible to protect the vital interests of its customers, employees and shareholders.

Paper Company Sells Chlorine Plant At Luke

The sale of the chlorine manufacturing facilities at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company to Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, New York City, was announced yesterday by the paper company.

John A. Luke, general manager of the paper company's Fine Papers Division, with headquarters in Luke, said the sale was prompted by the mill's need for space to carry out its current $50 million expansion program. No sales price was announced.

The chlorine plant at Luke will be shut down as rapidly as possible. All equipment and supplies used in the manufacture of the product are expected to be removed by Food Machinery within a year, Mr. Luke said.

Approximately 21 employes who will be affected by the shutdown of the facilities will be offered other job assignments in the mill.

Mr. Luke said it was decided to sell the equipment and buy all future supplies of chlorine and caustic because relocation of the facilities would have been uneconomical. The two products are used in the process that bleaches wood pulp, used in the manufacture of white paper.

Built shortly after the turn of the century, the chlorine facilities occupy space adjacent to the present pulp mill. This space will be used for expanded pulp mill facilities which will be required when the second of two new high-speed paper machines goes into operation in the 1960s. The first machine is scheduled to go into production next year.

Church Plans Reception In Pastor's Honor

Grace Baptist Church will hold a reception honoring Rev. W. R. Keefe Jr., who has been pastor of the church for 25 years, at 8 p. m. today in the church sanctuary.

A special program has been prepared by the deacons of the church to highlight the celebration of Rev. Keefe's 25th anniversary.

Rev. Keefe came to Cumberland as head of the Baptist congregation on January 25, 1934.

J. E. Effland, a charter member who has served as a deacon since the church was formed, will be the master of ceremonies.

After the special program a reception will be held in the fellowship hall and refreshments will be served by the Win-A-Couple Bible Class. Mrs. Thomas Woods is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Rev. Keefe celebrated his 25th anniversary Sunday with morning and evening services and a baptismal program. Taken into church membership by baptism were Mrs. Leroy Frederick, Donald Frederick, Kathy Ann Lester and Patricia Ellen Rowan.

Paper Company Sells Chlorine Plant At Luke

The sale of the chlorine manufacturing facilities at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company to Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, New York City, was announced yesterday by the paper company.

John A. Luke, general manager of the paper company's Fine Papers Division, with headquarters in Luke, said the sale was prompted by the mill's need for space to carry out its current $50 million expansion program. No sales price was announced.

The chlorine plant at Luke will be shut down as rapidly as possible. All equipment and supplies used in the manufacture of the product are expected to be removed by Food Machinery within a year, Mr. Luke said.

Approximately 21 employes who will be affected by the shutdown of the facilities will be offered other job assignments in the mill.

Mr. Luke said it was decided to sell the equipment and buy all future supplies of chlorine and caustic because relocation of the facilities would have been uneconomical. The two products are used in the process that bleaches wood pulp, used in the manufacture of white paper.

Built shortly after the turn of the century, the chlorine facilities occupy space adjacent to the present pulp mill. This space will be used for expanded pulp mill facilities which will be required when the second of two new high-speed paper machines goes into operation in the 1960s. The first machine is scheduled to go into production next year.

Oakland Civic Club Hears Report On Public Library

OAKLAND—The Oakland Civic Club met at the Williams James Hotel January 27, with a luncheon meeting. Miss Edith Brock, librarian of the Ruth Enlow Library, was guest speaker. She spoke on "Library Service to the Community." When giving the history of the library, she stressed the fact that the Oakland Civic Club played an important part in development of library service in the community.

The Civic Club organized the first library in Oakland in 1915. Many of the Civic Club leaders continue to take an active part in the library. In 1946 an opportunity to secure adequate financial support for the library arose under the public library service law of Maryland. Garrett County was one of the first counties to take advantage of this program.

Even with adequate support it would have been difficult to develop a good program of library service in the three small rooms which were available to the library. Garrett County was more fortunate than most of the other counties which had newly organized libraries. Mr. E. E. Enlow of California made donations amounting to $35,000 for a library building in memory of his wife and daughter. Many other individuals and organizations contributed to the building fund under the leadership of the Lion's Club. Through the efforts of the library board the building plans were carried out in 1950.

From a collection of about 3,000 books in 1947 the library has grown to a total of over 16,000 books. In addition to the books there are about 150 maps, 260 recordings, and 1000 phamphlets. Sixty periodicals are currently received, and five or six years of back issues of these are kept on file. Most of these are indexed in the Reader's Guide, making it easy to find information from them on any subject of current interest. About 5,000 people are using the privileges of the library, the speaker said.

The Oakland Civic Club went on record favoring legislative action for securing more funds and care of the mentally ill and recommended a telegram be sent to the county legislative delegation.

The club also voted to send some funds to help with the "Care" project which the Maryland Federation of Clubs is sponsoring in Mexico.

Oakland Civic Club Hears Report On Public Library

OAKLAND—The Oakland Civic Club met at the Williams James Hotel January 27, with a luncheon meeting. Miss Edith Brock, librarian of the Ruth Enlow Library, was guest speaker. She spoke on "Library Service to the Community." When giving the history of the library, she stressed the fact that the Oakland Civic Club played an important part in development of library service in the community.

The Civic Club organized the first library in Oakland in 1915. Many of the Civic Club leaders continue to take an active part in the library. In 1946 an opportunity to secure adequate financial support for the library arose under the public library service law of Maryland. Garrett County was one of the first counties to take advantage of this program.

Even with adequate support it would have been difficult to develop a good program of library service in the three small rooms which were available to the library. Garrett County was more fortunate than most of the other counties which had newly organized libraries. Mr. E. E. Enlow of California made donations amounting to $35,000 for a library building in memory of his wife and daughter. Many other individuals and organizations contributed to the building fund under the leadership of the Lion's Club. Through the efforts of the library board the building plans were carried out in 1950.

From a collection of about 3,000 books in 1947 the library has grown to a total of over 16,000 books. In addition to the books there are about 150 maps, 260 recordings, and 1000 phamphlets. Sixty periodicals are currently received, and five or six years of back issues of these are kept on file. Most of these are indexed in the Reader's Guide, making it easy to find information from them on any subject of current interest. About 5,000 people are using the privileges of the library, the speaker said.

The Oakland Civic Club went on record favoring legislative action for securing more funds and care of the mentally ill and recommended a telegram be sent to the county legislative delegation.

The club also voted to send some funds to help with the "Care" project which the Maryland Federation of Clubs is sponsoring in Mexico.

German Tax On Coal Hits W. Virginia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West Germany's enactment of a new tax on soft coal imported from the United States will be discussed at a meeting soon between Assistant Secretary of State William Macomer and coal industry representatives.

Plans for the meeting were announced Wednesday by Rep. Arch A. Moore (R-W. Va.), who noted that the tax would "directly affect West Virginia coal miners and their families" and would "be detrimental to West Virginia's basic industry which exports several million tons annually."

Coal operators and the United Mine Workers union have vigorously protested the $4.76 - a-ton tariff approved by the Bonn government last week.

Moore also said he had entered protests with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss urging the government to discourage West Germany from placing the tax into effect.

Frostburg Soldier Sees Rebels "In Action" At Havana

FROSTBURG — A Frostburg soldier was a passenger on a Panamanian plane which was delayed for over an hour by Fidel Castro's guerrilla army at the Havana Airport January 16.

Pfc. Charles Howard Briggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Briggs, told of his experience in a letter to his parents, received yesterday. Dr. Briggs is on the faculty at State Teachers College here.

Pfc. Briggs was on his way back at Fort Kobbe, Canal Zone, after spending a holiday furlough with his family. The airliner on which he was riding was scheduled to make only a 10-minute stop at Havana on its way from Miami to Panama.

"No sooner had our last prop kicked over and remained motionless," Briggs wrote, "than several jeeps and an old battered truck, each loaded down with rebels, raced about our plane. The rebels were screaming in Spanish, and waving their weapons about their heads. The rest, on foot, dashed up.

"Each man was armed with a knife of some formidable shape and size, and each carried a firearm—a gun of any shape, caliber and make, though most were armed with Thompson sub-machine guns.

"Few had shaved in months. No one seemed to be in command of anyone but himself. Cartridge belts and bandoliers were slung across their shoulders or across their chests.

" 'Welcome to Havana' said the sign on the tower."

Pfc. Briggs said the rebels, which he estimated to number 200, gave orders to the pilot that the plane was not to discharge or receive passengers at Havana.

One rebel boarded the plane. "I was the only soldier aboard in uniform. However, he didn't say anything."

Most of the rebels simply stood around and chatted with stewardesses on the plane until an Argentinian airliner landed, whereupon the guerrillas and about 500 civilian demonstrators crowded around the second plane.

Pfc. Briggs' plane finally was allowed to take off without further incident.

Briggs, 1956 graduate of State Teachers College, taught for a year at Sudbrook Junior High School near Baltimore before entering the Army in September 1957.

Stranger In Paradise

TOWER ISLE, Jamaica, B.W.I. This should have been written in New York where I'd planned to return today. But this mouse's plans went awfully agley again. Dirty weather kicked up somewhere in the Caribbean and it was deemed best to keep Arthur Godfrey's plane on the ground rather than risk a run to Miami. So those of us who flew over in Godfrey's DC-3 are stuck here. I haven't been so badly stuck since I got stranded by a national strike in the south of France and couldn't get home for five days.

So instead of my cozy little office New York, I'm looking out over the blue, blue Caribbean, a terrible thing. Little sailboats are skimming about the tiny lagoon on which this sweet little hotel nestles; some idiot is water skiing and the air is alight with the soft cries of the privileged classes enjoying their privileges. Not only am I denied the privilege of fighting the traffic in New York for another day, but the Columbia Broadcasting System is going to have to get along for at least one day without Arthur Godfrey. Can it manage, you suppose?

Tony Marvin is going to have to go it alone. That's a sight I'd love to see but I won't be able to because Jamaica has no television. Imagine! In this enlightened age, no television. Jamaica has sunshine and sea and an unimaginably balmy climate. But no TV. What on earth do you suppose these primitive people do with their time? Well, I'll tell you what we did with ours. Yesterday, Godfrey and the rest of us went up the coast in little speedboats to look at a waterfall which pours out of the mountains and into the sea. Crazy, crazy! Godfrey, bum hip and all, climbed up the waterfall and we all went swimming in a little fresh water pool formed by the cascading water.

Last night, we sat on the terrace and watched a show put on by the chambermaids and other help around the hotel. Calypso songs and dances and gymnastic tricks and that fetching bit of insanity known as the limbo that you see all over the Caribbean. It was a marvelously spirited and beautifully paced show that went on just long enough, though it had no director and no producer.

What it had instead was a clean-limbed grace and a completely instinctive rhythm, a very true tone and taste. Practically everyone in show business who has ever seen these captivating amateur performers of the islands has thought of taking them back and introducing them into the main stream of show business. Once in awhile someone does do just that only to discover that they don't transplant easily. Like the gorgeous tropical fish, they lose their gleaming colors when they are pulled out of their native waters. They need the atmosphere, the climate, the very air of the Caribbean. A few like Harry Belafonte, who spent his boyhood in Jamaica, make it. Most of them don't.

Today, still forcibly deprived of my beloved television set, I donned an aqua lung and went looking at fish. Prettier by far than color television are the fish of this area. The sea is warm and still and glowing with spectacular colors and the fish in their private world pursue their destinies with a sureness or touch that this particular mortal can only envy.

Godfrey, I might add, is much better with the aqua lung than I am, having had much more practice. The other day on his show, he donned an aqua lung and got pulled around a pool by a 600-pound turtle. He's a great hedonist, Godfrey, flying his own plane, piloting his own boat, incessantly reaching out for new experiences. If he sees a waterfall, as we did yesterday, he has to climb it and swim in it. Today, a guy came around with a bambaline, which is a sort of stringed instrument made out of bamboo. Right away Godfrey bought one and, when last I saw him, he was down the beach learning how to play it. And doing very well at it. The guy tried to sell me one but I said no, I'd passed that stage in life where I wanted to learn how to master a bambaline. But not Arthur. He'll never pass that stage.

I don't know why I'm telling you all this except to explain that I haven't seen any television recently. Did I miss anything good?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Before Sterling Hayden sailed for the South Seas with his four children and 20-odd people in the crew, he had agreed to play a top role in "A Summer Place", the Sloan Wilson story. He left a message for director Delmer Daves saying that he was sorry to run out on 'im this way, but he felt morally obligated to the men and women who had given up other jobs and changed their plans to sail with him to make pictures.

Delmer said that he thought the boat was in good shape and that Sterling kept it in tip-top condition. Sterling told Delmer that he didn't think he was doing anything wrong. The whole story is reminiscent of adventure tales of men who flee to the South Seas.

Two of the nicest young people in our town are John Gavin and his attractive wife, Cecily. They were both very depressed over the loss of their baby a few weeks ago.

Now things look brighter for John who has been given the role of the young Julius Caesar in "Spartacus," by his studio, Universal-International. He is described to me as a handsome, forceful character who is important to the story. John will be on his mettle in this, playing with such actors as Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier and Tony Curtis.

Jeanne Carmen gave up her movie career last year in favor of professional golf because, said she, "golf is more fun." Well, she has decided that movies can be fun, too, because she's back for a featured role in "The Naked Goddess" with Linda Christian and Robert Alda.

In fact, Jeanne may combine movies and golf later on. She has been mentioned many times as the logical choice to play the immortal "Babe" Didriksen Zaharias when the Babe's life story is screened.

A letter from Maureen O'Sullivan Farrows tells me they have moved into a house in London where Oscar Wilde once lived. They plan to come back to Hollywood after Johnny directs one picture.

Maureen writes: "The other night we went to see 'Cinderella' at Covent Gardens. What a magnificent theatre. Lord Wakehurst, our old friend, and governor general of North Ireland, took us to the royal box where we were served dinner between acts. It was the nth degree of luxury, I must say, and when we got to dessert, Dame Ninette de Valois and her husband who is also the manager of Salder Wells, joined us for coffee. She is Irish also and lived not too far from us in Ireland. The meeting was most enjoyable.

Good to hear Tommy Sands' voice from New York. He has just signed a contract with a shoe company which specializes in shoes for debutantes and children, and he'll start a radio show for them in August.

Said Tommy: "I will be on three times a week. It's a five-minute show and I am very interested in the possibilities."

He has been attending classes at the Actors Studio and is very enthusiastic. Says he'll be home in May. We certainly have missed him.

An ex-convict of San Quentin Penitentiary stands to make a fortune when "Portrait of a Murderer" presented on Playhouse 90 is made into a motion picture. Tab Hunter had the starring role on TV which is a true story of the convicted murderer, Dan Bashor.

Much of the information was obtained from Bashor's former cellmate Jules Maitland. During Bashor's last days Maitland tape-recorded a number of interviews with the condemned man, and in Playhouse 90 the dead man's voice was actually heard on the tapes. Maitland has a share of the screen rights for which Ray Stark is negotiating for his Seven Arts Productions.

Six Types Of Taxes Are Due By February 2

Employers are being reminded that six types of taxes are due by February 2, according to Irving Machiz, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which includes Cumberland.

Taxes are due from employers who file quarterly federal tax returns Form 941. This combined return is for reporting withholding and Social Security taxes from employes.

Also, taxes are due from employers who have domestic servants, such as janitors, cook, maids, chauffeurs and other workers who perform services of a household nature, are subject to Social Security taxes if $50 or more was paid in wages in the fourth quarter of 1958.

Returns from persons liable for quarterly excise tax returns (Form 720) are due January 31, closing out the fourth quarter December 31, 1958. Employers who during 1958 had four or more employes on 20 or more days, each day being in a different calendar week, are required to file Form 940, federal unemployment tax. This return is required to be filed annually with remittance and is due January 31.

Final income tax returns are due January 31 from those taxpayers who did not remit the fourth quarter estimated tax due January 15.

Farmers are also reminded that Form 943, employers tax return for agricultural employes, is due February 2 for the year 1958.

Eligible Lists Are Presented

Lists of persons who have made passing grades in examinations for janitor, practical nurse and road workers were submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioner Tuesday by the County Civil Service Board.

These lists included persons who stood below the original top five in the test. John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, requested that all those on the janitors' list attend a meeting with the commissioners Friday at 9:30 a.m.

A replacement will be needed for Alonzo Middleton of Frostburg, who has been working as a janitor at the Court House more than ten years. He is scheduled to retire at the end of the week.

Paul Sanders, Cash Valley Road, complained about a drainage condition. He said water ran off the road onto his property. Commissioner Rowan said he would investigate.

J. E. Harper and S. Crites asked the commissioners about a permit to collect garbage between Paw Paw, W. Va., and North Branch. The commissioners said such a permit would come from the County Health Department.

Are you aware of possible faults in your speech?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

An Attractive Voice

Sharp laughter can suddenly shatter the glamorous impression made by a beautiful woman. The same impression of loveliness can disappear when the voice is found to be harsh, or speech slovenly.

On the other hand a very plain woman may perk up your admiration if her voice is melodious. You may easily find her word selection interesting, her enuciation clear, and her laughter utterly charming.

Perhaps you're unaware of the effect your voice has upon those who are listening. It may be the very reason, if you feel yourself a failure in social life. If the opposite is true, your charming voice may be the reason for your popularity.

Listen to the sound of your voice as you read aloud for 10 minutes. There are six important questions you should ask yourself as you read—they're given in my booklet, "Your Most Attractive Voice." Your score on these questions can serve as a guide to knowing which sections in the booklet will be most helpful.

You'll learn how to test your tone, how to speak up well, work for volume, acquire speech grooming, increase resonance and many more important items. For a copy of this booklet, just send 10c in coin and mail request to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper. And be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Of course, if you know that you have a serious speech handicap, see a corrective specialist.

Opening lead: Jack of clubs.

You would probably not expect to encounter the phenomenon of an optical illusion at the bridge table, but it does sometimes occu. there, and today's hand is offered as an illustration.

South's final bid is somewhat on the aggressive side, in view of his previously having made a jump shift and a feature bid in diamonds. North's two diamond bid was made as a temporary device and when it elicited a jump in hearts from South there could be no question about the small slam, inasmuch as North held better than an opening bid himself. The four club bid was routine and when South followed up with the four diamond bid I think North could be excused for going the whole way himself if he chose to do so.

The opening lead was the jack of clubs and the ace was, of course, played from dummy. Declarer immediately drew the trumps and then proceeded with the spades in the hope that that suit would break, so that dummy would obtain two diamond discards. When this failed to materialize a spade had to be ruffed in the North hand and then everything rested with the diamond finesse. When this failed declarer was sunk.

The contract was more or less a cinch and I am sure declarer would have made the hand if he had been sitting in the North seat, and South's hand had been the dummy.

After winning the opening lead declarer should cash the ace and king of trumps to see if there were four in one hand. When this comes off pleasantly, a club should be ruffed in the South hand. North should be entered with the king of spades and the last club ruffed. The ace of spades is then cashed and a low spade ruffed safely with the eight of hearts in the North hand. The last trump is drawn and South discards the two of diamonds. Spades and diamonds take the rest of the tricks. A slight case of dummy reversal.

NO PLANS FOR TOUR

MOSCOW (UPI)—Author Boris Pasternak said Tuesday he had no plans for leaving Russia on a foreign tour. The novelist, whose book "Doctor Zhivago" brought down the wrath of the Soviet government, denied reports from London that he had been contacted about accepting speaking engagements in the United States and Britain.

Stranger In Paradise

TOWER ISLE, Jamaica, B.W.I.

This should have been written in New York where I'd planned to return today. But this mouse's plans went awfully agley again. Dirty weather kicked up somewhere in the Caribbean and it was deemed best to keep Arthur Godfrey's plane on the ground rather than risk a run to Miami. So those of us who flew over in Godfrey's DC-3 are stuck here. I haven't been so badly stuck since I got stranded by a national strike in the south of France and couldn't get home for five days.

So instead of my cozy little office New York, I'm looking out over the blue, blue Caribbean, a terrible thing. Little sailboats are skimming about the tiny lagoon on which this sweet little hotel nestles; some idiot is water skiing and the air is alight with the soft cries of the privileged classes enjoying their privileges. Not only am I denied the privilege of fighting the traffic in New York for another day, but the Columbia Broadcasting System is going to have to get along for at least one day without Arthur Godfrey. Can it manage, you suppose?

Tony Marvin is going to have to go it alone. That's a sight I'd love to see but I won't be able to because Jamaica has no television. Imagine! In this enlightened age, no television. Jamaica has sunshine and sea and an unimaginably balmy climate. But no TV. What on earth do you suppose these primitive people do with their time? Well, I'll tell you what we did with ours. Yesterday, Godfrey and the rest of us went up the coast in little speedboats to look at a waterfall which pours out of the mountains and into the sea. Crazy, crazy! Godfrey, bum hip and all, climbed up the waterfall and we all went swimming in a little fresh water pool formed by the cascading water.

Last night, we sat on the terrace and watched a show put on by the chambermaids and other help around the hotel. Calypso songs and dances and gymnastic tricks and that fetching bit of insanity known as the limbo that you see all over the Caribbean. It was a marvelously spirited and beautifully paced show that went on just long enough, though it had no director and no producer.

What it had instead was a clean-limbed grace and a completely instinctive rhythm, a very true tone and taste. Practically everyone in show business who has ever seen these captivating amateur performers of the islands has thought of taking them back and introducing them into the main stream of show business. Once in awhile someone does do just that only to discover that they don't transplant easily. Like the gorgeous tropical fish, they lose their gleaming colors when they are pulled out of their native waters. They need the atmosphere, the climate, the very air of the Caribbean. A few like Harry Belafonte, who spent his boyhood in Jamaica, make it. Most of them don't.

Today, still forcibly deprived of my beloved television set, I donned an aqua lung and went looking at fish. Prettier by far than color television are the fish of this area. The sea is warm and still and glowing with spectacular colors and the fish in their private world pursue their destinies with a sureness or touch that this particular mortal can only envy.

Godfrey, I might add, is much better with the aqua lung than I am, having had much more practice. The other day on his show, he donned an aqua lung and got pulled around a pool by a 600-pound turtle. He's a great hedonist, Godfrey, flying his own plane, pilotin his own boat, incessantly reaching out for new experiences. If he sees a waterfall, as we did yesterday, he has to climb it and swim in it. Today, a guy came around with a bambaline, which is a sort of stringed instrument made out of bamboo. Right away Godfrey bought one and, when last I saw him, he was down the beach learning how to play it. And doing very well at it. The guy tried to sell me one but I said no, I'd passed that stage in life where I wanted to learn how to master a bambaline. But not Arthur. He'll never pass that stage.

I don't know why I'm telling you all this except to explain that I haven't seen any television recently. Did I miss anything good?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♦	Pass
3♥	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♦	Pass	6♥	Pass
7♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of clubs.

You would probably not expect to encounter the phenomenon of an optical illusion at the bridge table, but it does sometimes occu. there, and today's hand is offered as an illustration.

South's final bid is somewhat on the aggressive side, in view of his previously having made a jump shift and a feature bid in diamonds. North's two diamond bid was made as a temporary device and when it elicited a jump in hearts from South there could be no question about the small slam, inasmuch as North held better than an opening bid himself. The four club bid was routine and when South followed up with the four diamond bid I think North could be excused for going the whole way himself if he chose to do so.

The opening lead was the jack of clubs and the ace was, of course, played from dummy. Declarer immediately drew the trumps and then proceeded with the spades in the hope that that suit would break, so that dummy would obtain two diamond discards. When this failed to materialize a spade had to be ruffed in the North hand and then everything rested with the diamond finesse. When this failed declarer was sunk.

The contract was more or less a cinch and I am sure declarer would have made the hand if he had been sitting in the North seat, and South's hand had been the dummy.

After winning the opening lead declarer should cash the ace and king of trumps to see if there were four in one hand. When this comes off pleasantly, a club should be ruffed in the South hand. North should be entered with the king of spades and the last club ruffed. The ace of spades is then cashed and a low spade ruffed safely with the eight of hearts in the North hand. The last trump is drawn and South discards the two of diamonds. Spades and diamonds take the rest of the tricks. A slight case of dummy reversal.

NO PLANS FOR TOUR

MOSCOW (UPI)—Author Boris Pasternak said Tuesday he had no plans for leaving Russia on a foreign tour. The novelist, whose book "Doctor Zhivago" brought down the wrath of the Soviet government, denied reports from London that he had been contacted about accepting speaking engagements in the United States and Britain.

TWO CREWMEN KILLED

BRINDISI, Italy (UPI) — Two British Crewmen were killed and four others injured Tuesday when a four-engine cargo plane crashed while taking off from the local airport. It was on a freight run from Singapore to London.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Before Sterling Hayden sailed for the South Seas with his four children and 20-odd people in the crew, he had agreed to play a top role in "A Summer Place", the Sloan Wilson story. He left a message for director Delmer Daves saying that he was sorry to run out on 'im this way, but he felt morally obligated to the men and women who had given up other jobs and changed their plans to sail with him to make pictures.

Delmer said that he thought the boat was in good shape and that Sterling kept it in tip-top condition. Sterling told Delmer that he didn't think he was doing anything wrong. The whole story is reminiscent of adventure tales of men who flee to the South Seas.

Two of the nicest young people in our town are John Gavin and his attractive wife, Cecily. They were both very depressed over the loss of their baby a few weeks ago.

Now things look brighter for John who has been given the role of the young Julius Caesar in "Spartacus," by his studio, Universal-International. He is described to me as a handsome, forceful character who is important to the story. John will be on his mettle in this, playing with such actors as Kirk Douglas, Laurence Olivier and Tony Curtis.

Jeanne Carmen gave up her movie career last year in favor of professional golf because, said she, "golf is more fun." Well, she has decided that movies can be fun, too, because she's back for a featured role in "The Naked Goddess" with Linda Christian and Robert Alda.

In fact, Jeanne may combine movies and golf later on. She has been mentioned many times as the logical choice to play the immortal "Babe" Didriksen Zaharias when the Babe's life story is screened.

A letter from Maureen O'Sullivan Farrows tells me they have moved into a house in London where Oscar Wilde once lived. They plan to come back to Hollywood after Johnny directs one picture.

Maureen writes: "The other night we went to see 'Cinderella' at Covent Gardens. What a magnificent theatre. Lord Wakehurst, our old friend, and governor general of North Ireland, took us to the royal box where we were served dinner between acts. It was the nth degree of luxury, I must say, and when we got to dessert, Dame Ninette de Valois and her husband who is also the manager of Salder Wells, joined us for coffee. She is Irish also and lived not too far from us in Ireland. The meeting was most enjoyable.

Good to hear Tommy Sands' voice from New York. He has just signed a contract with a shoe company which specializes in shoes for debutantes and children, and he'll start a radio show for them in August.

Said Tommy: "I will be on three times a week. It's a five-minute show and I am very interested in the possibilities."

He has been attending classes at the Actors Studio and is very enthusiastic. Says he'll be home in May. We certainly have missed him.

An ex-convict of San Quentin Penitentiary stands to make a fortune when "Portrait of a Murderer" presented on Playhouse 90 is made into a motion picture. Tab Hunter had the starring role on TV which is a true story of the convicted murderer, Dan Bashor.

Much of the information was obtained from Bashor's former cellmate Jules Maitland. During Bashor's last days Maitland tape-recorded a number of interviews with the condemned man, and in Playhouse 90 the dead man's voice was actually heard on the tapes. Maitland has a share of the screen rights for which Ray Stark is negotiating for his Seven Arts Productions.

Six Types Of Taxes Are Due By February 2

Employers are being reminded that six types of taxes are due by February 2, according to Irving Machiz, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which includes Cumberland.

Taxes are due from employers who file quarterly federal tax returns Form 941. This combined return is for reporting withholding and Social Security taxes from employes.

Also, taxes are due from employers who have domestic servants, such as janitors, cook, maids, chauffeurs and other workers who perform services of a household nature, are subject to Social Security taxes if $50 or more was paid in wages in the fourth quarter of 1958.

Returns from persons liable for quarterly excise tax returns (Form 720) are due January 31, closing out the fourth quarter December 31, 1958. Employers who during 1958 had four or more employes on 20 or more days, each day being in a different calendar week, are required to file Form 940, federal unemployment tax. This return is required to be filed annually with remittance and is due January 31.

Final income tax returns are due January 31 from those taxpayers who did not remit the fourth quarter estimated tax due January 15.

Farmers are also reminded that Form 943, employers tax return for agricultural employes, is due February 2 for the year 1958.

Eligible Lists Are Presented

Lists of persons who have made passing grades in examinations for janitor, practical nurse and road workers were submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioner Tuesday by the County Civil Service Board.

These lists included persons who stood below the original top five in the test. John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, requested that all those on the janitors' list attend a meeting with the commissioners Friday at 9:30 a.m.

A replacement will be needed for Alonzo Middleton of Frostburg, who has been working as a janitor at the Court House more than ten years. He is scheduled to retire at the end of the week.

Paul Sanders, Cash Valley Road, complained about a drainage condition. He said water ran off the road onto his property. Commissioner Rowan said he would investigate.

J. E. Harper and S. Crites asked the commissioners about a permit to collect garbage between Paw Paw, W. Va., and North Branch. The commissioners said such a permit would come from the County Health Department.

Are you aware of possible faults in your speech?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

An Attractive Voice

Sharp laughter can suddenly shatter the glamorous impression made by a beautiful woman. The same impression of loveliness can disappear when the voice is found to be harsh, or speech slovenly.

On the other hand a very plain woman may perk up your admiration if her voice is melodious. You may easily find her word selection interesting, her enuciation clear, and her laughter utterly charming.

Perhaps you're unaware of the effect your voice has upon those who are listening. It may be the very reason, if you feel yourself a failure in social life. If the opposite is true, your charming voice may be the reason for your popularity.

Listen to the sound of your voice as you read aloud for 10 minutes. There are six important questions you should ask yourself as you read—they're given in my booklet, "Your Most Attractive Voice." Your score on these questions can serve as a guide to knowing which sections in the booklet will be most helpful.

You'll learn how to test your tone, how to speak up well, work for volume, acquire speech grooming, increase resonance and many more important items. For a copy of this booklet, just send 10c in coin and mail request to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper. And be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Of course, if you know that you have a serious speech handicap, see a corrective specialist.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear mother, Ida B. Twigg, who passed away 12 years ago, January 29, 1947.
At twilight when eventide draws near,
And sunset flames the sky,
We think of you dear mother,
And the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back,
Within our dreams to stay,
To know you are resting,
When the twilight ends the day.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear mother, Ida B. Twigg, who passed away 12 years ago, January 29, 1947.
At twilight when eventide draws near,
And sunset flames the sky,
We think of you dear mother,
And the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back,
Within our dreams to stay,
To know you are resting,
When the twilight ends the day.
The CHILDREN
Thurman, Kermit, Phyllis

Special Week To Be Observed In South End

"Jesus Points The Way" will be the theme for the Religious Life Emphasis Week program which will be sponsored next week by the South Cumberland Ministerial Association.

This annual event will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch streets, from Sunday, February 1, through Friday, February 6, at 8 p. m.

These special pre-Lenten services will be conducted by Rev. C. E. Seymour, pastor of the Boundary Methodist Church, Baltimore. Rev. Mr. Seymour lost his eyesight in an accident while hunting quail in Virginia.

The clergyman has managed to overcome this handicap. He remembered the words of the Apostle Paul to the Romans, "All things work for good to those who love God." He has remained in his profession of preaching the Gospel. He has substituted faith for fear and has continued to be of value.

Members of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association will have a luncheon with Rev. Mr. Seymour on Wednesday, February 4, at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The visiting clergyman will preach on a different topic each evening. There will be a different presiding minister and choir each evening of the week.

Address Scheduled

LONACONING—"What Is This World Coming To?" will be a public address on Sunday, February 1, at 3 p.m. at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses, Rockville Street.

William Moore, representative of the Watch Tower Society, will give the public address at Lonaconing Kingdom Hall.

In the Middle Ages, the lord of the manor often had a chair at the head of the table or beside his bed to serve as his seat of authority similar to that of a throne.

About 40 Acres Of Oak Wilt Found In Area

None Discovered East Of Hagerstown

Approximately 40 acres of oak wilt were located in Western Maryland in an aerial survey conducted by the University of Maryland last summer, according to Dr. L. O. Weaver, state plant pathologist.

These areas were located in a region extending from Savage Mountain on the east end of Garrett County to the Fairview Mountain area in Washington County. The State Department of Forests and Parks located the diseased areas and eradicated the wilted trees.

Oak Wilt has not been found east of Hagerstown. The disease has not spread east or west of the area where it was found in 1952. However, Dr. Weaver said, new areas of diseased oaks are found each year within the same borders.

Oak mortality is a term applied to diseased oaks in several eastern states. The dying is attributed to a number of causes including leaf diseases and insect attack but primarily to the effects of years of drought, he said.

Several states have reported a loss of oaks in wood lots and forest stands. The exact cause of this loss has not been determined—but appears to be associated with moisture deficiencies over a number of years, Dr. Weaver said.

A copy of the 1958 oak wilt report will be made available by writing Dr. L. O. Weaver, state plant pathologist, Botany Department, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture, College Park.

Special Week To Be Observed In South End

"Jesus Points The Way" will be the theme for the Religious Life Emphasis Week program which will be sponsored next week by the South Cumberland Ministerial Association.

This annual event will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch streets, from Sunday, February 1, through Friday, February 6, at 8 p. m.

These special pre-Lenten services will be conducted by Rev. C. E. Seymour, pastor of the Boundary Methodist Church, Baltimore. Rev. Mr. Seymour lost his eyesight in an accident while hunting quail in Virginia.

The clergyman has managed to overcome this handicap. He remembered the words of the Apostle Paul to the Romans, "All things work for good to those who love God." He has remained in his profession of preaching the Gospel. He has substituted faith for fear and has continued to be of value.

Members of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association will have a luncheon with Rev. Mr. Seymour on Wednesday, February 4, at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The visiting clergyman will preach on a different topic each evening. There will be a different presiding minister and choir each evening of the week.

Address Scheduled

LONACONING—"What Is This World Coming To?" will be a public address on Sunday, February 1, at 3 p.m. at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses, Rockville Street.

William Moore, representative of the Watch Tower Society, will give the public address at Lonaconing Kingdom Hall.

In the Middle Ages, the lord of the manor often had a chair at the head of the table or beside his bed to serve as his seat of authority similar to that of a throne.

About 40 Acres Of Oak Wilt Found In Area

None Discovered East Of Hagerstown

Approximately 40 acres of oak wilt were located in Western Maryland in an aerial survey conducted by the University of Maryland last summer, according to Dr. L. O. Weaver, state plant pathologist.

These areas were located in a region extending from Savage Mountain on the east end of Garrett County to the Fairview Mountain area in Washington County. The State Department of Forests and Parks located the diseased areas and eradicated the wilted trees.

Oak Wilt has not been found east of Hagerstown. The disease has not spread east or west of the area where it was found in 1952. However, Dr. Weaver said, new areas of diseased oaks are found each year within the same borders.

Oak mortality is a term applied to diseased oaks in several eastern states. The dying is attributed to a number of causes including leaf diseases and insect attack but primarily to the effects of years of drought, he said.

Several states have reported a loss of oaks in wood lots and forest stands. The exact cause of this loss has not been determined—but appears to be associated with moisture deficiencies over a number of years, Dr. Weaver said.

A copy of the 1958 oak wilt report will be made available by writing Dr. L. O. Weaver, state plant pathologist, Botany Department, University of Maryland, College of Agriculture, College Park.

Market Pounded Down By Heavy Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market came through with flying colors on one of its sharpest breaks in four years—an hour-long selling drive which put tickers 11 minutes behind and cut prices more than 7 points on average at the depths.

Bearing out the consensus that the break was technical in nature, prices met support in the final minutes of trading which lifted most issues from the lows and tickers caught up with floor operations just before the final gong.

The selling, nevertheless, slashed more than 3 billion dollars from the value of all listed shares. With turnover in the final hour running to 1,310,000 shares, volume for the session totaled 4,190,000 shares compared with 3,480,000 on Tuesday.

The selling spree came after another session of the hesitant trading which has marked recent activity as the market tried in vain to break through to 600 ground in the industrial average.

It appeared to have started in the steels when traders seized on U.S. Steel's poor earnings report as an excuse to give the list a thorough shakeout in an attempt to set the scene for a new assault on the industrial high.

All sections were hit—with losses running to 4 points or so at the worst—and most closed well above the day's lows. A few issues, mostly those with favorable corporate news to stimulate interest, managed substantial gains.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Easy to steady prices marked the close Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to off ⅜ cent; corn (old) off ⅛ cent; (new) off ⅛ to ¼ cent; oats unchanged; rye off ⅛ to ½ cent soybeans up ⅛ to off ⅜ cent.

Commercial buying helped the market rally somewhat from its general weakness but was never sufficient to top previous closing levels. The day's trade was mostly a slow, dull affair.

Liquidation was apparent in wheat. Commission houses and local traders did most selling in July, September and December positions. In export business, Yugoslavia, Western Germany and Japan did some buying. Spot trade found only a nominally steady basis.

Commission houses sold old March corn freely to Northwest broker interests. Scattered selling was also evident in new May. Spot trade, however, ranged slightly higher.

Business in oats was mixed. Cash houses were on both sides of the market. Local and commission houses generated a good demand for the May.

Trade in soybeans mirrored declining prices in meal and oil. Export houses were only moderate buyers. Formosa was listed among the buyers. Local houses were on the selling side.

Grains at outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Market Pounded Down By Heavy Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market came through with flying colors on one of its sharpest breaks in four years—an hour-long selling drive which put tickers 11 minutes behind and cut prices more than 7 points on average at the depths.

Bearing out the consensus that the break was technical in nature, prices met support in the final minutes of trading which lifted most issues from the lows and tickers caught up with floor operations just before the final gong.

The selling, nevertheless, slashed more than 3 billion dollars from the value of all listed shares. With turnover in the final hour running to 1,310,000 shares, volume for the session totaled 4,190,000 shares compared with 3,480,000 on Tuesday.

The selling spree came after another session of the hesitant trading which has marked recent activity as the market tried in vain to break through to 600 ground in the industrial average.

It appeared to have started in the steels when traders seized on U.S. Steel's poor earnings report as an excuse to give the list a thorough shakeout in an attempt to set the scene for a new assault on the industrial high.

All sections were hit—with losses running to 4 points or so at the worst—and most closed well above the day's lows. A few issues, mostly those with favorable corporate news to stimulate interest, managed substantial gains.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Easy to steady prices marked the close Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to off ¾ cent; corn (old) off ¼ cent; (new) off ⅛ to ¼ cent; oats unchanged; rye off ⅛ to ½ cent soybeans up ⅛ to off ⅝ cent.

Commercial buying helped the market rally somewhat from its general weakness but was never sufficient to top previous closing levels. The day's trade was mostly a slow, dull affair.

Liquidation was apparent in wheat. Commission houses and local traders did most selling in July, September and December positions. In export business, Yugoslavia, Western Germany and Japan did some buying. Spot trade found only a nominally steady basis.

Commission houses sold old March corn freely to Northwest broker interests. Scattered selling was also evident in new May. Spot trade, however, ranged slightly higher.

Business in oats was mixed. Cash houses were on both sides of the market. Local and commission houses generated a good demand for the May.

Trade in soybeans mirrored declining prices in meal and oil. Export houses were only moderate buyers. Formosa was listed among the buyers. Local houses were on the selling side.

Grains at outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Supplemental Pension Bill Is Discussed

Commissioners Give Stand On Proposal

State Sen. Charles M. See and members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly yesterday afternoon promised they would consider a measure which would provide $50 a month supplemental pension for teachers of public schools of the county who will retire after July 1 this year.

They met with members of the legislative committee and other representatives of the Allegany County Teachers Association and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Senator See has introduced a bill providing the supplemental pension for school teachers. The county commissioners are interested in the legislation on the basis of how much it will cost the county.

State Bill Possible

It was pointed out at yesterday's hearing that a state-wide bill is proposed to rectify pension inequities and that Allegany County would be affected more since there are a larger number of older teachers in this county.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the commissioners, pointed out several objections to SB58, introduced by Sen. See. He said it is basically a state problem, since back in 1927 the State Board of Education, in order to attract teachers, promised a substantial retirement plan.

Present plans call for a teacher to be 60 years of age and with 10 years duty in the county in order to retire. Attorney Clark said the commissioners feel the teacher should have some 15 years' duty on the county before retirement.

He also said Social Security as well as the state contribution toward the pension plan should be taken into consideration. The commissioners, he added, feel there should be a ceiling of $175 per month for each teacher who would be eligible for Social Security and a state pension.

Cites Finances

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Commissioners, pointed out that the county is in a "startling" financial situation and the county's share in the pension plan would have to be considered.

Various charts on the supplemental pension plan were shown and discussed at the hearing by members of the teachers' group.

Attending the hearing were Homer S. Higgins, chairman of the legislative committee of the association; Miss Mary Murray, president of the association; Joseph Pellerzi, Dr. Ardell Haines, John D. Kelly, Alfred Benna and Richard T. Rizer, who was instrumental in getting the proposed supplemental pension measure in motion. School Superintendent Ralph R. Webster also attended.

County Commissioner John Tucker Mason also was present.

Bill Is Mandatory

The bill was introduced by Senator See as SB 58 shortly after the Legislature opened.

It provides that "any teacher, administrator, supervisor or clerk, who was employed . . . in the public school system of Allegany County prior to July 1, 1955, and has retired from said school system after attaining his sixtieth year, and having been employed 10 or more years in the public schools of Allegany County, or after having been accredited with 30 years' teaching service in the county, shall, upon making proper application to the County Commissioners for Allegany County be paid $600 a year . . . as a supplementary pension."

It specifies that the board shall levy as needed to pay supplemental pensions to those who qualify.

It provides that the supplementary pensions "shall be payable on and after July 1, 1959, to teachers, administrators, supervisors or clerks who retire on or after July 1, 1959."

Plan To Probe University Is Opposed

See Is Granted Delay On Vote

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—An attempt to throw cold water on any legislative investigation of the University of Maryland was made Wednesday by Del. Tydings (D-Harford).

"It would do no good and result only in harm to the university and its graduates," he cautioned the House of Delegates.

Del. Machen (D-Prince Georges) had announced last week he was thinking about introducing a resolution calling for an investigation of what he called unrest among students, alumni and friends of the university under the administration of President Wilson H. Elkins.

Is Holding Off

Machen is holding off on whether to introduce the resolution until he confers again with Elkins. The university president came to Annapolis Tuesday and had a talk with Machen.

Tydings was an undergraduate at the university when H. C. Byrd was president.

"I feel it would be unfair and impractical for any legislative group to make any type of investigation to compare Byrd and Elkins," Tydings said.

He said that a "substantial amount of the younger alumni" feel the same way.

"I feel that after the accreditation report was made public and the University of Maryland was made a political football, enough damage was done without risking at this time the likelihood of a similar occurrence."

Four years ago when Byrd retired as president to run for governor, a report that the university was on probation by the Middle Atlantic States Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools was released.

Will Resist Probe

Tydings said he was aware that there were some critics of the Elkins administration, "but these grievances should be taken to the regents or Elkins himself."

Otherwise, he added, they would "ultimately result in far worse damage."

Any move for a legislative inquiry would be "bitterly resisted by myself and other alumni," he announced.

Machen did not reply to Tydings on the floor. Afterward, he told reporters the other delegate's remarks had not changed his thinking.

The House enacted its first bill introduced this session and dispatched it to Gov. Tawes. It calls on him to appropriate up to $25,000 for a commission on problems of the aging.

Praises Legislation

Creation of the commission "attempts to provide the broadest, most fruitful approach to solutions of ever growing problems pertaining to the aged," according to the bill.

Its passage was praised by Del. Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) who called it a "significant step in social legislation."

Mrs. Schweinhaut headed a Legislative Council committee which studied problems of the aging and drafted the bill for the commission.

The House also enacted a bill making it mandatory for women in Worcester County to serve on juries if summoned. This leaves only Calvert, St. Marys and Charles as Maryland counties where women may be excused from jury service because of their sex.

Garrett and Howard counties do not permit women jurors now, but a bill to make them eligible has been introduced and is expected to pass.

See Asks Delay

In the Senate, final action on a bill to reduce Republican membership on the Legislative Council, between-sessions arm of the Legislature, was put off until Thursday at the request of Sen. See (R-Allegany). The measure aroused Republican opposition before being approved by the House last week and is expected to stir no more than token debate in the Senate, where Democrats hold a 26-3 margin.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The state Wednesday mailed to Baltimore City and the counties $695,354.32 as their share of liquor taxes from Oct.1-Dec.31.

The distributions, at a rate of 50 cents for each gallon of distilled spirits sold to retailers in their area, were up $1 248 over the second quarter of last fiscal year.

However, for the first half of this year they trail those for the first six months of fiscal 1959 by $1,383.84.

In sales Baltimore City equals the rest of the entire state. It received $340,302 for 680,605 gallons delivered, a dip of 1.8 per cent from the same quarter last year.

Other declines were registered by Allegany County (4.1 per cent), Worcester (1.2) and St. Marys (.5).

Distributions were up in other areas of the state, with an 11.5 per cent jump in Charles County leading the way.

Youths Charged With Assaulting Zihlman Man

Harry Lennox, 50, Said 'Satisfactory'

Three Corriganville youths have been charged with assault in the severe beating of a 50-year-old Zihlman man in his driveway Tuesday afternoon.

Reported in "satisfactory" condition at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, is Harry Lennox. Mr. Lennox suffered a mild concussion, facial injuries, and rib and kidney injuries as a result of the beating.

The youths, Gary Fuller, 19; Robert Fuller, 18; and Thomas R. Perry, 20, were released yesterday after posting bonds in preliminary hearings in trial magistrate courts here and in Mt. Savage.

Jury Trials Sought

The two Fuller youths were taken before Magistrate Morris Baron, where County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya prayed a jury trial for the state. Both were released after posting $250 bond each.

The state also prayed a jury trial in the case of Perry, and he was released after posting $50 bond set by Magistrate Howard R. Stephens of Mt. Savage.

Constable Andrew Lennox, Mt. Savage, who is the brother of the victim of the assault, said his brother was backing his car onto State Route 36 when a group of youths pulled up in a car and blocked the driveway for no apparent reason.

Mr. Lennox told Constable Lennox he asked the youths to move the car, but two youths got out of the auto and started to fight with the older man. A third youth joined the others and Mr. Lennox said he was forced to the ground, where he was repeatedly kicked in the face, ribs and back.

Victim Hospitalized

He was treated at Miners Hospital following the attack and was admitted to the hospital yesterday morning.

Constable Lennox picked up the younger Fuller and Perry in a Mt. Savage restaurant Tuesday night. They were charged with assault on a warrant issued by Magistrate Stephens and were held overnight in the County Jail. The older Fuller youth was arrested early yesterday morning by Magistrate Lennox.

The constable said the youths apparently had been drinking Tuesday afternoon and also caused disturbances in establishments in Zihlman and Mt. Savage.

Assisting Constable Lennox with the investigation is Trooper Carlton M. Lewis of the State Police.

New Blood Recruitment Chairman Knows Value Of Program Offered Here

The new recruitment chairman of the Allegany County Blood Bank, Mrs. John D. Lohnas of LaVale, has volunteered to take over the tough recruiting assignment because she has been a three-time recipient of blood in other cities and she thinks she should devote some of her time to community welfare.

Next visit of the Johnstown, Pa., Bloodmobile to the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, is next Monday from noon until 6 p. m.

Mrs. Lohnas has traveled a great deal—her husband is director of new product development and director of coating development for West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company—and has lived in small mill towns where there was no opportunity to give blood to a Red Cross unit unless one traveled 25 or 30 miles.

The Lohnas have lived here less than three years, coming from Milton Falls in northern New York, where there was no Red Cross blood bank, and donors had to be contacted in a hurry from among mill workers when sickness or accident struck.

"It's so wonderful here to have a free blood bank operating day and night," she said last night. "Unless you've been exposed to the hardships of trying to get donors in other places, it's hard to appreciate the value of it."

But that is the job of Mrs. Lohnas, her assistant, Mrs. Eugene T. Gunning, and a committee of 15 co-workers—to try to get the message across to area residents that their blood bank is one of the greatest assets of their community life.

It's not easy, as Mrs. Norman W. Taylor, retiring chairman of the recruiting committee can attest. There are the monthly telephone calls to donors asking them to sign up, then following up by sending appointment cards.

There are the instances too, where the Johnstown Blood Center must be called at any time of the day or night for a rare type of blood, and there ensues a race against time and death, as Pennsylvania State Police rush the blood to the Maryland border where the Maryland State Police take it over, and deliver it, with sirens blaring, to the local victim.

Mrs. Taylor has served for two years at this painstaking, hectic job, and Mrs. Lohnas now takes it over with the full knowledge of all that it entails. Like so many other newcomers to the city, she wants to do her part in community life.

One thing is certain—the new chairman need never feel reluctant about asking others to give blood. She is heading for the Two Gallon Club herself, her husband has been a donor frequently in the past, although a stomach disorder prevents his giving now, and her oldest son, John Jr., became a donor at 19 when the bloodmobile visited Cumberland just a month ago.

Incidentally, the new chairman says it will be a big help if new donors will call the Red Cross office, PA 2-1760 or PA 4-2353, and sign up to give a pint of blood next Monday.

Three Are Hurt As Cars Crash

Three women, injured in a two-car collision early last night on Maryland State Route 39 in Oakland, were admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The more seriously injured woman was Mrs. Mona Grace Brown, 53, of 115 Oak Street, Oakland, driver of one of the automobiles.

Also injured were Mrs. Maude Lawson, 75-year-old widow of 75 Second Street, Oakland, who sustained a fractured left ankle and a laceration of her forehead, and Mrs. Hester Shultz Morris, 41, of RD 4, Terra Alta, W. Va., who suffered a fractured left leg and multiple bruises.

State Police said Mrs. Morris, traveling east on the highway, lost control of the car and crossed over the center line into the path of the car being driven west by Mrs. Brown.

No charges have been preferred by Tfc. Robert Henline who said the accident occurred about 6:20 p.m.

Injured Sled Riding

Delegate Wants Bill Written In Iambic Meter

Maryland may get a poet laureate, but not until a few wisecracks are made in the General Assembly.

The bill to create the unpaid post was introduced as HB62 by the Prince Georges County Delegation.

It passed the House Tuesday despite a suggestion by Del. Francis X. Gallagher (D., Ba. 3d) that "the bill should be amended to put it in iambic pentameter."

PPG Expected To Reply Today To Union Offer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A union offer to arbitrate all unresolved issues was made Wednesday in contract negotiations between the United Glass and Ceramic Workers and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., idle nearly four months in a strike of 15,000 workers.

The strike has also resulted in layoff of 15,000 Chrysler automobile workers because of a glass windshield shortage.

The union's proposal, announced by international President Ralph Rieser, was in reply to a company offer made last Monday and considered for two days by the UGCW negotiators. A company answer was expected by Thursday.

Seek Two-Year Pact

The management offer agreed to work out the language of fundamental issues in direct bargaining with the union, or permit the issues to go to a three-man commission for final and binding decision.

The union offer Wednesday came at a joint union - management session with Federal Mediation Commissioner Robert Donnahoo.

Rieser said the union offer was "a proposal predicated on settling the strike — arbitration of all remaining issues, based on a two year contract."

"We offered to let a third party decide, and we will accept," Rieser said.

The union president said the company proposal on the "fundamental issues" did not provide for conclusion of all of the issues involved.

Claims Issues Omitted

Rieser said some of the issues not included in the company's "basic issues" offer included fringe benefits, wage adjustments, seniority, the number of grievance men and adjustments of "wage inequities" at the Cumberland, Md., plant. He said workers at the Cumberland plant were 60 to 70 cents below other plants.

Donnahoo said the company negotiators heard the union offer in a brief, noon session which recessed to give the company an opportunity to study the proposal.

The mediator said a company spokesman said an early decision might be reached, possibly by Thursday.

The negotiators have held daily meetings in Philadelphia since Jan. 7, with Rieser heading a 40-man union board.

D. J. Sherbody, director of industrial relations for PPG, headed company negotiators.

County Asks Legislators To Back Bills

Professional Bid Exemption Asked

Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday asked State Sen. Charles See and members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly for their support in the passage of two bills.

The first bill, outlined by Attorney Clark during a meeting in Annapolis, specifies the exemption of engineers, attorneys and architects from competitive bidding.

Some time ago, the State Board of Health granted the county commissioners an extension until July 1 of an order for the completion of a preliminary survey of sewerage needs of the Georges Creek area.

Is Emergency Bill

The extension was granted in order that the county can get needed local legislation on bidding for professional services.

Yesterday afternoon Senator See agreed to introduce the bill on an emergency basis.

A second bill being sought by the commissioners concerns the sheriff's office. Attorney Clark pointed out that Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein agrees that it is his duty to submit a monthly report with the number of prisoners detained at the county lockup and the number of days they are incarcerated.

The bill, which probably will be introduced by Senator See, also specifies that the county commissioners would pay not less than 75 can e tadsyhn t ETAOIN than 75 cents a day for food per prisoner.

To Amend Exemptions

The county commissioners indicated yesterday they plan to tighten up the real estate property exemption taxes for persons over 65 years of age receiving an income of $100 or less a month.

Senator See said he wants to see a list of apparent abuses of the present tax exemption law. Attending the meeting were John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, Commissioner Tucker Mason and Mr. Clark.

See Is Willing To Introduce New Court Bill

State Senator Charles M. See reported from Annapolis he would be willing to introduce a bill which would eliminate the City of Cumberland's contribution to the Allegany County Juvenile Court.

Under present legislation, the City of Cumberland is required to contribute $2,500 a year toward the support of the court.

Senator See said, "There is no question in my mind that the county should take over the full support of the Juvenile Court," which he flatly described as a "county function."

Several attempts have been made to reconstitute the Allegany County Juvenile Court in recent years and all of them called for the county to pay the full cost of the court.

This is one of the items in the legislative program which is being sought by the City of Cumberland.

Senator See said he and the Allegany County Delegation will get together soon to decide who will introduce bills suggested by constituents.

Library Chairman Is Named By PTA

Mrs. Virgil Atkinson was appointed library chairman of the Flintstone Parent Teachers Association during a recent meeting presided over by Mrs. Guy Thompson.

The flag salute was led by William Davies and Raymond Puffinberger, cub scouts. A panel discussion, "Parent-Teacher-School Relationship," was led by Mrs. Floyd Custer. Mrs. Hazel Bottenfield, Mrs. Lawrence Kyle, Mrs. Elsie H. Roland, school principal, Kenneth Malone and Floyd Custer were members of the panel.

Mrs. Edward Kolb, Mrs. Donald Bates, Mrs. Eugene Kisamore and Mrs. William Davies were on the refreshment committee.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Schools At Halfway Mark; Semester Ends Tomorrow

Public school students of Allegany County today reached the halfway mark in the 1958-59 school year.

With the end of classes this afternoon they have completed 91 school days and face a similar number of days before putting their books aside for the summer vacation.

The first semester ends tomorrow and the second semester will open on Monday morning. Midterm exams are about out of the way and report cards on the student's progress will be given out on Monday.

A short vacation from the classroom will be enjoyed by the students when Easter rolls around. They will begin their vacation with the close of school on March 25 and classes will resume on April Fool's Day, Wednesday, April 1.

And then it will be quite a long time, well over two months, before the closing day of the 1958-59 year on June 11.

Memorial Day falls on Saturday this year, and so the students will not receive the holiday during the school week.

Supplemental Pension Bill Is Discussed

Commissioners Give Stand On Proposal

State Sen. Charles M. See and members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly yesterday afternoon promised they would consider a measure which would provide $50 a month supplemental pension for teachers of public schools of the county who will retire after July 1 this year.

They met with members of the legislative committee and other representatives of the Allegany County Teachers Association and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Senator See has introduced a bill providing the supplemental pension for school teachers. The county commissioners are interested in the legislation on the basis of how much it will cost the county.

State Bill Possible

It was pointed out at yesterday's hearing that a state-wide bill is proposed to rectify pension inequities and that Allegany County would be affected more since there are a larger number of older teachers in this county.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the commissioners, pointed out several objections to SB58, introduced by Sen. See. He said it is basically a state problem, since back in 1927 the State Board of Education, in order to attract teachers, promised a substantial retirement plan.

Present plans call for a teacher to be 60 years of age and with 10 years duty in the county in order to retire. Attorney Clark said the commissioners feel the teacher should have some 15 years' duty on the county before retirement.

He also said Social Security as well as the state contribution toward the pension plan should be taken into consideration. The commissioners, he added, feel there should be a ceiling of $175 per month for each teacher who would be eligible for Social Security and a state pension.

Cites Finances

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Commissioners, pointed out that the county is in a "startling" financial situation and the county's share in the pension plan would have to be considered.

Various charts on the supplemental pension plan were shown and discussed at the hearing by members of the teachers' group.

Attending the hearing were Homer S. Higgins, chairman of the legislative committee of the association; Miss Mary Murray, president of the association; Joseph Pellerzi, Dr. Ardell Haines, John D. Kelly, Alfred Benna and Richard T. Rizer, who was instrumental in getting the proposed supplemental pension measure in motion. School Superintendent Ralph R. Webster also attended.

County Commissioner John Tucker Mason also was present.

Bill Is Mandatory

The bill was introduced by Senator See as SB 58 shortly after the Legislature opened.

It provides that "any teacher, administrator, supervisor or clerk, who was employed . . . in the public school system of Allegany County prior to July 1, 1955, and has retired from said school system after attaining his sixtieth year, and having been employed 10 or more years in the public schools of Allegany County, or after having been accredited with 30 years' teaching service in the county, shall, upon making proper application to the County Commissioners for Allegany County be paid $600 a year . . . as a supplementary pension."

It specifies that the board shall levy as needed to pay supplemental pensions to those who qualify.

It provides that the supplementary pensions "shall be payable on and after July 1, 1959, to teachers, administrators, supervisors or clerks who retire on or after July 1, 1959."

Four slalom races will be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m. on the 1,500-foot ski slope of Marsh Mountain. Four downhill races will be held Sunday, beginning at noon.

George D. Hankins of the Western Maryland Ski Club said experienced skiers from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia are entered in the tournament.

Plan To Probe University Is Opposed

See Is Granted Delay On Vote

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—An attempt to throw cold water on any legislative investigation of the University of Maryland was made Wednesday by Del. Tydings (D-Harford).

"It would do no good and result only in harm to the university and its graduates," he cautioned the House of Delegates.

Del. Machen (D-Prince Georges) had announced last week he was thinking about introducing a resolution calling for an investigation of what he called unrest among students, alumni and friends of the university under the administration of President Wilson H. Elkins.

Is Holding Off

Machen is holding off on whether to introduce the resolution until he confers again with Elkins. The university president came to Annapolis Tuesday and had a talk with Machen.

Tydings was an undergraduate at the university when H. C. Byrd was president.

"I feel it would be unfair and impractical for any legislative group to make any type of investigation to compare Byrd and Elkins," Tydings said.

He said that a "substantial amount of the younger alumni" feel the same way.

"I feel that after the accreditation report was made public and the University of Maryland was made a political football, enough damage was done without risking at this time the likelihood of a similar occurrence."

Four years ago when Byrd retired as president to run for governor, a report that the university was on probation by the Middle Atlantic States Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools was released.

Will Resist Probe

Tydings said he was aware that there were some critics of the Elkins administration, "but these grievances should be taken to the regents or Elkins himself."

Otherwise, he added, they would "ultimately result in far worse damage."

Any move for a legislative inquiry would be "bitterly resisted by myself and other alumni," he announced.

Machen did not reply to Tydings on the floor. Afterward, he told reporters the other delegate's remarks had not changed his thinking.

The House enacted its first bill introduced this session and dispatched it to Gov. Tawes. It calls on him to appropriate up to $25,000 for a commission on problems of the aging.

Praises Legislation

Creation of the commission "attempts to provide the broadest, most fruitful approach to solutions of ever growing problems pertaining to the aged," according to the bill.

Its passage was praised by Del. Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) who called it a "significant step in social legislation."

Mrs. Schweinhaut headed a Legislative Council committee which studied problems of the aging and drafted the bill for the commission.

The House also enacted a bill making it mandatory for women in Worcester County to serve on juries if summoned. This leaves only Calvert, St. Marys and Charles as Maryland counties where women may be excused from jury service because of their sex.

Garrett and Howard counties do not permit women jurors now, but a bill to make them eligible has been introduced and is expected to pass.

See Asks Delay

In the Senate, final action on a bill to reduce Republican membership on the Legislative Council, between-sessions arm of the Legislature, was put off until Thursday at the request of Sen. See (R-Allegany). The measure aroused Republican opposition before being approved by the House last week and is expected to stir no more than token debate in the Senate, where Democrats hold a 26-3 margin.

Police Check Entry Of Local Church

Rev. Wayne Eberly, pastor, reported that someone broke into Living Stone Church of the Brethren at 114 North Cedar Street.

Police were told the intruder entered the church after breaking the latch on a window on the west side of the building.

Drawers were opened in a number of rooms and a glass container from a cabinet was placed on the floor. Nothing was taken from the container, which held about $1 in change.

Nothing was reported missing.

County Gets $19,533 'Cut' Of Quarterly Liquor Taxes

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The state Wednesday mailed to Baltimore City and the counties $695,354.32 as their share of liquor taxes from Oct.1-Dec.31.

The distributions, at a rate of 50 cents for each gallon of distilled spirits sold to retailers in their area, were up $1 248 over the second quarter of last fiscal year.

However, for the first half of this year they trail those for the first six months of fiscal 1959 by $1,383.84.

In sales Baltimore City equals the rest of the entire state. It received $340,302 for 680,605 gallons delivered, a dip of 1.8 per cent from the same quarter last year.

Other declines were registered by Allegany County (4.1 per cent), Worcester (1.2) and St. Marys (.5).

Distributions were up in other areas of the state, with an 11.5 per cent jump in Charles County leading the way.

Youths Charged With Assaulting Zihlman Man

Harry Lennox, 50, Said 'Satisfactory'

Three Corriganville youths have been charged with assault in the severe beating of a 50-year-old Zihlman man in his driveway Tuesday afternoon.

Reported in "satisfactory" condition at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, is Harry Lennox. Mr. Lennox suffered a mild concussion, facial injuries, and rib and kidney injuries as a result of the beating.

The youths, Gary Fuller, 19; Robert Fuller, 18; and Thomas R. Perry, 20, were released yesterday after posting bonds in preliminary hearings in trial magistrate courts here and in Mt. Savage.

Jury Trials Sought

The two Fuller youths were taken before Magistrate Morris Baron, where County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya prayed a jury trial for the state. Both were released after posting $250 bond each.

The state also prayed a jury trial in the case of Perry, and he was released after posting $50 bond set by Magistrate Howard R. Stephens of Mt. Savage.

Constable Andrew Lennox, Mt. Savage, who is the brother of the victim of the assault, said his brother was backing his car onto State Route 36 when a group of youths pulled up in a car and blocked the driveway for no apparent reason.

Mr. Lennox told Constable Lennox he asked the youths to move the car, but two youths got out of the auto and started to fight with the older man. A third youth joined the others and Mr. Lennox said he was forced to the ground, where he was repeatedly kicked in the face, ribs and back.

Victim Hospitalized

He was treated at Miners Hospital following the attack and was admitted to the hospital yesterday morning.

Constable Lennox picked up the younger Fuller and Perry in a Mt. Savage restaurant Tuesday night. They were charged with assault on a warrant issued by Magistrate Stephens and were held overnight in the County Jail. The older Fuller youth was arrested early yesterday morning by Magistrate Lennox.

The constable said the youths apparently had been drinking Tuesday afternoon and also caused disturbances in establishments in Zihlman and Mt. Savage.

Assisting Constable Lennox with the investigation is Trooper Carlton M. Lewis of the State Police.

All churches of the area have been invited to attend this concert which will include numbers such as "Peace in The Valley," "I Need Thee Every Hour," and "What A Friend We Have In Jesus." Mrs. Robert Neild is program chairman and Rev. L. is Emerick is assisting her in arranging the concert.

New Blood Recruitment Chairman Knows Value Of Program Offered Here

The new recruitment chairman of the Allegany County Blood Bank, Mrs. John D. Lohnas of LaVale, has volunteered to take over the tough recruiting assignment because she has been a three-time recipient of blood in other cities and she thinks she should devote some of her time to community welfare.

Next visit of the Johnstown, Pa., Bloodmobile to the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, is next Monday from noon until 6 p. m.

Mrs. Lohnas has traveled a great deal—her husband is director of new product development and director of coating development for West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company—and has lived in small mill towns where there was no opportunity to give blood to a Red Cross unit unless one traveled 25 or 30 miles.

The Lohnas have lived here less than three years, coming from Milton Falls in northern New York, where there was no Red Cross blood bank, and donors had to be contacted in a hurry from among mill workers when sickness or accident struck.

"It's so wonderful here to have a free blood bank operating day and night," she said last night. "Unless you've been exposed to the hardships of trying to get donors in other places, it's hard to appreciate the value of it."

But that is the job of Mrs. Lohnas, her assistant, Mrs. Eugene T. Gunning, and a committee of 15 co-workers—to try to get the message across to area residents that their blood bank is one of the greatest assets of their community life.

It's not easy, as Mrs. Norman W. Taylor, retiring chairman of the recruiting committee can attest. There are the monthly telephone calls to donors asking them to sign up, then following up by sending appointment cards.

There are the instances too, where the Johnstown Blood Center must be called at any time of the day or night for a rare type of blood, and there ensues a race against time and death, as Pennsylvania State Police rush the blood to the Maryland border where the Maryland State Police take it over, and deliver it, with sirens blaring, to the local victim.

Mrs. Taylor has served for two years at this painstaking, hectic job, and Mrs. Lohnas now takes it over with the full knowledge of all that it entails. Like so many other newcomers to the city, she wants to do her part in community life.

One thing is certain—the new chairman need never feel reluctant about asking others to give blood. She is heading for the Two Gallon Club herself, her husband has been a donor frequently in the past, although a stomach disorder prevents his giving now, and her oldest son, John Jr., became a donor at 19 when the bloodmobile visited Cumberland just a month ago.

Incidentally, the new chairman says it will be a big help if new donors will call the Red Cross office, PA 2-1760 or PA 4-2353, and sign up to give a pint of blood next Monday.

Three Are Hurt As Cars Crash

Three women, injured in a two-car collision early last night on Maryland State Route 39 in Oakland, were admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The more seriously injured woman was Mrs. Mona Grace Brown, 53, of 115 Oak Street, Oakland, driver of one of the automobiles.

Also injured were Mrs. Maude Lawson, 75-year-old widow of 75 Second Street, Oakland, who sustained a fractured left ankle and a laceration of her forehead, and Mrs. Hester Shultz Morris, 41, of RD 4, Terra Alta, W. Va., who suffered a fractured left leg and multiple bruises.

State Police said Mrs. Morris, traveling east on the highway, lost control of the car and crossed over the center line into the path of the car being driven west by Mrs. Brown.

No charges have been preferred by Tfc. Robert Henline who said the accident occurred about 6:20 p.m.

Injured Sled Riding

Delegate Wants Bill Written In Iambic Meter

Maryland may get a poet laureate, but not until a few wisecracks are made in the General Assembly.

The bill to create the unpaid post was introduced as HB62 by the Prince Georges County Delegation.

It passed the House Tuesday despite a suggestion by Del. Francis X. Gallagher (D., Ba. 3d) that "the bill should be amended to put it in iambic pentameter."

PPG Expected To Reply Today To Union Offer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A union offer to arbitrate all unresolved issues was made Wednesday in contract negotiations between the United Glass and Ceramic Workers and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., idle nearly four months in a strike of 15,000 workers.

The strike has also resulted in layoff of 15,000 Chrysler automobile workers because of a glass windshield shortage.

The union's proposal, announced by international President Ralph Rieser, was in reply to a company offer made last Monday and considered for two days by the UGCW negotiators. A company answer was expected by Thursday.

Seek Two-Year Pact

The management offer agreed to work out the language of fundamental issues in direct bargaining with the union, or permit the issues to go to a three-man commission for final and binding decision.

The union offer Wednesday came at a joint union - management session with Federal Mediation Commissioner Robert Donnahoo.

Rieser said the union offer was "a proposal predicated on settling the strike — arbitration of all remaining issues, based on a two year contract."

"We offered to let a third party decide, and we will accept," Rieser said.

The union president said the company proposal on the "fundamental issues" did not provide for conclusion of all of the issues involved.

Claims Issues Omitted

Rieser said some of the issues not included in the company's "basic issues" offer included fringe benefits, wage adjustments, seniority, the number of grievance men and adjustments of "wage inequities" at the Cumberland, Md., plant. He said workers at the Cumberland plant were 60 to 70 cents below other plants.

Donnahoo said the company negotiators heard the union offer in a brief, noon session which recessed to give the company an opportunity to study the proposal.

The mediator said a company spokesman said an early decision might be reached, possibly by Thursday.

The negotiators have held daily meetings in Philadelphia since Jan. 7, with Rieser heading a 40-man union board.

D. J. Sherbody, director of industrial relations for PPG, headed company negotiators.

Schools At Halfway Mark; Semester Ends Tomorrow

Public school students of Allegany County today reached the halfway mark in the 1958-59 school year.

With the end of classes this afternoon they have completed 91 school days and face a similar number of days before putting their books aside for the summer vacation.

The first semester ends tomorrow and the second semester will open on Monday morning. Mid-term exams are about out of the way and report cards on the student's progress will be given out on Monday.

A short vacation from the classroom will be enjoyed by the students when Easter rolls around. They will begin their vacation with the close of school on March 25 and classes will resume on April Fool's Day, Wednesday, April 1.

And then it will be quite a long time, well over two months, before the closing day of the 1958-59 year on June 11.

Memorial Day falls on Saturday this year, and so the students will not receive the holiday during the school week.

County Asks Legislators To Back Bills

Professional Bid Exemption Asked

Leslie J. Clark, attorney for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday asked State Sen. Charles See and members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly for their support in the passage of two bills.

The first bill, outlined by Attorney Clark during a meeting in Annapolis, specifies the exemption of engineers, attorneys and architects from competitive bidding.

Some time ago, the State Board of Health granted the county commissioners an extension until July 1 of an order for the completion of a preliminary survey of sewerage needs of the Georges Creek area.

Is Emergency Bill

The extension was granted in order that the county can get needed local legislation on bidding for professional services.

Yesterday afternoon Senator See agreed to introduce the bill on an emergency basis.

A second bill being sought by the commissioners concerns the sheriff's office. Attorney Clark pointed out that Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein agrees that it is his duty to submit a monthly report with the number of prisoners detained at the county lockup and the number of days they are incarcerated.

The bill, which probably will be introduced by Senator See, also specifies that the county commissioners would pay not less than 75 can e tadsyhn t ETAOIN than 75 cents a day for food per prisoner.

To Amend Exemptions

The county commissioners indicated yesterday they plan to tighten up the real estate property exemption taxes for persons over 65 years of age receiving an income of $100 or less a month.

Senator See said he wants to see a list of apparent abuses of the present tax exemption law. Attending the meeting were John J. Rowan, president of the county commissioners, Commissioner Tucker Mason and Mr. Clark.

See Is Willing To Introduce New Court Bill

State Senator Charles M. See reported from Annapolis he would be willing to introduce a bill which would eliminate the City of Cumberland's contribution to the Allegany County Juvenile Court.

Under present legislation, the City of Cumberland is required to contribute $2,500 a year toward the support of the court.

Senator See said, "There is no question in my mind that the county should take over the full support of the Juvenile Court," which he flatly described as a "county function."

Several attempts have been made to reconstitute the Allegany County Juvenile Court in recent years and all of them called for the county to pay the full cost of the court.

This is one of the items in the legislative program which is being sought by the City of Cumberland.

Senator See said he and the Allegany County Delegation will get together soon to decide who will introduce bills suggested by constituents.
